U.S. PAY ROLLER TOTAL HITS NEW PEACE TIME HIGH

293,673 Jobs Added Under Roosevelt.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—The federal pay roll, inflated by emergency units in the early years of the Roosevelt administration and later deflated by adverse Supreme court decisions and the depression, has again reached a peace time high.

In the most tempestuous congressional campaign year of the administration the federal pay roll, excluding the legislative, judicial, and military establishments, has passed the $50,000 mark. The civil service commission today reported the federal pay roll at the beginning of the present fiscal year last July 1 stood at $57,520.

This total was the greatest in the history of the country in any month since the world war with one exception. Last December more than 70,000 emergency postal employés, added to handle the Christmas mail rush, brought the monthly total to 889,550. Because the extra postal employés were added for only a few days, the month's total is not regarded as a record by the civil service commission.

All Time High in 1918.

The all time high was reached Nov. 11, 1918, when there were 917,760 persons drawing federal pay. Of these, 117,760 were in the city of Washington. Today 115,774 of the 857,520 employés on the pay roll are in the capital.

In five years the present administration has created 293,673 federal jobs on the regular pay roll throughout the country. The total increase is greater than the population of Delaware. In Washington alone the administration has added 48,972 jobs—enough to create a good sized city.

On March 4, 1933, when President Roosevelt took the oath of office, there were 563,847 persons on the federal pay roll. The addition of deserving Democrats to the federal pay roll has raised the number of federal job holders by 53 per cent to 857,520.

Capital Rise Steepest.

In Washington the federal pay roll has been increased by 73 per cent by the present administration. On March 4, 1933, workers on the federal roll here numbered 66,802, and last July 1 they stood at 115,774. The all time high was reached Nov. 11, 1918, when 117,103 persons drew federal salary checks in the capital.

On the day Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated, after promising to cut the expenses of government by 25 per cent, the federal job holders were drawing about 70 million dollars a month. For last June the 857,520 workers pocketed 128 million dollars. Federal workers drew about one-third of the estimated 4 billions a year the taxpayers of the country give to all office holders, federal, state, and local.

The increase of 48,972 in capital workers in the city of Washington could have operated the capital end of the government in the early years of the century when only 30,000 workers were employed in the capital.

The year before the war, 1916, there were only 39,442 persons on the federal pay roll in the District of Columbia.

Only 256,000 in 1901.

The nation-wide increase of 293,673 workers would have sufficed to run the country at the turn of the century. In 1901 there were only 256,000 federal workers in the country, and the total number of federal payrollers in the executive branch of the government was only 438,057 in 1916.

At the outbreak of the civil war the total number of federal pay rollers was only 49,200 for the country. A decade later, in 1871, the number was increased to 53,900.

The largest previous high of the present administration was reached on July 30, 1937, when 854,917 federal workers were numbered for the country.

After June 30, 1937, the depression began eating into the ranks of federal job holders. The ranks thinned month by month until last February the administration touched a low it had not known since it began rewarding deserving Democrats in 1933. On Feb. 28, 1938, the number of federal pay rollers was 808,951.

The rise began with talk of the 5½ billion dollar pump priming program. In March the pay roll went up to 816,472, in April to 827,240, and in May, with the act on its way through congress, to 840,742.

Red Artillery Shells 4 Mile Jap Front

GUNS BOMBARD RIVER FORDS OF COREAN BORDER

Missils Fall at Rate of Six a Minute.

YUKI, Corea [Near the Siberian frontier], Aug. 9.—(AP)—Soviet heavy artillery pounded the whole four mile Japanese front today. The bombardment was the most intensive since the current trouble started on July 11 over disputed land on the borders of Corea, Manchukuo, and Siberia. It was warfare in earnest.

It seemed unlikely that men could remain alive under such shelling. Six inch projectiles came over at the rate of at least six a minute.

Today's cannonade removed all doubt in the minds of observers as to the accuracy of soviet artillery. Invariably one or two sighting shots were followed by a series of direct hits which continued until the shelling had shifted to another point.

Village Blazes Fiercely.

At the foot of Changkufeng hill a village blazed fiercely. Hundreds of shells had scored direct hits. On the Corean side of the Tumen river only one spot was the target of soviet guns in the afternoon bombardment, a hill which was struck by probably thirty big shells.

Both soviet and Japanese machine gun and rifle fire was heard early in the afternoon. Then soviet guns started a bombardment of "Hill 82" at the southern foot of Changkufeng. Approximately thirty shells landed on the height.

From "Hill 52," a half mile to the south, a battery of Japanese mountain guns began firing to the east, apparently against a soviet tank charge.

Then the Russians laid down a blanket of fire along this hillcrest. After a half hour's bombardment the formerly green ridge was scarred and smoking from the impact of at least 150 heavy shells.

Geysers Rise from River.

Soviet gunners, meanwhile, did not neglect the Tumen river fords northwest and west of Changkufeng. Shell after shell sent columns of dirty water into the air. The Russians never left off firing for more than two minutes at a time.

The bombardment covered the front from "Hill 52" through "Hill 82," Changkufeng's Siamese twin heights, northward to the Shachofeng sector. The Russian batteries appeared to be situated to the southeast and the east. Source of whatever Japanese fire there was could not be determined.

Thus far today there were no Japanese communiques giving their version of a Moscow announcement Sunday that Japanese had been driven from Changkufeng. From the shelling, however, it appeared that if the Japanese had been routed from the hilltop itself thay had returned to the positions which today were shelled.

Reds Build New Defenses.

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Soviet Russian forces were reported to be constructing new defenses today in what a war office spokesman said indicated extension of the Siberian border incident front.

The war office said Russia was concentrating cavalry, artillery, and

OVER 675,000

July city and suburban average net paid daily circulation

During July the total net paid daily circulation of the Chicago Tribune averaged over 860,000—a gain of more than 13,000 over July last year and a new all-time high for the month.

City and suburban daily circulation averaged over 675,000—a gain over July last year and a new all-time high for the month.

July was the 29th consecutive month in which Tribune total daily circulation showed a gain over the same month in the previous year. It was the 32nd consecutive month in which Tribune city and suburban daily circulation gained over the same month in the previous year.

SWEET MUSIC ACROSS THE HUDSON

THIS REALLY IS TWO STORIES JUST ALIKE, SO THEY'RE TOLD IN ONE

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Everything in this little piece is the same. On the same day [last Saturday], in the same hospital [Doctors], attended by the same physician [Dr. Henry T. Burns], babies of the same sex [male], were born to the twin daughters [Mrs. Douglas Robinson of Far Hills, N. J., and Mrs. Francis T. Carmody] of former Gov. Nathaniel L. Miller. All are doing the same [as well as can be expected].

REILLY LIVES THE LIFE OF REILLY, SO HE ENLISTS AGAIN

Sergt. Reilly.

When Sergt. William George Reilly told applicants at the recruiting office in the new post-office yesterday that the army is O. K. he meant it. He was so enthusiastic, indeed, that he reenlisted himself—for the ninth time. It's the life of, and for, Reilly. Sergt. Reilly has been assigned to the recruiting office for the last ten years. Col. William W. Edwards, army recruiting officer in this district, thinks Sergt. Reilly is a good example for new recruits.

Couple from India Parents of 15 Pound Son (at Zoo)

A fifteen pound son, who stands about twenty inches high, or will, when he gets onto his feet, was born yesterday at the Lincoln Park zoo. His parents are a pair of Indian black buck antelope. The baby has not yet been named. The animals are rare and this is the first of the species to be born in the zoo.

Some One's Always Taking Joy Out of Life, Eh, Kids?

Sad news for a lot of young Chicagoans: Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, returned from his vacation yesterday and immediately began preparations for the opening of the public schools on Sept. 6. He said he expected about the same enrollment as that of last September—nearly 409,000.

Son May Fight Both Wills of HorlickHeiress

Racine, Wis., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—William Horlick Sidley, only son of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, may ask the court to administer the estate of his mother as though she died without leaving a will.

Actually Mrs. Sidley left two wills. One was made last April, three months before she died. A previous will was made in 1934. The 1938 will, to which young Sidley objects strongly, has been filed with the Racine county Probate court. Today it became known he also objects to the 1934 will as a substitute.

Sidley's objection to the 1938 will is based upon the belief that his mother was not competent to dispose of her estate last April. She died of a brain disease in the Toronto, Ont., home of W. Perkins Bull, a lawyer whose guest she had been for more than a year.

Undue Influence Alleged.

Opposition of young Sidley to the 1934 will, it was revealed today, is founded upon his belief that his mother was subjected to undue influence when she accepted and signed that document.

If the court should decide Mrs. Sidley was incompetent last April or influenced unduly in 1934 and throw out both documents, Sidley, as heir-at-law, would receive the entire estate, subject to any restrictions the court might impose.

Under the will of last April Sidley was to receive $250,000 and one-third of the residual estate. The same bequest was made for Bull. Today it was revealed that Bull was to receive one-fourth of the estate under the 1934 will and a life job as advisor to the trustees with compensation that might exceed his legacy over a period of years. The 1934 will also gave virtual control of young Sidley's share of the estate to Bull.

Attorney Gives Opinion.

If the court should decide against the 1938 will on the basis of incompetence it could find equal justification for refusal of the 1934 will on the ground of undue influence in the belief of a lawyer familiar with affairs of the Horlick family for many years.

Bull became intimate with the Horlick family in 1928. He served Mrs. Sidley as her personal and legal adviser through the years, and was

SNIFF AT WEED LAW PLEA 'TILL BOUQUETS GIVE THEM SNIFFLES

For some weeks his colleagues on the Waukegan city council have been sceptical of Ald. Walter Tannahill's lament about weeds. The alderman has complained that Waukegan is filled with unhealthy and unsightly weeds.

Last night, to emphasize his point, he appeared at the council with a bouquet of rag weed grasses and other noxious weeds, one from each ward. With a flourish he presented one to each alderman.

Nothing happened for a moment. Then an outbreak of the sniffles started as the weed dust began to get in its work. At this point Ald. Tannahill introduced an ordinance to fine any property owner who does not cut the weeds on his land. It was referred to the judiciary committee. The weed bundles were burned.

PAINT MAY LAST 1,000 YEARS—ON STONE AGE RELIC

LONDON, Aug. 9.—It may take 1,000 years for one monolith of Stonehenge to regain its former weathered appearance after being doused with green paint, the prosecutor declared in Salisbury County Police court today.

Four 20 year old army second lieutenants admitted having painted the monolith and placed China utensils on its top. The vandalism took place on June 16 after "a very rowdy" guest night at Larkhill Artillery school.

The monoliths of the ancient druidical monument near Salisbury are the oldest man made things in Great Britain [dating from the neolithic age] and among the oldest in the world. The officers were fined $6.25 each and ordered to pay the costs of the trial and repairs to the monument amounting to $95.

Say, Mister, Did You Lose a Dime? Every One Else Did

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The average American had a dime less in his pockets on July 31 than a month earlier. The treasury said the July 31 total of coin and currency in circulation was $6,451,875,132, or an average of $49.57 per person. A month ago the average was $49.67 and a year ago $49.95.

Captured Gang Chief Boasts $100,000 Hauls

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Charles Bird, last of a gang of midwestern bank robbers who figured in spectacular escapes, was in jail here tonight as a result of a week's intensive work by Baltimore detectives.

The nationally hunted gang leader boasted in his cell that he had been public enemy No. 2, and that he had taken more than $100,000 in robberies in various parts of the country.

Capture of Bird here last night ended a career of outlawry and prison breaks similar to that of the late John Dillinger. Captured twice before, he broke out of prisons and continued on a trail of crime that extended across the entire country.

Bird and two henchmen, who are now in Alcatraz Island federal penitentiary, robbed dozens of banks and killed a woman in one of their prison breaks. Their forays took them to the west coast, to eastern seaboard points, and to many cities throughout the midwest.

His Wife Also Captured.

Bird finally was seized here by detectives who had been on his trail for weeks. Captured with him was his blonde wife, Barbara, who had chauffeured the gang on crime raids and smuggled her husband the guns with which he and his two lieutenants made a sensational escape from jail at Cleveland, O., last fall.

Bird came here with his wife, an expectant mother, last May. But not until William Clarkson, an observant youth of 16, provided police with a tip were authorities in possession of a hot clew in their hunt for the desperado.

Clarkson witnessed a liquor truck robbery a week ago and remembered the new green automobile, driven by a pretty young woman, in which the gunman escaped. Bird bought the big sedan after he was forced to abandon his former car in fleeing here from a $1,500 holdup in Boston.

Drive Into Police Trap.

The youth's description of the green car put police definitely on Bird's trail. They checked newly purchased automobiles and traced one to Bird. For six days and nights they watched the place where he was believed to be living.

Last night the green sedan drew into the street where the officers had set their trap. Detectives with drawn guns leaped out and surrounded it.

"It looks like it's all over, Babe," Bird told his wife. They surrendered without a struggle, although both carried pistols.

In his jail cell Bird, who is 26 years old, talked of his crime career and pleaded for immunity for his wife. He insisted that although she drove the car in his robberies she didn't know what he was doing.

"I didn't find out my husband was a holdup man until six months after we married," said Barbara, 24 years old. "Then the only thing I could do was to string along with him. I'm sick and can't talk. I'm going to have a baby."

Looking for New Partner.

Bird admitted six or seven smaller robberies here, but said he only "fooled with that punk stuff" until

DAVEY TRAILS IN CONTEST FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Mrs. Caraway Leads in Arkansas.

The Primaries

OHIO—In 4,935 of the state's 8,601 precincts in the Democratic primary for senator Bulkley had 259,196 votes to 114,688 for White. In the Republican primary for senator the vote was 195,239 for Taft to 140,482 for Day in 5,436 precincts. In the Democratic gubernatorial contest the vote in 5,691 precincts was: Sawyer, 267,755; Davey, 262,313.

NEBRASKA—Returns from 455 precincts out of 2,037 in the state gave Cochran for governor a vote of 22,659 to 2,959 for Radke. Warner led the Republicans for the governorship nomination by nearly 3 to 1.

ARKANSAS—In 1,129 out of 2,002 precincts in the Democratic primary for senator Hattie Caraway received 44,823 votes to 40,383 for Representative John L. McClellan. In the Democratic governorship primary 1,120 precincts gave Gov. Carl E. Bailey 43,209 votes to 40,738 for A. R. Cook.

IDAHO—In 278 of 802 precincts in the Democratic primary Senator James P. Pope received 13,983 votes to 14,297 for Congressman D. Worth Clark.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Robert Johns Bulkley, a Harvard classmate who became one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's staunchest supporters in the senate, headed for Democratic renomination tonight.

Bulkley, mild mannered Clevelander, 58 years old, who has been in the senate since 1930, held a strong lead over George White, former governor, in returns from today's primary.

Reports from 4,935 of the state's 8,601 precincts gave Bulkley, 259,186; White, 114,688.

A tight race developed for the Republican nomination. With 5,436 precincts reported, Arthur H. Day, State Supreme court judge, had 140,482 and Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer, 195,239.

Gov. Davey Trailing.

Returns from 5,691 precincts indicated defeat for Gov. Martin L. Davey, outspoken foe of John L. Lewis. Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati lawyer and Democratic national committeeman, backed by Labor's Nonpartisan league, had 267,755 votes to Davey's 262,313 for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the right to oppose John W. Bricker, unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Taft is a son of the late President William Howard Taft. Judge Day charged that Taft tried to "buy" the nomination, and Taft accused Day of "mud slinging."

Democrats turned out strong to decide between Gov. Davey, seeking a third term, and Sawyer, for the governorship nomination.

Davey Attacks Sawyer.

Davey described Sawyer as a "puppet" for Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, while Sawyer asserted that "graft and corruption" marked Davey's régime. Davey cast his ballot at Kent, Sawyer in Cincinnati.

Both contests attracted an estimated record 1,450,000 vote. Unofficial surveys indicated support for a prediction by the secretary of state's office that Democrats would out-poll Republicans for the first time in Ohio's history.

Davey, colorful, vociferous governor for two terms, has been accused of shaking down state employés for campaign money and putting pressure on old age pensioners to vote for him.

Three years ago he engaged in a thunderous row with Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins over handling relief in Ohio. Following demonstrations and sitdown strikes by reliefers, Hopkins charged there was corruption and fraud in handling relief in the state. Hopkins took over Ohio's relief administration for a time.

Former Gov. White was making his third attempt to win the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Two candidates who campaigned on "100 per cent New Deal" platforms were in front of Congressman-at-Large Harold Mosier, labeled as anti-New Deal, in the Democratic race for two congress-at-large seats. Returns from 352 precincts gave: Stephen M. Young, 9,023; Congressman John McSweeney, 8,430, and Mosier, 7,832.

Five Democrats and one Republican congressman were renominated without opposition. The Republican is Dudley A. White, Norwalk, in the 13th district.

Democratic incumbents who had no contest were Joseph A. Dixon, Cincinnati, 1st district; Brooks Fletcher, Marion, 8th; Robert T. Secrest, Caldwell, 15th; Lawrence E. Imhoff, St. Clairsville, 18th, and Robert Crosser, Cleveland, 21st.

Clear skies and sweltering temperatures provided the climatic setting for perhaps the most intensive campaign in modern Ohio political history.

Cochran Has 7 to 1 Lead.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 10 [Wednesday]. —(AP)—R. L. Cochran, the first Nebraska governor to seek a third consecutive term, forged to a 7 to 1 lead early today over his closest Democratic primary election opponent, Franz C. Radke, Lincoln attorney. Returns from 455 of 2,037 precincts gave Cochran 22,659 and Radke 2,959 votes.

Charles J. Warner, Waverly farmer, maintained a comfortable margin in the Republican gubernatorial nomination race. Warner had 11,498 votes compared with 4,554 for Robert G. Ross of Lexington, his nearest rival.

No senatorial post was open, but all five incumbent congressmen, a Republican and four Democrats, also sought third term nominations. Karl Stefan of Norfolk, the Republican, was unopposed, while the Democrats —Henry C. Luckey of Lincoln, Charles F. McLaughlin of Omaha, Charles G. Binderup of Minden and Harry B. Coffee of Chadron, faced opposition of varying strength.

Campaign Is Pepped Up.

A C. I. O. indorsement for Foster May, Omaha Democratic congressional candidate, injected a bit of life today into the dull campaign. He announced labor's Nonpartisan league, political arm of the C. I. O., had approved his 2d district candidacy.

Earlier, the league marked Coffee "for defeat." P. J. Heaton, Sidney attorney and former state president of Young Democrats, accused Coffee of being only "luke warm" in his friendship for the Roosevelt administration. Support of the Roosevelt administration, however, was not an open issue. Most of the Democratic aspirants avowed support of administration policies.

Keenly watched within the state was the showing of Radke, who said he was running "on his own" but friends of Democratic Charles W. Bryan, thrice former governor at different times, said Bryan would enter the November race by petition as an independent if Radke's showing was creditable. Minor state office nominees also were selected.

CHANDLER GOES FISHING; DELAYS POISON INQUIRY

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 9.—[Special.] —Gov. A. B. Chandler, defeated by Senator Alben W. Barkley for the Democratic senator nomination, is going fishing. This will postpone indefinitly a grand jury investigation of charges that he was poisoned during the campaign.

Dr. J. W. Bryan, the governor's physician, who first reported that the governor was poisoned, will appear Thursday in police court to answer charges of violating a city ordinance requiring a doctor to report a poisoning case to police within two hours. Dr. Bryan said Chandler and two members of his political entourage were stricken after drinking water from a pitcher in a hotel here.

Complete unofficial returns of Satday's primary give Barkley 294,214 to Chandler's 223,429, a majority of 70,785.

Texas G. O. P. Nominates Candidate for Governor

Houston, Tex., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Texas Republicans in convention today nominated Alexander Boynton, San Antonio oil man, for governor. He will oppose W. Lee O'Daniel, Democrat. A full slate of candidates was nominated.

MRS. CARAWAY FORGES AHEAD IN SENATE RACE

Leads by 4,000 on Half of Arkansas Returns.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Senator Hattie W. Caraway held a lead of 4,000 in the Democratic primary early tonight.

Returns from 1,129 of the state's 2,002 precincts gave Mrs. Caraway 44,823 votes, Congressman John L. McClellan 40,383, J. Rosser Venable 1,000.

For governor 1,120 precincts gave Gov. Carl E. Bailey, seeking a second term, 43,209 votes; R. A. Cook, Little Rock business man, 40,738; Dr. W. S. McNutt, Batesville college professor, 1,877.

Mrs. Caraway, the nation's only woman senator, bid for renomination to a second six year term on her past record and the assertion that opposition to her was inspired by a "campaign to undermine Roosevelt."

Disagree, Even on Issue.

Congressman McClellan, her most aggressive opponent, insisted Roosevelt policies were not an issue. He said he personally was acceptable to the White House. He said the question was whether a man or a woman could best serve the state in the senate where all other members are men.

The congressman said the only difference between his voting record and that of Mrs. Caraway's, as far as major Roosevelt policies are concerned, was on the government reorganization bill. McClellan voted against this measure and Mrs. Caraway for it. Both voted for such proposals as the farm bill, the spending-lending program, and the naval expansion bill.

The third senatorial candidate, a Little Rock war veteran, took no part in this argument.

Heavy Vote Indicated.

Reports from over the state indicated a heavy poll from the 338,000 qualified voters in the state. Nomination in Arkansas usually is tantamount to election. The polls closed at 7:30 p. m. Chicago time.

Two small rural boxes completed voting during the morning and announced returns. The first, in Prairie county, gave Senator Caraway 29 votes and none to either McClellan or Venable. The same precinct gave 29 votes to Gov. Bailey and none to either of his two opponents. The other, in Perry county, reported only its vote in the governor's race, giving Cook 23 votes, Bailey 4, and McNutt 0.

POPE, ROOSEVELT BACKER, TRAILING IN IDAHO PRIMARY

Clark Forges Ahead on First Returns.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 10 [Wednesday]. —(AP)—Idaho's junior senator, James P. Pope, trailed a self-styled conservative early today in early returns from the state's Democratic primary.

Pope is fighting not only for renomination but for the Roosevelt administration's prestige, since the Idaho primary has been interpreted as a test of the administration's popularity in the far west.

Returns from 278 precincts out of the state's 802 gave: Clark, 14,297; Pope, 13,983.

With 52 precincts reported Donald A. Callahan, Wallace lawyer and mining man, held a wide lead over his two opponents for the Republican senatorial nomination. The vote gave: Callahan, 1,707; W. H. Anderson, 548; F. H. Adams, 461.

New Ballot Gets a Test.

Idaho's new primary election ballot, permitting voters to obtain their ballots without declaring their party affiliations, received its first test.

On the ballot voters must indicate their politics with an "X" in a circle, and must vote only for candidates of that political faith. Closing hours of the campaign produced increasing speculation as to the number of Republicans who might switch from their party to the Democratic party to nominate so-called "weak" opposition candidates in the hope of defeating them in the general election.

Some political leaders estimated thousands of Republicans would switch.

G. O. P. Chief Fights Switch.

The possible switch brought another last hour warning from former Attorney General Fred Babcock, Boise lawyer and chairman of the Republican party, who said:

"I hope the Republican voters will confine themselves to the Republican primary. They have splendid material from which to select the party's candidates. They have an opportunity to present at the next general election one of the strongest and most capable tickets presented to the Idaho voting public in recent years."

Question 2d Prisoner About Mail Box Thefts

Charles Miller, 19 years old, 3529 Greenview avenue, was held yesterday by the Town Hall police for questioning about the theft of park district employés' checks from apartment mail boxes. He was arrested Monday at the Oak Park Y. M. C. A. after another youth, seized for mail box thefts, had named him as his accomplice. The other prisoner, Werner Guttersuid, 2112 Roscoe street, was arrested July 21 and is in the Cook county jail awaiting trial.

ROOSEVELT BACK IN U. S. AFTER 24 DAYS' VACATION

Ready to Resume Efforts at Purging Party.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 9.—[Special.] —President Roosevelt stepped ashore here late today after twenty-four days of holidaying, prepared in militant mood to resume his attempted purge of the Democratic party.

Clad in slacks and a blue shirt open at the neck, the President received newspaper men in the admiral's cabin aboard the Houston just before he landed. Bronzed from more than three weeks of the ocean, with plenty of deepsea fishing, he was in high spirits. The President passed off with a laugh queries about the contents of speeches and rear platform talks he will make on the trip back to Washington.

It was reported, however, that Mr. Roosevelt intends to indicate his displeasure with two prominent Democratic senators, Walter F. George of Georgia and Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina.

Both Face Primary Tests.

Senator George is a candidate for renomination in the Georgia primary on Sept. 14. Senator Smith's renomination rests with South Carolina voters in the Democratic primary on Aug. 30.

What form the President's criticism will take was not disclosed. The original plans for the trip called for two formal speeches in Georgia next Thursday. The President revealed he will make at least one talk in South Carolina also, although his special train will be passing through that state after 9 p. m.

Advisers have told the President that both Senator George and Senator Smith are favored to win renomination despite anything he may say. He has taken the position, however, according to reports, that he is going to put them on record as rebels against his rule, even though the party purge again fails, as it has failed in every instance up to this date.

First Speech of Little Moment.

The first speech Thursday will be delivered in the morning, when the University of Georgia confers an honorary degree upon Mr. Roosevelt. This talk is expected to be devoid of political significance.

The second, to be given at Barnesville, Ga., at the dedication of a rural electrification project, may be the most important political address coming from the lips of the President in many months. It is in this speech that Mr. Roosevelt is expected to snub Senator George, perhaps by giving his blessing to a rival candidate, Lawrence Camp.

The President departed tonight for Warm Springs, Ga., where he will spend tomorrow at his residence maintained at the Foundation for Victims of Infantile Paralysis. He will arrive in Washington Friday morning and probably spend four or five days there. He will depart Aug. 17 for Kingston, Ont., where he will help the Canadian premier dedicate the Thousand Islands bridge. He then will go to his home in Hyde Park for an indefinite stay.

Harry Hopkins, administrator of the Works Progress administration, met the President here and will accompany him back to Washington.

SEEK MOTIVES FOR SLAYING OF UNION OFFICIAL

Report of Fund Shortage Is Investigated.

Reports of a $10,000 shortage in the treasury of Local 191 of the painters' union were being investigated yesterday in connection with the murder of James G. Dungan, the union's business agent. Dungan was shot to death Monday night in front of his home at 3116 Lowe avenue.

His union's finances and history offered police of the Deering street station a broad field in which to find a motive for the murder. Four or five persons connected with the union were sought, but no arrests were made.

Widow Gives Information.

State's Attorney Courtney took a file labeled "Painters' Union" out of his archives and sent it to Supervising Capt. John Stege and Capt. William O'Brien at the Deering station. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan went along.

The first hint of a possible shortage in union cash came from the widow, Mrs Ann Dungan. She and her daughter, Dorothy, 11 years old, hurried back from their summer home at Hebron, Ill., upon hearing of the shooting. The widow did not attend the inquest, which was continued, but later appeared at the police station with Attorney John V. Clinnin.

"I heard him say some one had taken $10,000 from the union," Mrs. Dungan told Capt. Stege. "I understood that my husband had to become financial secretary of the union as well as business agent because of the loss of that money."

Office Reported Vacated.

Capt. Stege said he learned that until a few weeks ago Gustave H. Fischer, 11935 Longwood drive, Blue Island, had been financial secretary. While official information was not at hand, he said, it was reported that the office had been vacated by a vote of the membership a short time ago. Charles Mustin, 4020 North Central Park avenue, president of the union, said there had been no internal trouble in the union and would not be interviewed regarding Fischer.

Capt. Stege sent detectives to the address given for Fischer but they did not find him. It was learned that on Dec. 11, 1936, Fischer reported to police that he had been robbed of a brief case filled with union records.

Fischer was elected in 1935, defeating William L. Schaaf, who figured prominently in several union affairs.

Tells Fear of Death.

"Dungan came to see me less than a year ago," said Capt. O'Brien yesterday. "He told me he expected an attempt would be made to kill him as he would be leaving his home or returning to it. He asked me to have police squads instructed to keep a close watch near his home at all times, particularly at night."

Capt. O'Brien said he would make inquiries into the income of the union, which was supposed to have considerable money in its treasury. A year ago a printing plant on the northwest side was bombed, the captain stated, because of pamphlets which told of the money paid to Dungan and another business agent. The captain said he believed it possible that gangsters were trying to take control of the union away from Dungan and that he resisted to the death.

Bullets to Be Compared.

Lieut. Archie Cain of the detective bureau said he would compare the bullets that killed Dungan with those used in six unrelated murders in the last six weeks. In each case .45 caliber steel jacketed bullets were fired. Lieut. Cain said it was possible the same group of professional killers may have been hired in each instance.

State's Attorney Courtney said that, while the actual investigation of the homicide is up to the police, his office would offer wholehearted coöperation in solving the murder.

Mr. Courtney spent two hours consulting with his chief investigator, Capt. Daniel Gilbert. They had the file "Painters' Union" with them. It is said to contain all records of shootings, bombings, sluggings, and other violence attributed to members of this union, as well as all complaints against officials from employers. The file is several inches thick.

6 MURDERS LAID TO WAR WITHIN PAINTERS' UNION

All Unsolved; Latest Victim Marked for Death.

The slaying Monday of James Dungan, business agent of local 191 of the painters' union, is the sixth unsolved murder in recent years attributed to affairs of that union. The local and the city-wide organization, called the Painters' District council, have attracted the attention of police and prosecutors many times in the last decade.

Dungan was marked for death and knew it. He was arrested several times while armed. But he wasn't armed when he was shot down Monday night in front of his home at 3116 Lowe avenue. Whether his death was connected with any of those other five deaths chargeable to union affairs was not known, police said.

First Slaying in 1931.

Frank Carr, financial secretary of the union, was the first of the six to be slain. He was shot seven times in front of union headquarters at 12 West Garfield boulevard on Feb. 24, 1931. The killers were said to be men he knew and had talked with just before the shooting.

Michael [Bubs] Quinlan, beer runner and gang leader of the prohibition era, was slain July 19, 1934. Police said Quinlan had endeavored to take possession of local 191, a feat that other gangsters had accomplished with some other unions, becoming "business agents" by pistol and muscle instead of by the votes of the members. Quinlan was shot to death in a café at 6325 Cottage Grove avenue. The assassin, never identified, had gone into the place looking for him.

Business Agent Slain.

It was not long after Quinlan's death that Roy Thompson, business agent of local 184 of the painters' union, was killed. Thompson was shot to death in front of his home at 8241 Dorchester avenue on the evening of Aug. 18, 1934.

Three nights later a machine gun squad used Dungan as a target but missed him. Dungan and Thompson had been close friends and coöperated in union matters. Dungan was on his way home from Thompson's wake when the attempt was made on his life. Dungan was chased for several miles by the machine gunners in their automobile. He jumped out of his car in front of the Deering police station and asked for protection.

Shotgun Blast Kills Woman.

Next of the six to die was Mrs. Elsie Henneman, wife of George Henneman, secretary-treasurer of local 191 and pal of Dungan. Mrs. Henneman was killed by a shotgun charge fired into an automobile in which she and her husband were sitting in front of 333 Root street on Jan. 3, 1936. It was presumed the shotgun blast was intended for her husband, who had a second's notice and dropped out of the line of fire. Henneman and Dungan had been arrested twice, each time on charges of carrying firearms.

Robert A. Shields, Ilke Carr, was a union financial secretary. He belonged to local 184 and was a brother of Roy Shields, business agent and official of the Painters' District council who figured in a number of shootings. Robert Shields was killed in front of his home at 3451 61st street on June 25, 1937.

Dungan had been business agent of local 191 for nine years. Before attaining that position he was a prominent member of the union and had worked at the trade.

EYES SERVE FOR 80 YEARS, THEN GIVE SIGHT TO 2

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Eyes that for eighty years served their original owner today brought partial sight to a middle aged minister and a youth. Surgeons said complete vision might be theirs.

The eyes were those of Mrs. Margaret Carr, who died at Berkeley last July 31 after murmuring: "This is heaven—how beautiful!"

Three days later the corneas were transplanted to the sightless eyes of the Rev. U. E. Harding, Portland, Ore., Nazarene minister, who had been blind forty-three years, and to Arthur Morton, Sacramento pianist.

Today the attending surgeon entered Harding's room and removed the bandages. "I can see!" the minister cried. "I can count your fingers." He wept for joy.

The surgeon went to Morton's room and uncovered eyes that had been sightless since 1932. Morton gazed up at the doctor. "Things are blurred—reddish," he whispered. "But I can see!" Then he fainted.

CAPTURED GANG LEADER BOASTS $100,000 HAULS

Trail at End for Last of Big Bank Robbers.

he could find a partner to help him carry out half a dozen bank robberies he had planned.

The two other members of Bird's gang, his brother, Frank, 30 years old, and James Widmer, 31, were captured last fall.

The three desperadoes embarked on their national career of crime in the summer of 1936 after they broke out of the Missouri state prison. Frank Bird and Widmer were serving life terms for murder and Charles was serving ten years for robbery.

After holding up numerous banks the three were captured in Cleveland in July, 1937. While awaiting trial on federal charges of kidnaping in a robbery, Barbara smuggled guns into them and they escaped last September. In their flight they slugged two jail guards and fatally injured with a stolen automobile a woman pedestrian who got in their way.

4 PICKETS FINED FOR DISORDER IN NORTH CHICAGO

Three men and a woman pleaded guilty yesterday to charges arising out of their conduct on the C. I. O. picket line during the recent strike at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago. Joseph Jordan, Joseph Pankiewicz, and Gust Kozina were charged with disorderly conduct and Kozina's wife, Josephine, was charged with striking a deputy sherif with an umbrella. Each was fined $8 and costs by Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein in Waukegan.

Two women filed $10,000 damage suits against the foundry yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court. They allege they were beaten by deputy sherifs during the strike. The women are Mrs. Anna Pappas, who was in the C. I. O. picket line, and Mrs. Madliae Markobrad. Attorney Sidney Block, counsel for the foundry, asserted the suits were retaliation by the C. I. O. against the company.

PROF. CROSSLEY, CRIME ANALYST, DIES ON STREET

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Prof. Frederick B. Crossley, noted crime analyst and librarian and once a director of the Chicago crime commission, dropped dead on the street here today. He had been employed by police agencies in San Francisco. He was 66 years old.

Prof. Crossley was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1899 and practiced in Chicago. He was secretary of the school of law of Northwestern university from 1901 to 1929, then professor of law. He was librarian of the Elbert H. Gary library of law from 1903 to 1932. He was editor and director of various legal publications.

4 YEAR SCHOLARSHIP TO THE CITADEL WON BY BOWEN GRADUATE

William J. De Witt.

William J. De Witt, a graduate last June of Bowen High school, will attend The Citadel at Charleston, S. C., for the next four years, and it won't cost him a cent. He was announced yesterday as the winner of the Col. Robert R. McCormick scholarship to the century old military institution. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staf of the United States army, is its head.

Young De Witt, who lives at 9835 Avenue L, was held an outstanding high school graduate, possessed of the finest qualities of mental, moral, and spiritual leadership. There were hundreds of applicants.

He was fourth in scholastic rating in his class of 307. He was a cadet captain and battalion adjutant in the R. O. T. C. unit. His extra activities included membership in the National Honor society, the Quill and Scroll, treasurer of the Travel club, and editor of the school paper, the Bowen Arrow. He will enter The Citadel Sept. 5.

NINE EMERGENCY LANDING FIELDS NEAR CITY URGED

45 Mile Ring of Lighted Ports Asked by Flyers.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Aviation Editor.]

Development of a ring of nine flying fields at an average distance of 45 miles from the Chicago municipal airport has been recommended to the federal government by private, commercial and military flyers from this city, it was learned yesterday.

All these airports would be alternate or emergency landing places for airplanes blocked by weather from Chicago's main terminal field. They also would become centers for sport flying and training civilian airmen in radio and instrument flying. They would add materially to the accuracy of reports on the department of commerce "aviation weather reporting network" around Chicago and supply "off air line" data not available now.

Completely Ring Chicago.

The nine suggested fields, their distances and directions from Chicago's airport are: Shelby, Ind., 45 miles south and slightly east; McCool, Ind., 40 miles southeast; Waterman, Ill., 52 miles west; Sterling, Ill., 101 miles west; Joliet, Ill., 25 miles southwest; Rockford, Ill., 77 miles northwest; Curtiss-Reynolds field, Glenview, Ill., 22 miles northwest; Elgin, Ill., 33 miles northwest, and Waukegan, Ill., 41 miles due north.

Each of these fields except that at Shelby, Ind., is big enough for the largest airplanes flying today. All of them, however, lack hard surfaced runways, landing lights, and radio beam facilities that have become so important for year-round flying.

Advocates of these improvements are the commercial air line pilots, the air transport companies, military flying units and women pilots' organizations, and the Illinois Air Pilots' association.

New York Well Equipped.

"New York has four first class flying fields within 20 miles of the heart of Manhattan island," said one airman in calling attention to the need for alternate fields at Chicago. "There are another half dozen alternate fields within 50 miles of Newark, now New York's terminal.

"At Chicago we have only one first class field, the city airport. No other field within 90 miles has radio and landing lights. This is a dangerous oversight that should be remedied immediately."

Pilots assert that lights and radio are the first needs for these alternate fields.

"Federal bureaus recognize the importance of radio by demanding that all planes flown to terminal airports be equipped with both radio transmitters and receivers," said another airman.

Emergency Fields Lack Radio.

"Yet only a few of the emergency landing fields have radio beam stations or low-powered field localizer beams that can be used to help a flyer to find the ground through clouds, fog, dust,, rain or snow."

For the larger airliners such as the Douglas DC-2 and DC-3 transports weighing between 18,000 and 24,500 pounds when fully loaded, hard surfaced runways are almost essential. It has been recommended that each of the emergency airports be provided with two macadam or cement runways at least 2,500 feet long.

WOMAN INJURED BY LEAP.

Mrs. Margaret Hensel, 46 years old, was seriously injured early today when she leaped from the second floor of her sister's apartment at 2204 North Lockwood avenue. She had been under a doctor's care in her home at 3726 Cornelia avenue.

Airports Needed

This map shows the number of alternate airports needed for safe flying in the Chicago area, and their location. Distances are air line miles from the emergency fields to the Chicago airport. Asteriks mark fields where facilities are adequate for airplanes unable to land at the Chicago airport because of bad weather.

Bars Sky Writing and Airplane BannersOver N.Y.

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Sky writing and dragging of advertising banners behind planes over New York City was outlawed today by Mayor F. H. La Guardia. Police Commissioner Lewis A. Valentine today was instructed by the mayor to suspend licenses already granted and not to issue any until further notice because Louis Purchase, who crashed Sunday at Coney Island, didn't take his land plane to sea for his crash when engine trouble beset him.

PARDON REFUSED TO EX-DETECTIVE ONCE IN PRISON

Although a federal agent, a Chicago policeman, and a private detective for twenty-five years, David S. Groh of Chicago yesterday was denied a pardon by Gov. Horner. As a result he cannot obtain a state license as a private detective under a new state law.

He had been a detective for ten years before he was convicted of manslaughter in 1921 for the death of a policeman after an automobile-street car accident. He was sentenced to one year to life, but was paroled after two years and came back to Chicago to resume detective work. Seven months later his citizenship was restored by a former governor. He offered six years' service as a government agent in his plea for a pardon and restored citizenship.

Also among the sixteen refused clemency by the governor was Mike Musiala, sentenced to 20 years for a part in the kidnaping of August Luer of Alton, wealthy packer and banker, in 1933.

$200 Stamp Collection Has Single Item Worth $50,000

Los Angeles, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Three months ago Warren R. Du Bois purchased a collection of stamps from an estate for $200. Included was a one-cent blue issue, which he cataloged and marked for sale at $3. A few days ago, he examined it more closely. It bore a Baltimore, Md., first-day cancellation of Aug. 17, 1861. Jubilant, Du Bois checked with experts. Today he had his answer: The stamp is worth $50,000. Earliest previously known cancellation of the same stamp, Du Bois said, is Aug. 22, 1861, owned by E. Tudor Gross, of Providence, R. I.

PICKABACK LAND PLANE PLANNED FOR OCEAN MAIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Maj. R. H. Mayo, designer of the "pickaback" flying boat whose upper component, the Mercury, flew the Atlantic ocean last month, announced tonight he had completed plans to build a composite land plane in England to carry a one-ton load of mail overnight from Britain to America.

"We hope to begin construction soon," Mayo told a meeting of students in Cambridge university.

The new craft, Mayo said, will have a top speed of around 300 miles per hour, will cruise at 270 miles.

The land "pickaback" Mayo disclosed will embody all the essential features of the composite flying boat, including the same principle for separating the upper, or long distance plane, from the lower "elevator" plane. Each component will have four engines and the long distance plane will be fitted with a retractable undercarriage.

"It will be capable of landing safely on the sea, though not taking off again," Mayo said.

The designer holds that land planes, because of their greater range and cruising speed, will be the future means of trans-Atlantic travel.

"WE KNOW FINER TOBACCOS— WE SMOKE CAMELS"

CALVIN WIGGINS (left) knows cigarette tobaccos. He knows because he grows tobacco. He says: "There's quite a difference between fine grade tobacco and other grades—big difference in smoking too. From my experience, it's the Camel people who buy the best tobaccos. Most tobacco planters down here smoke Camels, as I do. We know Camel buys finer tobaccos."

HUMAN ALERTNESS plus the uncanny ingenuity of the modern cigarette machine, assures full, uniform packing of your Camel cigarettes. There are billions and billions of Camels made (Camels are the largest-selling cigarette), and each and every one is carefully scanned to make sure that every Camel you smoke is a perfect cigarette, and a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

"Electric Cooking is the Best Time-Saver I Know!"

—Says Mrs. Lemke of West Superior Street

When I Go Away For the Afternoon..
I put my complete meal in the oven...
Set the Automatic Controls...
And it's cooked, ready to put on the table, when I get home!

Read What Mrs. Lemke Says About Electric Cooking:

● "The thing I like best about electric cooking is the hours and hours of time it saves me. You see, I'm Worthy Matron of Ivanhoe Eastern Star Chapter, and I have so many duties to attend to, so many calls to make that I'm away from home almost every afternoon. So I plan oven meals pretty regularly. Because all I have to do then is put the meal in the oven, set the automatic time and temperature controls, and my meal is all cooked and ready to put on the table when I come home.

"Even the minutes I save by not having to scour pots and pans are really important to me. Electric cooking is so clean that there is no soot and grime. That means I don't have to lose time scrubbing and scouring pans.

"As for the cost of electric cooking—Well, it's only a little over $2 a month. And there are three in our family—my husband, my father-in-law and myself. I bake often, and entertain our club at dinner regularly, too. So I think that is pretty cheap.

"There's another thing I'd like to say. Just this: that if I had my way, every woman learning to cook would use an electric range. Then she'll be sure to find cooking a pleasant task. Because it's clean . . . it's cheap . . . and it's the best time-saver I know about!"

—MRS. OLGA LEMKE
5037 WEST SUPERIOR STREET

Thank you, Mrs. Lemke. Electric Range users all over Chicago are saying the same things. To them, fast, clean, cheap electric cooking is the only modern way to cook . . . See the displays of modern automatic electric ranges at electrical appliance dealers, hardware, furniture and department stores, and at Electric Shops of the Commonwealth Edison Company.

SEN. GUFFEY PUTS ON SHAKE FOR CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Tells Keystone Pay Rollers of G. O. P. Peril.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Over the signature of United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey, letters by the tens of thousands have been sent in the last few days to Democratic job holders and WPA payrollers in Pennsylvania requesting contributions for the Democratic state campaign this fall.

As a novel touch to the fund soliciting idea, the contributors are given a choice of making their payment in a lump sum or dividing it into three instalments, one to be paid immediately and the others on Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

Sails Despite Subpena.

Guffey is in Europe, having sailed in defiance of a subpena to testify before the Dauphin county grand jury in its stalled investigation of graft and bribery charges made against the state administration of Gov. Earle. The letterheads indicated the message to "the boys" was sent out from Harrisburg, headquarters of the Democratic state committee. Guffey, although bitterly opposed to the Earle-Jones ticket that won the Democratic primary election in May, has since been reconciled with the regular state leadership and is campaign manager of the Democratic nominees.

The letter paints a picture of the disasters that would befall liberal Democrats—and WPA workers—if the Republican ticket should win in November.

Warns of Disaster.

"Under orders from Pew, Grundy, Weir and Annenberg, the Republican candidate for governor, should he be elected, would do his utmost to reduce to ashes the barricades that have been built by the Democratic administration to provide for every citizen of this commonwealth security against economic disaster," the letter said in part.

The name references were to Joseph N. Pew, who was a delegate to the last Republican national convention; Joseph R. Grundy, industrialist; Ernest T. Weir, Western Pennsylvania steel operator, and M. L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Guffey charged that the Republican nominee for governor, Judge Arthur H. James, is opposed to "the present system of direct relief, against the WPA, against any and all forms of security and against any Democrats having jobs."

The letter also charged that the Republican leadership is raising "a five million dollar slush fund with which they will attempt to buy victory for the Republican ticket in November."

"Now is the time for every liberal Democrat to show his or her colors," the letter concluded. "You can do so best by making a financial contribution to the Pennsylvania Democratic state committee."

Ryan Gains 9 More Votes in Legislative Recount

State Representative John G. Ryan gained nine more votes yesterday to maintain a lead of 37½ votes over Adam S. Mioduski in the recount for nomination in the April primary election to the legislative seat. Ryan is contesting Mioduski's nomination.

U. S. Pay Roll Gains

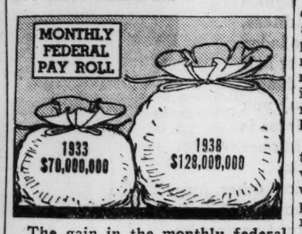
The gain in the number of United States government employes since 1861. Almost three hundred thousand jobs have been added under President Roosevelt.



The gain in the monthly federal pay roll since President Roosevelt took office.

U. S. JURY HEARS STATE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS

F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, spent an hour and a half before the federal grand jury yesterday. He was summoned in connection with the government's investigation of possible collusive bidding on Cook county road contracts. It was reported that Smith produced photostatic copies of bids on 28 highway projects which he rejected as excessive. Second bids were $472,000 lower.

C. H. Baker of the highway department refused to sign an immunity waiver and did not testify before the grand jury during the day. He changed his mind later, however, and indicated he would testify, after signing a waiver, when his superior, Ernest Lieberman, state highway engineer, is heard by the grand jury.

Warren Canaday, assistant United States attorney, said contractors who submitted the bids also would be summoned, as will Maj. George A. Quinlan, Cook county highway superintendent.

AWARD TWELVE FELLOWSHIPS TO TRAFIC SCHOOL

Fellowships for the study of automobile accident prevention were awarded yesterday to twelve police officials throughout the nation. The fellowships, each valued at $1,250, provide for study at the Northwestern university trafic safety institute during the academic year of 1938-'39. Among those named are Police Chief Ernest H. Drexler of Des Plaines, and Sergt. Aaron F. Cowels of Milwaukee.

The twelve represent the winning cities in the national trafic safety contest of 1937. The fellowships are paid from a fund of $25,000 granted by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation.

PLANT CLOSED; DEMAND LEWIS DISBAND PICKETS

C. I. O. Puts 550 Off Jobs in Fight on Rival Union.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—John D. Biggers, Roosevelt appointee as administrator of last year's federal unemployment census, disclosed tonight he had appealed to John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, to stop picketing at the big Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company plant here. Biggers, who lives in Toledo, is president of the glass company.

Picketing by members of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, an affiliate of the C. I. O., caused suspension today of two large departments in the plant, throwing 550 men out of work. The C. I. O. union is seeking to prevent formation of a rival American Federation of Labor local.

"The picketing was an effort on the part of the C. I. O. to determine who shall work and who shall not work, which is not within their province, according to our agreement," said Mr. Biggers.

Act Without Warning.

"Without warning or complaint, they started picketing the factory Saturday. They prevented a number of their fellow workers from going to work, which caused a partial suspension of operations. Our officials offered to go to Ottawa and discuss the whole affair, provided the union first would withdraw the pickets. This the local officers refused to do.

"I reported the fact to John L. Lewis and I understand he has communicated with national officers of the union. They in turn are working out the problem with local officers. I am confident the union will live up to its contract now in force with the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company."

The trouble began Friday night when a movement was started to form an A. F. of L. chapter among the employés. Harry O'Reilly, representing the Union Label League of Chicago, came here to aid in the movement.

70 Per Cent Want New Union.

O'Reilly said he had been informed that 70 per cent of the Ottawa glass workers want to sever their C. I. O. affiliations and join an A. F. of L. organization.

About forty members of the C. I. O. union began picketing the plant Saturday. They still were there today, stopping workers and inquiring into their attitude toward the rival union.

"We are stopping men at the gates," said Leland Beard, president of the C. I. O. local, "and finding out their sentiment on the union question. We are determined to weed out the agitators who have been causing the rumpus."

A notice was posted on the company's bulletin boards yesterday warning employés that the plant would be closed if pickets were not withdrawn. When the picketing continued today, the laminating department and the cutting departments of the factory were closed.

400 Remain at Work.

Four hundred other men continued working in the factory, which is the largest industrial plant in this town of 17,000. About 1,800 men are employed when the plant is operating at capacity. Those remaining on the job today were salaried employés, maintenance men, a power house crew, and a glass tank crew.

"The picketing is a direct violation of our labor agreement," said D. H. Goodwillie, executive vice president of the company.

The company has a contract with the C. I. O. union, but the union does not have a closed shop agreement.

If the potato had talked to him like a ventriloquist's dummy, Sergt. William Schultz wouldn't have batted an eye. HELP G. O. P. BEAT BENSON, PLEA OF RYAN, DEMOCRAT

Says Governor's Defeat Minnesota's Need.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—The tangled affairs of the Democratic party in this state were messed up further last night when the party's only representative in congress, Representative Elmer J. Ryan of South St. Paul, indorsed the Republican candidate for governor. Ryan is a candidate for reëlection.

Congressman Ryan said the only way to "hand the communists a setback" is for the Democrats to unite and defeat Gov. Elmer A. Benson, Farmer-Laborite, by voting for Harold E. Stassen, the Republican candidate for governor.

Follows Appeal by Farley.

Ryan issued a statement at Duluth last night, following an address there by Postmaster General James A. Farley in which Farley called on members of the Democratic party to support Thomas Gallagher, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee and others on the state ticket.

Farley told a meeting of more than 1,000 leading members of his party not to listen to Republican campaign pleas in the 1938 election because such action would damage the party's chances in 1940.

Ryan, in his statement after Farley's appeal described Stassen as "a young, able, liberal candidate, who can win." Ryan and Stassen are former law partners, having practiced together in South St. Paul.

Says Communist Issue Paramount.

"I approve of Mr. Farley's remarks concerning national issues, but I differ with him in his analysis of our state problems," Ryan said. "We who live here know that the issue now before Minnesota Democrats is 1938, not 1940.

"Thousands of our party know that the greatest need in our state is a change in the state capitol, to end the sinister and corrupt influences now in control of the state administration."

FIREMAN HAS AN IDEA, AND GARDEN REPLACES DUMP

Three months ago it was just a cinder dump. Then Fireman Frank Jones of hook and ladder company No. 14 at 918 West 19th street decided that the unsightly lot could be converted into a flower garden and wading pool. Some of his friends helped him. Yesterday their work was finished. The dump now has a clear pool that the neighborhood children will use the rest of the summer. There is a walk that leads around the flower beds and a trellis on which vines will climb next year.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

AFTER A FASHION NO. 2

By CALEB

"THE WOMEN of Gaul wear costumes beautiful and costly beyond description. They are resplendent in beauty, thanks to the refined arts of dress, and their complexion remains fair in spite of the lapse of years."

So wrote a chronicler two thousand years ago as he entered Gaul with Caesar's conquering Roman legions. He was perhaps the first of a long line of fashion reporters who have invaded France to remain and marvel at the nation's flair for costume and personal adornment. His news dispatch has been rewritten again and again —couched in the language of each new period.

Through succeeding centuries French rulers and their subjects continued a tradition of interest and expertness in the matter of costume and personal beauty. Europe came to look steadily to Paris for leadership and inspiration in its modes, acknowledging supremacy there even while it disputed military or intellectual dominance.

In 1675 the first Parisian Fashion journal was issued in folio volumes with colored illustrations, to be followed almost without interruption by others of similar nature. A tradition of French leadership was established and carefully nourished. A growing and important group of skilled designers and artisans came into existence, often subsidized by those who ruled the country.

This dynasty of fashion — so old, skilled and well entrenched— cannot wisely be discarded overnight. Hence, the world still looks to Paris and its hereditary couturiers for leadership in the hard-bound realm of fashion—just as it did centuries ago.

Neither Paris nor woman has changed in that respect through the generations. Important among the reasons for dominance by Paris in the modern world of fashion is this long training by habit and custom. Other nations, including our own, contribute numerous collateral ideas, but basically fashion means Paris— as it has for centuries.

It is production rather than creation that marks our own major contribution to this world of costume and beauty that began so long ago with the ancient Gallic women.

BRITISH PREMIER BACK ON JOB AS WAR FEAR GROWS

Breaks Off Vacation to Tackle Problems.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—World hopes for peace have taken another turn for the worse. That was the construction put in London on the busiest "vacation" a British prime minister has had in many years.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain returned to London from Scotland today and visited a nasal specialist, which was the ostensible reason for his return. There was a wide belief, however, that he was back on business.

The rush to buy gold continued, raising the week's total to a $100,000,000 turnover. Today's sales were estimated at $15,000,000. Fear of war in Europe and of a sudden drop in the value of currencies probably was the chief cause of the rush.

To See Foreign Chief.

Chamberlain tomorrow will confer with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary. He also is expected to see Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, who has just completed an investigation of conditions in Palestine where Jews and Arabs are in conflict.

Ivan Maisky, soviet Russian ambassador, and a member of the Japanese embassy staf called at the foreign office today and saw Halifax's deputy, Sir Lancelot Oliphant.

More than on the conflict between Russia and Japan, however, war fears seem to be based on the tension over the Nazi-Czech row and the fact that huge German army maneuvers, in which reserve units will participate, are scheduled for mid-August.

Sees Nazi Leaders.

Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, conferred with Nazi leaders of the Free City of Danzig after talking with German naval chiefs in Kiel.

The sudden return of Premier Edouard Daladier of France from his vacation added to speculation as to what is afoot. Official circles for months considered August the time when a general war was most likely.

U.S. Envoy to China Opens New Embassy in Chungking

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 9.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staf arrived in this interior city today aboard the United States navy gunboat Luzon. Removal of the embassy from Hankow was the second shift in its location since the Chinese-Japanese war began. The first was from Nanking. Johnson is likely to be the only diplomat of ambassadorial or ministerial rank in this city.

Woman Fatally Burned by Hot Water in Shower

Mrs. Magdaline Burbach, 38 years old, died last night in the Grant hospital from burns received earlier when she was scalded in the shower bath of her room at the Lincoln Park Arms hotel, 2738 Pine Grove avenue. Her husband, David, said Mrs. Burbach stepped into the shower, turned on the hot water, and was scalded by the steam. Dr. David A. Herstein administered first aid.

Shooting Principals

Mrs. Dorothy McBride. Clayton McGrath.

Clayton McGrath, 30 years old, was shot and seriously wounded last evening when he returned to a tavern at 649 West State street, Calumet City, where he had shot two women on May 18, 1937. Bernie Meyers, the bartender, fired at McGrath when the latter put his hand in his pocket as if to draw a gun.

McGrath ran out of the tavern and went north on foot to the village of Burnham, a mile and a half away. Calumet City police seized him there. He was taken to St. Margaret hospital in Hammond. The tavern was ordered closed.

In the previous shooting McGrath wounded his former sweetheart, Mrs. Dorothy McBride, 27 years old, and Miss Betty Dunlop, 24. Both were then tavern hostesses. On July 2, 1937, McGrath pleaded guilty before Judge Peter M. Schwaba in Criminal court to assault with intent to commit murder. This carries a penalty of 1 to 14 years in prison.

A week later the judge vacated the sentence and sent McGrath to the Bridewell for a year on the lesser charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The judge said last night that the cooling of Mrs. McBride's affections toward McGrath was a mitigating circumstance. McGrath was released from the Bridewell a month ago and returned to the tavern last night. He was searching for Mrs. McBride, who was not there.

JAPS RUSH 20,000 MEN TO REST ART STALLED DRIVE

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Twenty thousand Japanese reinforcements were ordered today to the Yangtze river battle front, where sharp Chinese counterattacks had stalled the Japanese drive on Hankow, China's provincial capital.

The troops were on their way from Hofei, in Anhwei province, to Kiukiang, Yangtze river port and Japanese advance base 135 miles downstream from Hankow.

Twenty-five miles north of Kiukiang and 100 miles east of Hankow Chinese forces assaulting Japanese at Hwangmei said 6,000 Japanese were encircled but that Chinese could not dislodge them because it was impossible to bring up artillery in the flooded Yangtze valley area. Yangtze waters were receding, however.

Canton Bombed Second Day.

CANTON, China, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Japanese naval planes today carried out the second instalment of their threatened ten-day schedule of aerial attacks on Kwangtung province. The count, by days, thus far:

Monday—121 dead or missing, 180 injured.

DIES OF BEATING; HUNT LODGER.

Mrs. Bertha Coal, 49 years old, colored, died in the county hospital yesterday after being beaten in her home at 619 West 13th street. Police are seeking a man who was staying at her home.

tanks on the southwest shore of Possiet bay, several miles east of the disputed Siberian-Manchukuan-Corean border zone at Changkufeng. A renewed soviet attack was believed imminent by the war office.

Marshal Vassily Bluecher, soviet commander in chief in the far east, was reported to have arrived at Novokievsk, some 20 miles northeast of Changkufeng, to take command of his forces.

Shell Hits Passenger Train.

Hostilities on the border dispute front continued with artillery exchanges. One soviet shell was said to have struck a passenger train behind the lines and the war office spokesman expressed belief that casualties would be heavy.

The army announced extension of the fighting to Suiliufen, six miles north of Shachofeng in the Changkufeng area. Two soviet battalions were said to have attacked there.

Reported construction of new soviet defenses on the shore of Possiet bay were regarded of particular importance. The bay forms a submarine base guarding approaches to the soviet naval base at Vladivostok, 75 miles to the northeast.

Continue Defiant Attitude.

MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The soviet government tonight kept a watchful eye on the Changkufeng incident and continued preparations for a vigorous defense of its territory if the conflict should outgrow its present vest pocket limitations.

Inasmuch as there still was danger that diplomatic conversations might fail, there was no tendency to discourage patriotic expressions of defiance toward Japan in mass meetings and resolutions.

Funao Miyakawa, first secretary of the Japanese embassy, visited the foreign office and talked with the chief of the far eastern section, but it was understood their conversation was limited to discussion of the recent Russian-Japanese clash at Shuifenho, 250 miles north of Changkufeng.

CZECHS PROTEST VIRULENT NAZI PRESS ATTACKS

PRAGUE, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Czechoslovakian government in an official statement tonight complained of what it termed unwaranted German press and radio attacks on Czechoslovakia.

The statement concerned the slaying yesterday of Wenzel Baierle, 28 years old, a member of Czechoslovakia's pro-Nazi German minority, near Glasenwald, in Bohemia, during an argument with German Social Democrats, who are anti-Nazi.

The German campaign, said the government's statement, obviously was aimed at inflaming public passions and adding to the difficulties of the unofficial British mission here to mediate the Czechoslovak minorities problem. The statement indignantly denied German allegations that German lives no longer were safe in Czechoslovakia.

JAPS USE POISON GAS, CHINESE CHARGE IN PROTEST TO LEAGUE

GENEVA, Aug. 9.—(AP)—China protested to the league of nations today against the alleged use of poison gas by the Japanese in the far eastern conflict, backing her charges with testimony of a British doctor.

The protest included a report by Dr. H. Talbot, surgeon at the Nanchang hospital, who examined nineteen wounded Chinese soldiers in the presence of Capt. Frank Dorn, military attaché of the United States.

Talbot said he found traces of mustard or chlorine gas in all nineteen soldiers. Copies of the Chinese protest were sent to all members of the league and members of the Far Eastern advisory committee, to which the United States belongs.

'MORAL' SUPPORT GERMANY'S ONLY PROMISE TO JAPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

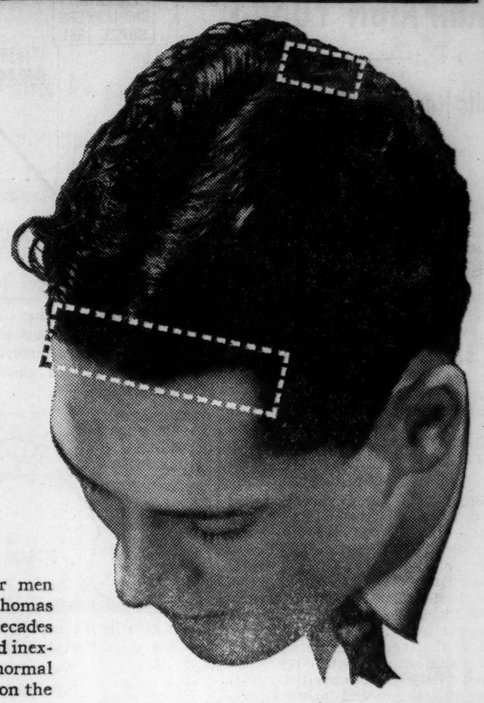
BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Japan may expect only "moral" support in its present Siberian border conflict with soviet Russia, it was reported today. Japanese Ambassador Shigehori Togo conferred with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop yesterday and reports arose that he had pressed for "realistic" support.

The foreign office today denied that Togo had sought an expression of how far Germany was prepared to expand the present framework of German-Italian-Japanese anti-communist pact and whether in an emergency Germany would give it positive military implications.

The only assurance extended, the foreign office said, was that Germany's sympathies naturally were with Japan and she would always champion Japan against the soviet whenever the issue involved bolshevism.

HOW TO AVOID BALDNESS

Watch these danger zones



DEFINITE warning signals always precede baldness. When your scalp itches or is laden with dandruff, and when your hair falls abnormally in the "danger zones" (forehead and crown) you are being warned that baldness is approaching. You must act at once if you wish to avoid baldness.

Do what a quarter-million other men have done — consult Thomas. Thomas treatment is proved by almost two decades of success — is reliable, dignified, and inexpensive. It ends dandruff, stops abnormal hair loss, and promotes hair growth on the thin and bald spots. Call today for a complete scalp examination. No charge is made for the examination nor for consultation and if you do not come within the scope of Thomas treatment you will be promptly told.

The Most Severe Check for Bouquet in Whiskey!

USE A "SNIFTER GLASS", SOMETIMES CALLED A "NOSE GLASS"
A tulip-shaped, thin, clear glass — holding about 4 ounces if filled to the top —but which is provided with an etched line as a marker where to stop pouring. If you don't own one of these glasses, use ordinary brandy snifter.

MAKE THIS REVEALING CHECK FOR BOUQUET, BODY, AROMA, FLAVOR

1 Fill the "snifter glass" to the line.
2 Now carefully warm the "snifter glass" with the whiskey in it.
3 Pour the whiskey, which you are checking, out of the glass.
4 Warm the glass again (rolling it between the hands).
5 Shake out the glass until you see it has become almost dry.
6 After 1 HOUR pick up glass, warm in hands, and note bouquet.
7 After 4 HRS. warm glass with hands, repeat check, and note bouquet.
8 After 12 HRS. again warm glass and repeat check.

NOTE— If the bouquet still lingers after this protracted period, you hold in your possession a whiskey which has passed the most severe check that any whiskey can undergo.

SCHENLEY'S BONDED BELMONT PASSES THE CHECK WITH FLYING COLORS!

As you may well imagine, it takes a truly great whiskey to pass a check as severe as this. To our knowledge, there is one whiskey on the market today that can meet it . . . Bonded Belmont. For Bonded Belmont is the real old-style Kentucky Bourbon of luxury unlimited...a Bourbon of body, bouquet and flavor deep as a diamond...a veritable gold mine of good taste!

FRANCO'S TROOPS DRIVEN BACK BY LOYALIST ATTACK

Battle on a 14 Mile Front in Catalonia.

HENDAYE, France. [At the Spanish frontier], Aug. 9.—(AP)—A government army began another unheralded offensive on the Catalan front in northeastern Spain today when troops crossed the Segre river between Lerida and Balaguer and advanced "deep" into rebel territory.

Dispatches said militiamen crossed the river by pontoon bridges, surprising rebel forces north of Lerida and south of the bridgehead which they held at Balaguer. The drive apparently was over a front of about 14 miles.

Rich Capital Is Objective.

The objective of the loyalists apparently was the rich provincial capital of Lerida. Dispatches from Barcelona said government forces captured many prisoners and seized vast quantities of war material of all sorts.

Insurgent military headquarters at Saragossa announced rebels had broken through loyalist lines on the Estramadura front in southwestern Spain and advanced seven and one-half miles along a twenty-five mile front. The advance, it was stated, was made southwest of Almaden, important mercury mine center about sixty-five miles north of Cordoba.

Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano's southern army launched the attack this morning after a rest from the recent offensive in which it conquered a large area on the Estremadura front. By evening the rebels had pushed beyond the Belmez-Almorchon railroad, which runs east and west about five miles south of Almaden.

Take 100 Prisoners.

The insurgents, it was stated, captured 100 prisoners, including one captain and one political commissar. The rebel troops rounded up thousands of head of cattle the government side was forced to abandon, and also gained possession of valuable grain crops just harvested and left in the fields.

IRISH WILL PASS THE HAT FOR THE DUGGANS SUNDAY

The County Cook Corrigans, the O'Reillys, the Kennedys, and all of the rest of Chicago's sons and daughters of Erin, will pass the hat Sunday for the Duggans.

The Duggans, Jeremiah, his wife, and their ten children, will be special guests of the city's Irish citizens at their annual celebration at Riverview park. A set of dishes will be auctioned off and the proceeds will go to saving the home of the Duggan family, which is threatened with eviction from the home at 2537 Hutchinson avenue.

Duggan, a WPA worker, has been unable to keep up payments on an HOLC loan on his home. Their case came before Judge Leon Edelman in Renters court on June 15. The judge gave them ninety days to find a new home. Five weeks are left of the stay of eviction.

HARBOR DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest over Herbert Peterson, 22 years old, 4641 North Racine avenue, who drowned Sunday night as he attempted to swim across Montrose harbor.

Her Shots Miss

Cecil Miller Burruss and his former sweetheart, Marie Fink.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Dorothy Fink (right), Marie's sister, who was pummelled by Burruss when he forced way into home, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Schultz.

Fortified by half a pint of pure alcohol, Cecil M. Burruss, 36 years old, stormed up to the home of his former sweetheart, Mrs. Marie Fink, at 1110 Oakdale avenue, last night. Mrs. Fink, 26, a divorcée, was entertaining friends at a birthday party.

Angered when she refused to go out with him, Burruss threatened to beat her, smashed the glass panel of the vestibule door, and charged inside. Terrified, Mrs. Fink snatched up a revolver, and fired two shots. Burruss, with blood streaming from a wound in his abdomen, staggered outside and collapsed.

Physicians at the Illinois Masonic hospital prepared to operate to save his life, but an X-ray revealed no bullets. Lieut. John O'Malley examined the Fink vestibule and found two bullets imbedded in the wall. Physicians then found that Burruss' wound was caused by broken glass. On his key ring he wore a rabbit's foot. Burruss is married and lives at 924 School street.

FORM CORN BELT LEAGUE UNIT FOR DE KALB COUNTY

De Kalb, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—De Kalb county farmers are organizing a local unit of the Corn Belt Liberty league, opposing the federal government's AAA crop restriction program. A meeting will be held to perfect an organization in Hopkins park here tomorrow night, according to Clifford W. Denton, secretary of a temporary league unit formed in this county recently.

S. Fred Cummings of Mazon and Tilden Burg of Sciota will be the chief speakers. Burg is president of the Corn Belt Liberty league, formed by a group of revolting farmers at McComb several months ago.

WEST SIDE PICKS 3 SINGERS FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

High School Boy, 16, Wins Top Baritone Honors.

Festival Tickets!

Reserved seats for the Chicagoland Music Festival are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Chicago Tribune public service bureaus at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

The best baritones, tenors, and contraltos on the west side were chosen last night at the Chicago Womens Club theater in a preliminary contest for the Chicagoland Music Festival. The festival will be held Aug. 20 in Soldiers' Field.

Tonight there will be a preliminary contest for west side bassos, sopranos, and mezzo-sopranos at the same theater. Admission is 25 cents, payable at the door.

Gudrun K. Thorson.

Earl Bichel, 16 years old, a senior at Roosevelt High school, thrilled the crowd which packed the theater by winning the baritone contest. Bichel, son of a milk wagon driver, lives at 4436 North Central Park avenue and comes of a musical family.

Sings in Lutheran Choir.

He sings in the Christ Lutheran church choir and plays bass viol in the school orchestra. Mrs. Catherine Bennett, his teacher, said he had studied for only eight months. So close was the contest, that four contestants had to sing twice for the judges.

Harry Swanson, 28, 5637 Bryon street, placed second. In four previous west side contests he had placed first, second, and third, the latter twice. Third place went to Albert Ralph, 32, of Forest Park, manager of a filling station.

Miss Gudrun Karen Thorson, 22 years old, daughter of a Lutheran minister, won first place among the contraltos. Miss Thorson also is a pianist. She lives at 4125 Newport avenue, and has sung in her father's choir since she was 12.

Mrs. Anna Elvove, 26, 1524 North Kedzie avenue, a blonde Russian, won second place. Last year she won the mezzo-soprano contest. Third place went to Miss Bernice Brown, 24, 4926 North Monticello avenue, an audit clerk.

Tavern Worker Tops Tenors.

The best tenor was Duilio Pucci, 24, of 1429 South 51st avenue, Cicero, who works in his father's tavern. David Rest, 27, 3916 Argyle street, won second place. He directs the glee club and orchestra of the University of Illinois medical school where he is a senior. The third place winner was Raymond Anderson, 24, of 5735 Berenice avenue.

Eight male choruses, with 308 voices, will compete in the festival choral contest. The West Suburban Glee club, directed by Carl O. Behnke, will represent Cook county. Those outside of the county, their directors, and sponsors, are:

Class A Entries.

Meistersingers Choral guild, Two Rivers, Wis., Thomas Leland Bailey, Two Rivers Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

Palason Male choir of Southampton, Mich., Wesley W. Carlson, St. Joseph, Mich., Twin City Y. M. C. A. and the Watervliet Paper, Kawneer and Industrial Rubber Goods companies.

Class B Entries.

Glee club of Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., Albert P. Stewart, Purdue university.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Men's Civic Glee club, J. Howard Orth, Fort Dodge Chamber of Commerce.

Kewanee, Ill., "Y" Men Singers, Elmer E. Rice, Mississippi Valley Music festival.

Galesburg, Ill., Men Singers, Mrs. Nell Townsend Hinchliff.

Naperville, Ill., Y. M. C. A. chorus, Mrs. Grace T. Fredenhagen, Naperville Y. M. C. A.

Among the baton twirlers entered in the festival competition are Helen Kiefel, 13, Peru, Ill., and Patsy Cunningham, 8, of Benton Harbor, Mich. They will take part in a mass demonstration at the festival program in Soldiers' field.

3 U. S. 'Flying Forts' Reach Canal Zone from Colombia

Boston Department Store Gives John Roosevelt Job

Boston, Mass., Aug. 9.—(AP)—John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, will go to work in the Filene Department store here soon after his return from a wedding trip with his bride, the former Anne Lindsay Clark, the store announced today. John and Anne will return to Boston next Monday from Bermuda and he will report for work late in August. A spokesman for the store said the President's son will receive the "same treatment as anyone else; he will start at the bottom and take whatever job is available at a modest salary."

SON MAY BATTLE BOTH WILLS OF HORLICK HEIRESS

His Opposition to 1934 Document Revealed.

particularly active in 1931 when she obtained a divorce from the late Dr. John S. Sidley. Dr. Sidley blamed Bull for his domestic trouble and sued him for $250,000. The suit was settled out of court in conjunction with a divorce settlement.

Mrs. Sidley repeatedly recognized the intimate relations between the Horlick and Bull families when she signed her 1934 will. The original document made small bequests to relatives, friends, and employés and then divided the residue into two parts. One part was left to William Horlick, her brother, and the other part to her son.

Codicil Changes Provisions.

On the same day a codicil was signed and affixed to the will, dividing the residue into four parts. William Sidley still was to receive half of the estate, but only one-fourth was left to William Horlick and the other fourth was left to Bull.

The codicil appointed Bull consultant and advisor for the trustees for life and provided that he should receive pay equal to the largest sum given to any trustee. In the event of his death, his son, Bartle, was to get the job. Neither could be removed without his consent. Trustees were instructed to seek and follow Bull's advice at all times.

Another provision that virtually placed young Sidley's share of the estate under Bull's control permitted trustees to pay him only what they regarded advisable until he was 35 years old. He is 25 years old now. At 35 he was to receive a third of his share and thereafter only what the trustees decided to let him have.

Young Sidley is joined in his opposition to both wills by his uncle, Alexander J. Horlick, to whom nothing was left in either will.

FLYING PRIEST RACES TO AID OF DYING COMRADE

BY FATHER PAUL SCHULTE.
[The Flying Priest.]

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

CHESTERFIELD INLET, Northwest Territories, Aug. 9.—In an airplane dash of more than 1,200 miles into the arctic on a rescue mission, I landed here this morning with my mechanic, Brother Beaudoin, only to find that Dr. Robert Melling, in charge of the hospital, was critically ill.

I had planned to pick up Dr. Melling and proceed to a lonely mission on the northern coast of Baffin Land, 500 miles north of the Arctic circle, where Father Cochard is reported near death. I am taking off at once in the hope of reaching Father Cochard in time to ferry him back here to the hospital.

Our mission is the result of a radiogram received yesterday by Bishop Clabaut at Churchill, on Hudson bay, which read: "Father Cochard since nine days very sick; temperature 105; pains on left side. Father refusing food. Please help." Father Cochard's station is 1,200 miles north of Churchill and 800 miles from here.

CRITICALLY HURT AS HE SAVES LIFE OF HIS DAUGHTER

Roy J. Anderson, 632 North Holman avenue, was critically injured Saturday when he saved the life of his daughter at Delavan Lake, Wis. Anderson and the child, Joan, 7 years old, were thrown into the water when their outboard motor boat overturned. The whirling propeller threatened the child. Anderson threw himself between the propeller and his daughter. His right leg was broken and he was otherwise seriously injured. He was taken to the hospital at Elkhorn, Wis. Anderson, 40 years old, is president of the Medical Supply company, 160 North Wells street.

Wisconsin Naval Flyer Dies in Pensacola Bay

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Pensacola naval air station announced today that Lieut. Maurice F. Fitzgerald of Oshkosh, Wis., was killed in a fall into the water while he was flying with an instructor in a seaplane over Pensacola bay. Lieut. Fitzgerald was graduated at Annapolis in 1935.

Rewarded

MRS. HELEN WOLFSON.

WOMAN EXPOSES WANT AD FRAUD; TRIBUNE PAYS HER

Foils Misuse of Pages; Gets $100 Reward.

Mrs. Helen Wolfson, 541 Wellington avenue, yesterday was paid a reward of $100 by THE TRIBUNE for furnishing information which led to the conviction of an advertiser for obtaining money fraudulently through a TRIBUNE want ad.

It was the eighth time in seven years that such a reward was paid. THE TRIBUNE maintains a standing offer of $100 for information leading to arrest and conviction of those who misuse its classified columns.

Over Four Million Printed.

During the period in which the eight rewards have been paid and misusers of want ads prosecuted successfully, THE TRIBUNE has published 4,383,630 want ads.

Mrs. Wolfson purchased a confectionery at 2722½ North Cicero avenue from a store fixtures dealer. He represented to her and to THE TRIBUNE when he placed his ad, that the store was a going business, being sold as a result of the death of the former owner.

Must Be Going Businesses.

THE TRIBUNE'S classified advertising department maintains a rule that no advertisments of businesses for sale are accepted unless the business has been in operation at least six months.

Mrs. Wolfson discovered after taking possession of the store that it had never been opened for business, and that the fountain fixtures had not even been connected for use. The dealer, on her complaint, was convicted before Municipal Judge Michael G. Kasper of obtaining money under false pretenses, and made restitution to Mrs. Wolfson.

Wins Custody of Twins After Ex-Wife Reweds

The custody of Marie and Vito Tito, twins, 10 years old, was awarded yesterday to their father, Anthony Tito, 830 Taylor street, in an order signed by Judge Joseph Sabath. The custody was transferred from their mother, Mrs. Lucille Tito Fosco, 1420 Spruce street, who has remarried since her divorce from Tito four years ago. She has another child by her second husband. Attorney Harry X. Cole, counsel for Tito, said Mrs. Fosco had agreed to turning over the children to her first husband.

COUNTY WILL DUN DELINQUENTS FOR PERSONAL TAXES

Use Methods of Private Bill Collectors.

County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer yesterday started his staf on a personal property tax collection drive based on the methods of commercial bill collecting agencies.

In the initial stages of the drive, taxpayers who owe between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 in 1937 personalty taxes will be called on the telephone. They will be reminded that penalties of 1 per cent a month are piling up on their unpaid bills, and invited to start liquidating them.

To those who do not respond to the initial invitation, more urgent requests will be made. They will be reminded of the legal powers invested in the treasurer in making collections. These include the right of seizing personal property in satisfaction of a tax bill.

Method Used by Father.

Treasurer Lindheimer's father, the late Jacob Lindheimer, adopted this drastic collection method two decades ago, when he was assistant county treasurer. After he and a force of deputy collectors, equipped with moving vans, had made a few seizures, general collections improved rapidly.

Another collection method which may be followed, Treasurer Lindheimer said, is the addition of unpaid 1937 personalty bills to the 1938 bills of taxpayers who also own real estate. The personalty tax then becomes a lien on the real estate.

The bills selected for the collection effort are some 4,000 which exceed $1,000 each. Some of them amount to $40,000 or more. The treasurer made it plain that the drive will not be confined to big taxpayers.

May Ask Help in Drive.

"We are feeling our way at present," he said. "If our methods are successful, we may invite the local taxing bodies, which will benefit by the tax collections, to contribute service of some of their employés to a collection drive."

As soon as the campaign against the large delinquents is under way, a survey will be made of all of the unpaid 1937 personalty bills to determine what district of the city has the highest delinquency rate. A second step, Lindheimer said, may be to undertake collection of all the unpaid bills, regardless of their size, in that district.

The treasurer's last collection statement showed $25,812,244 in 1937 personalty taxes, 44 per cent of the original extensions, still unpaid. Penalties on these unpaid bills already amount to more than $1,000,000.

Lou Walks Last 11 Miles of His 100,000 Mile Hike

Beaver Falls, Pa., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Lou Houston wound up his career as a last eleven miles of a 100,000 mile trip last eleven miles of a 100,000 trip started thirty-four years ago. Houston, appointed as substitute carrier in 1904, retired from the postal service. He figured he walked around the world four times—only he never set foot outside of the town's limits.

A SECOND POORER AND WISER GIRL TURNS UP TO JAIL FREED WOOER

Erwin Tiarks went from the frying pan to the customary place yesterday.

Lorraine Larson.

The grand jury decided he hadn't broken any law when he broke his promise to marry Miss Marie Fredensberg after borrowing $1,500 from her. And so he smiled when he stepped up before Justice of the Peace Thomas Barrett in Oak Park for his dismissal.

Up stepped Miss Lorraine Larson, too. "I lent him $2,500," she explained. "He promised to marry me. But he didn't. He took my radio, my hatbox, and my wristwatch, and that's the last I saw of him."

The police took Tiarks away to Felony court, where Judge Michael Kasper ordered him back to the lockup on a larceny warant. Miss Larson is 28 years old. She lives at 3041 Washington boulevard. Tiarks is 35. He gave his address as 2633 Foster avenue.

Miss Fredensberg is a maid in Oak Park. She had Tiarks arrested two weeks ago.

SEPARATION PLEA OF BARBARA AND COUNT GRANTED

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Exchange Telegraph says Acting Minister of Justice Buhl officially announced today that a petition for the separation of Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow and the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth 5 and 10 cent store heiress, had been granted.

The petition was granted on the basis of a private agreement between the parties announced in London July 29. Under Danish law when the parties agree to separate it is unnecessary that the matter come before any court, since the petition can be granted by the minister of justice.

The deed of separation can be changed into divorce after eighteen months if both agree to the step or after thirty months if either disagrees.

Countess Barbara arrived in Paris from London today for an indefinite stay. The count left the French capital for Italy two days ago. Lance, their 2 year old son, remained in London.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED.

Hillsdale, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Merlin Welborn of Moline, 33 years old, was killed this morning when his truck was struck by a Burlington freight train on the Main street crossing here.

SCHOOL BEGINS TODAY for 3,000,000 hat-pecked Wives!

Do movie stars have a "Size Complex"? Do you ?

Do you know what type of figure is man's ideal ?

How tall must a "perfect individualist" be ?

FIND OUT ALL THE ANSWERS IN THE JOURNAL SCHOOL OF FASHION!

EVERY MAN in America feels qualified to express himself upon one subject—the new hats! How are you handling your hat-husband problem? Does he turn from your best friend to your severest critic every time you fetch home the latest from Mme. Fifi? Or does he actually relax and admit "you've got something there" . . . ?

The answer, surprisingly, lies in the shape of your face. Learn to gauge your new hats to it, and even the wilder flights of the designer's fancy will call forth approving chuckles when your husband sees them on you! . . . Learn half a hundred other professional fashion tricks like this one—and even your best friends will admit that you're looking younger . . . slimmer . . . better dressed than they've ever seen you!

For you can! In a new kind of Fashion School that begins today for America's women in the September Ladies' Home Journal.

It's not a school for professional fashionists—but for you, in which you learn all their secrets. You attend with paper and pencil, like any scholar—but in a negligée, in your own dressing-room in front of your own full-length mirror! Lesson One you'll find on page 26 of the September Journal with an enrolment card to bring you 5 more lessons (10c each). With bonuses of real samples and swatches of the new fall fashions and fabrics for the first ten thousand eager scholars to enroll! So hurry—it's out today!

With 3 million buyers, many more million readers, more women are seeing and reading the Journal than ever before in its history. Over two-thirds of last year's increase in the Journal's circulation came from the women who bought their copies at local news-stands.

THE DEMOCRATS AND ANOTHER RED OCTOBER.

"Communists," said Gov. Murphy of Michigan, "deliberately created disorders in the Lansing labor holiday, the Consumers' Power company strike, and in some phases of the sitdowns. They not only sought disorders but they sought bloodshed. They wanted bloodshed and they sought to draw us into a fight."

The Stalinite communists are returning good for evil. They support Gov. Murphy's reëlection and they accuse Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers' union and Jay Lovestone, the anti-Stalin communist, of conspiring to use the C. I. O. to defeat the governor.

Michigan Democrats of the pre-Roosevelt revolution school may be dumfounded to discover that their party destinies and their candidates are all bound up in a factional Red feud now disrupting the C. I. O. organization, which is the bargaining agency for the greatest Michigan industry. They will have to readjust their political ideas to accommodate the fact that Stalinites on one side, and Lovestoneites on the other, are fighting for control, position, and spoils of office along the lines which have about wrecked the bolsheviki in Russia.

Even if the Democrats have to rub their eyes and pinch themselves to find out if they are awake, which they probably aren't, they will discover that the current paramount issue in their state is whether Lovestone and Trotzky shall run the C. I. O. and its political agencies or whether Stalinite Browder and his majority faction of the Reds shall dictate.

Why Homer Martin, a one-time evangelist who seems to bristle when communism is mentioned, has tied himself up with Jay Lovestone is not as clear as it might be. The Stalinites are producing documentary evidence that Lovestone is advising Martin in his efforts to get what he calls the wreckers out of the union. They include the four vice presidents whom Martin suspended and the secretary whom he fired. The Stalinites, in spite of what Gov. Murphy has said of the Reds, are supporting him while they seek to get rid of Martin and take the automobile union from their enemies, the Lovestoneites.

John Lewis himself is on the fence, and although he has tried to persuade the communist factions to have some regard for the integrity of the union and compose their feud, he has not yet made a choice between the two Red factions. He might make a peace by force and throw one out to give control to the other. The conditions may seem too fantastic for belief but the facts defy incredulity, and whatever the old style Democrats of Michigan may think about it, they are being treated as so many peasants and nonparty chattels in the fight which is going on for economic and political control in their state.

The communists in the Democratic party are almost ready for their October seizure of power. They are already in control of a number of the most powerful unions in Mr. Lewis' C. I. O., and although Lewis himself has lost nearly every election in which he has taken an open hand he still can dictate to the New Dealers. His control of the powerful federal labor board which can put these communistic unions in position to dictate to industry has aroused the alarm and violent protest of the American Federation of Labor, which is demanding that Mr. Roosevelt remove the two Smiths, Edwin S. and Donald, from the board because of "their perversion of the national labor relations law."

In speaking to the Massachusetts Federation of Labor President Green said: "We will mobilize all our political and economic strength in an uncompromising fight until this board is driven from power. We ask no favors. We don't want a pro-A. F. of L. board. We want it to be fair. The board is a travesty on justice. Its decision against craft unions we will never accept."

The labor board promoted the communist cause in the Democratic party management when it certified the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union as the exclusive bargaining agency for all longshoremen on the Pacific coast, thus giving to Harry Bridges, the Australian born communist and Lewis' west coast agent, control of the thirty-one Pacific ports and power to tie up all the shipping, as it has done in the past. There is some rebellion in the C. I. O. against the Red control of its political activities and a few of the affiliates, including David Dubinsky's Ladies Garment Workers on the west coast, have withdrawn from Bridges' industrial union council.

Even if the rank and file of the Democratic party does not realize where the control of the party is going, the American Federation of Labor does and it is trying to prevent communist seizure of industry in the United States. If it doesn't get some help the Red October may be this year.

FATHER DIVINE'S MORE ABUNDANT LIFE.

Whatever it takes, Father Divine seems to have it. He is the only one of the major or minor prophets who can spell it profits and pass them around. Typical of the profusion of his more abundant life was the feasting offered when two boatloads of the angels went up the Hudson for a preview of the Eden at the west shore Krum Elbow, the new kingdom of heaven across the Hudson from Mr. Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate, the east bank Crum Elbow.

When the angels stopped for lunch they were three hours eating their way through fried chicken, watermelon, and ice cream, and, even allowing time out for singing "Peace, It's Wonderful," that's life on the most abundant side. Father Divine has something. It isn't the United States treasury. He hasn't congress in his hat and he doesn't collect taxes. There is some simple secret missed by the New Deal, by the communists and the Nazis, by social credit, Dr. Townsend, and Upton Sinclair's epic.

Father Divine is not dealing in futurities. When he says fried chicken he means fried chicken. It's in the pan. His promised land is not far off across the desert. Here's the gate and here it is. This country is wasting a lot of time on persons who promise and don't deliver. Father Divine is calling: "Come and get 'em while they're hot."

AMBASSADOR WILSON IN PRAGUE.

Hugh Wilson, the American ambassador to Berlin, is respected as an able, level-headed American diplomat, not given to crusading when he should be an observant bystander. Therefore his arrival in the Czechoslovakian capital of Prague about the time that the British mediator, Viscount Runciman, former chairman of the board of trade, arrived with his staf to open headquarters, need not have the significance which foreign observers have attached to it, unless, indeed, Mr. Wilson is acting upon orders from Washington.

The British procedure of sending an investigating and mediating staf to take a part in so combustible a scene is strange enough in itself unless the British government knows that it will not infuriate the Germans. The British can plead that they have a well defined stake in the controversy because of their military alliance with France which, in turn, underwrites Czechoslovakian security. But the United States—what insanity could lead the American government into lending even a semblance of national participation in the solution, or more likely the aggravation, of a problem which, if badly handled or intemperately attacked, might do irreparable injury?

If the present American government had not so often stuck its wagging chin into hot controversies the people might think that the last thing in the world which could happen would be an American intervention in this European quarrel. It may be fairly certain that Mr. Wilson is not free lancing on his responsibility, but only subsequent events can reveal what the American state department, with or without instructions, is doing.

THE OLDEST EMPIRE.

Under the colonial act of 1935 the Portuguese government has been endeavoring, with some success, to bring the surviving components of the world's oldest modern empire into financial and economic order and out of bankruptcy and maladministration. The Portuguese still have a proud memory of their heroic age and patriots think that a colonial rehabilitation may be a great national incentive.

At the very beginning of the 15th century the Portuguese, under Henry the Navigator, opened their brightest page of history. Their coast faced the open sea and their shipbuilders produced a type of vessel strong enough for the voyages the adventurers, explorers, and traders must make. Ship architecture had been for the closed seas. The Portuguese faced the unknown ocean.

Because of their sturdy build these Portuguese ships could carry heavy caliber artillery impossible of placement on the coastwise trading vessels. When Vasco da Gama got around the Cape of Good Hope and Portuguese navigators began filling the Indian ocean, there were no Mohammedan traders with ships and armament which could withstand them. Consequently the Portuguese made their landings on the coast of India and harried the Mohammedan trader off the seas. They were followed by the English, the Dutch, and the French, but they had the first foothold, and their voyages also had carried them to Brazil.

The brevity of their heroic age is attributed to several factors, one of which was the depletion of the most courageous of a small nation in these great adventures to far-off lands, and in the wars with the powerful princes. Another was the intermarriage with people of other races and religions, and probably the greatest of all the expropriation and consolidation of the wealth in the hands of state and church. Portugal's wealth went out of the hands of the trader into the massive edifices in which the dominant classes housed their institutions. The inevitable mismanagement which attended the stagnation of the productive energies soon stopped the course of Portuguese achievement, but parts of the old empire remain and the present government is trying to get them back into solvency.

Editorial of the Day

HELP FOR THE OPPRESSED.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Just before adjourning last week the convention of the American Bar association took a highly important action.

Following extensive discussion of the situation in Jersey City under the Hague régime the body authorized President Hogan to appoint a permanent committee of nine "on defense of liberties vouchsafed by the federal bill of rights."

The intention is to make the aid of competent lawyers available for the "defense and protection" of anybody denied or threatened with the denial of his constitutional rights and unable to maintain them.

A half a dozen years ago nobody would have suggested seriously the creation of such a protective committee because personal liberty in America was not under attack. It was supposed to be secure.

Today there can be no two opinions about a gravely altered situation, or about the highly necessary nature of the service the American Bar association purposes giving citizens who find themselves incapable of self-protection against powerful autocratic or lawless forces.

The extent of the opportunity to fight for liberty in the United States that will lie before an active and willing committee is indicated by the statement from President Hogan:

"Violation of the bill of rights are intolerable, no matter whom they affect, and whether they be committed by the mayor of an American city, a committee of the United States senate, an administrative tribunal, a government department, or an official drunk with temporary power, contemptuous of constitutional limitations and reckless of the rights of others."

A bar association committee which undertakes to protect the helpless against these threats which President Hogan mentions [and against several he does not specifically mention] will be doing a big patriotic work. But it will have its job cut out for it. It will find itself busy.

A CANVAS IS HUNG.

Come gently, wind, in summer's sweeping train,
And paint the waves upon the budding grain.
Dip lightly with your brush, the cypress tree,
To catch the pattern of this greenish sea.

Swing high, swing low the swooping meadow lark,
And trace his song upon the rippling mark.
Above the field he flies with hungry speed,
Skimming its highest waves to steal a seed.

With golden dust the sun is shadowed o'er—
A halo some Byzantine Mary wore.
Come gently, wind, in summer's sweeping train,
And paint the waves upon the budding grain.

Miss Evelyn Bloomfield, who discovered the new listing for nightshirts, has a favorite Chicago mystery. It concerns the building at 1300 North Wells street, where an unusual door with a lookout of the type familiar during the speakeasy era bears the legend "Attic Shop." The "Attic Shop" apparently occupies the two top floors and a heavy rope and pulley hanging from the windows are visible from Goethe street. Your scribe will turn sleuth unless some of the scouts have the answer.

BIG CITY SIGHTS. Man on Division street car reading The Ugly Duckling out of an illustrated children's fairytale book.

—Little lads in the back yard of a tenement near the Lake street "L" patiently fitting together pieces of broken glass into a glittering mosaic.

—Five year old Henry Weber Jr., sitting directly in front of his conductor daddy at the Grant park concert, interestedly copying his movements as he conducted the orchestra.

—Three paddy wagons for sale in a used car lot on Ashland avenue. Why doesn't some prankster buy one for a station wagon?

—Moriz Rosenthal, 76 year old titan of the keyboards, arriving at Grant park for his concert in regulation formal attire—white tie and tails—but with a slouchy, crown-flattened felt hat a college boy might envy on his mane of red hair.

The confession of the self-appointed critic—"I may not be a musician, but I sure can tell when some one plays a wrong note."

A Day with the Pencil Pushers of Old Chicago.

To breakfast at Charlie King's restaurant on Wells street (then 5th avenue) between Madison and Washington, that restaurant built from the doughnuts sold in Newsboys' Alley. Joe Dunlap, editor of the Telegram; John Eastman of the Journal, Bill O'Malley (Journal sports editor), Eddie Smith of the Chronicle, and Joe Davis and Freddie Smith of THE TRIBUNE there for their morning meal.

After breakfast to the Harrison street police station, and a visit with the old police reporters—John Kelley, TRIBUNE; Larry Coffey, American, and Billy Phelon, Journal (afterward of Cincinnati Times-Star, later fight manager).

On the way to the chief's office to report drop into Mangler's on La Salle street, between Washington and Madison, for a chat with Hughie Fullerton, Bill Beth, and Tom Hoyne. Louie Weadock and Frank Finnegan drop in.

At the Press club for lunch with Opie Read, Will Lightfoot Visscher, Eugene Field, and Ed Rice. Read bets Visscher that he won't take a dare and play the Negro comedy part in "The Starbucks," which Read had just written and which was to be produced at the Dearborn theater (now the Garrick) and Visscher takes the bet and becomes an actor.

As we leave the Press club, on the way to Stillson's, run into Amy Leslie and her assistant, Margaret Mann (afterward the wife of Mayor Crolius of Joliet). Amy speaks of her approaching marriage to Frank Buck (Bring 'Em Back Alive).

So, into Stillson's where we encountered Hughie Keough, Bert Leston Taylor, Richard Henry Little (of Bloomington, Ill.), and Clare Briggs. John McCutcheon comes in with cartoons of his new "Bird Center." Walter Eckersall, football player who wanted to be a newspaper man, and was. Say hello to Peter Finley Dunne entering McGarry's saloon on Dearborn near Washington.

And so, with my partner, Dan Kipley, to report back to the department that we had a very busy day. Gosh, how those kids grow up—that three foot youngster hanging onto my hand is now four foot tall. When will Ralphie quit tagging around with us detectives?

Bert Cowdrey, age 74, still going strong.

Then there was the middle aged man who sidled up to the orchestra in a south side ballroom and presented a written request for "Mellow Collie Baby."

STRUGGLE.

Life is no peaceful abode:

But Nature muses in this vein:
To the victor belong the spoils,
To history belong the slain.

WHEN THE THYROID INJURES THE HEART.

THE thyroid gland, located in the lower front part of the neck, is indispensable to the economy of the body, but now and then it misbehaves grievously. When it becomes disease dor deranged the patient always faces a serious problem which must be solved if health is to be preserved.

The system needs the secretion supplied by the structure, but unfortunately it can be poisoned—thrown out of gear—by too much [overactivity of the gland], as well as by the formation of toxins which nature never intended should enter the circulation. Whatever substances the thyroid manufactures are absorbed directly into the blood via the capillaries because there are no ducts or canals to carry off its output, hence the victim may react rather quickly. However, since forces are present within all of us which endeavor to neutralize or counteract any and all noxious materials, it may be some little time before signs of trouble are apparent unless the dose is overwhelming.

The most disastrous effect of thyroid disease is upon the heart. A tumor may not appear; in fact, some glands which are buried beneath the upper portion of the breastbone [sternum] may be even more vicious than those which bulge forward.

At first the patient observes an increase in the rate or strength of the heart beat, with sometimes a disturbance of rhythm, although as a rule this is not important. Growing nervousness is obvious, which may be passed off as due to fatigue or overwork.

Let us suppose that symptoms have been ignored for months. There will develop not only a rapid heart, but stretching of the heart muscle and swelling of the extremities. The patient is restless, driving himself with this and that task, sleeping fitfully, snappy in his retorts rather than deliberate and thoughtful. Ultimately the tremor which may be felt throughout the body and the thumping in the chest oblige him to consult a physician.

What is wrong with the heart? Nothing except that it is laboring under a severe intoxication which in its way may be as deadly as cobra venom. No self-respecting pump can stand up against such an assault. If the condition is recognized and the goiter removed before permanent damage has been inflicted, all will be well.

The diagnosis today is simple and the metabolism test is usually accurate. If this reveals thyroid involvement, rest in bed is indicated and some sedative may be needed. Preliminary to surgical intervention comes the beneficent rôle of iodine, generally in the form of Lugol's solution, which brings temporary respite from all the distressing signs of illness. This may be continued only long enough to prepare the individual for removal of sufficient tissue to afford permanent relief, leaving a portion that will function normally.

We must guard against a natural human reaction. A week or two following the administration of iodine the afflicted one may feel so much better that he will say, "I am entirely well!" The prospective ordeal becomes less and less alluring, and he may be inclined to wish to postpone or abandon it. Then suddenly, despite faithful adherence to instructions, the drug seems to lose its power and bed rest ceases to be effective. In such cases the mounting flood pursues its way inexorably until checked by operation.

When confronted with some bad acting on the part of the heart we must always ask the question: Can the thyroid be at fault? The answer is no longer obscure, and medical aid should be sought before the ravages have passed the stage at which repair is possible. Women are more frequent sufferers than men, the proportion being practically two to one.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST.

M. C. C. writes: My nephew recently has sustained a fracture of the femur. He is being cared for by a competent surgeon. His mother, who is a food faddist, says that the diet he is getting at the hospital is not a good one for him, as he needs what she calls a "fracture diet," one that will help knit the bones. Is there such a diet and why wouldn't the doctor taking care of him prescribe it if he thought it necessary?

REPLY.

You may trust the physician in charge. The lad probably is receiving all the lime and phosphorus that he can possibly absorb.

ADDING WEIGHT.

H. M. D. writes: Is it possible for a person to put on 15 pounds in 6 months' time; 32 pounds in 9 months?

REPLY.

Possibly, although it may not be desirable. Gain or loss in weight should be slow, so that the circulation may adjust itself to the load. Adding calories to your diet and milk between meals will add weight.

EXERCISE IS HELPFUL.

O. L. writes: I am a girl 19 years of age. My weight is normal, but my legs are very heavy. What would you advise me to do in order to slim them down?

REPLY.

Exercise and massage are the only aids. Dancing, tennis, swimming, hiking, and gymnastic exercises are helpful.

STARTING A STATE SLUSH FUND.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—All of us working at the Chicago State hospital received the other night a pledge card for the Illinoisans, as the one inclosed.

We were told to fill them in and return them to our supervisors, and even if some one did not want to fill them out to return them, nevertheless, so no copy would find its way to the outside.

Three dollars was the sum asked. Can you tell me who the Illinoisans are?

Only last spring we had to give a fixed amount to the campaign expenses. Some of us pay 2 per cent of our wages regularly monthly to the organizations that got us the job. Also we get tickets about every month to sell, which means "turn in the money, sale or no sale."

For all our hard work we get $60 a month, with no month passing without paying something.

I do wish some one could tell us what to do to have a full pay check once in a while. S. A.

ELEPHANT SHOOTING.

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 5.—I note the killing in Africa of a gigantic elephant by a Chicago man. Can you concede this to be a deed of valor? A man, accompanied, probably, by a retinue of helpers to do all but fire the fatal shot for him, wantonly destroys the development of a century and a half! And why?

Just because the poor elephant, one of our most intelligent animals, happened to be of extraordinary size he must needs die, be stuffed, and fill another niche in some museum.

I wonder if the world isn't about as full of stuffed shirts as the museums are of stuffed animals. J. F.

BUT FORD LACKS THE WHISKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—What this country needs is one of the old style Republican Presidents with whiskers. One who would accept the nomination on a plank in which he agreed that his letter of acceptance could be considered as his resignation in event he violated any section of the platform on which he was elected. Why not draft Henry Ford for the job? He would agree to such a safeguard. However, Henry would not need safeguarding. Let's start a Ford for President association. Who seconds that motion? OLD TIMER.

FACE WORTH A MILLION.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Let's take our hats off to the photographer who took the picture of the baby under the shower at St. Vincent's, in yesterday's TRIBUNE. The expression on that child's face was worth a million dollars. Just made you forget all about Hitler and his love for the Jews; Japan and its love for China, and Roosevelt and how he would love to retire.

P. S.—If I could look like that under a shower that photog can take my picture any day in the week—hot or cold weather. MISS F. R.

WAITING JANITRESSES.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—What about us women who took the school janitress examination? The list has been posted since April of 1937 and to date there have been only sixty-six taken off of a list of 315. You can imagine how disgusted we are. The janitress examination includes the city hall, police stations, and the schools. Why hold these examinations if they do not intend to certify us after we have taken them? There are 100 vacancies in the schools alone.

MRS. V. M.

FOUND THREE GOOD EDITORIALS.

Platteville, Wis., Aug. 4.—I want to congratulate you on today's editorials. They are the best I have seen in a month of Sundays.

"I'll wager the writer of the editorial "For Housewives, If Any" was brought up on a farm. No one could have written it unless as a kid he had first served an apprenticeship on the long end of a horseneck ladle, stirring the hot bottom of a copper kettle in apple butter season. And as a man, too, he may know somewhat of improvident housewives, if any.

But the other two editorials are just as good. Take the one on "More Purge Failures." It is heartening to be reassured by recent elections that you can't fool all of the people all of the time, even when an idol speaks and when his pronouncements are backed by suavity, politics, and money. An uncorrupted ballot giving the people a chance to attend to their own business is the only purge that will work.

And then the idea that the savageries of war, such as in Spain, China, Corea, and before that in Ethiopia, when there is no war, is a result of pacifist thinking, is worth noting. I am convinced that those of us who long for Utopias must face the fact that it is not only idle but a wrong policy to foist upon ourselves noble experiments and vague theories of living and working together before there has been developed in the people a solid foundation of understanding and good will to support these without continually resorting to law to enforce them. Progress is made slowly; otherwise grim failure mocks our ingenious theories.

E. F. R.

WAS SENATOR LEWIS JOKING?

Chicago, Aug. 3.—In an interview Senator J. Hamilton Lewis said, regarding a third term for President Roosevelt: "Mr. Roosevelt could be nominated only if a party of extreme radicalism sprang up, threatening government ownership of all enterprises and repudiation of all government securities . . ."

Up to there, Ham, you were right. But when you finished the sentence, "and business men urged that the President be renominated to run against it," you unbuttoned a masterpiece of unconscious humor. Or was it? A. C. L.

SWEDISH FORESIGHT.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—When the latest Swedish owned ocean liner now being built is put in service it will have a swimming pool for the crew besides two pools for passengers. It is such foresight that keeps peace in Swedish industry.

E. C.

WHY NOT ELIMINATE THE LOOP "L."

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 6.—In the planned subway it is intended to retain the loop structure and run some of the north and south side elevated trains over it as well as the west side trains, for looping purposes.

If a subway is not built to take in the west side elevated trains now when will it be built? Would it not be logical to make the Jackson bore large enough to accommodate the west side elevated trains as well as the street cars, the same idea being carried out for the Lake street trains through the Washington street tunnel?

If all this were done the present elevated structure in the loop could be eliminated immediately. J. LAWRENCE.

CHINESE NEIGHBORS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I notice that the court's ruling has thwarted "Neighbors' Move to Oust Chinese." Queer combination of words, "neighbors and oust." I'll wager 1,000 to 1 that these Chinese people are more sanitary, more intelligent, and, last but not least, more honorable than some of their neighbors. They are and want to be good citizens, if you will let them. They are taxpayers and American citizens. I'll bet they won't be delinquent in their taxes. Their children will have to go to the same school with your children. Be sensible and tell your children to be nice to them—as you would want others to treat yours. E. B. C.

OUT OF STATE CASE WORKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Why is it that we must have social workers and case workers from other states to administer relief to our citizens? At this one particular relief station, 50th place and Vincennes avenue, I noted on case workers' cars the license numbers from other states: Iowa 15-3660, Indiana 826-750, Massachusetts 318-471, Washington AN-1170, Alabama 55-413.

Of all states, why would we have to draw one from Alabama? We of Chicago pay taxes for relief. Come on and let's employ our citizens for such purposes. H. B.

PUTS OUT A SLOGAN.

Cotter, Ia., Aug. 5.—I humbly beg to submit the following as a slogan for the Republican party for the approaching fall elections:

Forward for restitution,
Out with the "Brain Trust" champs,
Up with the Constitution,
And down with the "Rubber Stamps."

WILLIAM OWEN.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Two memorandums warned the Tennessee Valley authority as early as 1934 that the $5,000,000 marble claims of Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.] and his associates appeared to be an attempt to hold up a government agency.

This disclosure was made today before the congressional committee investigating TVA. It brought from Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.] a sharp rebuke. He charged the TVA with bad faith because it had not started an investigation at once, but had waited until 1937 to do so.

The memorandums, hitherto undisclosed, were read into the records by Evans Dunn, TVA assistant general solicitor in charge of the marble cases. They were written by Maj. Edwin C. Eckel, TVA chief geologist, to Carl Bock, TVA assistant chief engineer, and dated Nov. 30, 1934, and Feb. 27, 1935.

Need for Inquiry Told.

In the memorandums Eckel said a TVA lawyer had brought matters to his attention that waranted an investigation by Washington authorities. He said it appeared architects in Washington were specifying that marble from the Berry quarry should be used in building a federal warehouse and several postoffices. Eckel said the cost was twice as much as for Knoxville marble.

Under questioning by the committee Dunn testified that nine geologists and other marble experts reported the Berry deposits, submerged by the backwaters of Norris dam, were worthless.

Despite this, as charged by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, the TVA board made a conciliation agreement July 10, 1936, and reaffirmed Feb. 23, 1937, with Berry and his associates. Under this, Dr. John W. Finch, director of the United States bureau of mines, was to act as mediator, but his decisions were not to be binding, Dunn testified.

Cause of Board Explosion.

This conciliation agreement was the match which touched off the explosion on the TVA board last winter and led to President Roosevelt's dismissal of Dr. Morgan on March 22. Dunn read the minutes of July 10, 1936, in which Dr. Morgan protested against the conciliation agreement, made by his co-directors, Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal. Dr. Morgan charged that the agreement was invalid because the meeting at which it was made was called without his notice.

Later records read by Dunn showed that on March 16, 1937, James Lawrence Fly, TVA general counsel, recommended condemnation proceedings in the Berry case, and the board approved the following March 31.

This ended the conciliation procedure, which Dr. Morgan had protested throughout gave the air of value to an effort at a "bare faced steal."

Deposits Ruled Valueless.

Then, last winter, a three member federal court commission appointed to investigate the Berry claims ruled that the deposits were of no commercial value.

Dunn testified that two TVA men, W. N. Garrett and Charles R. Mynatt, began an investigation of the Berry marble leases in 1937.

"Why," demanded Representative Wolverton, "wasn't such an investigation started in 1935? Maj. Eckel has made his report in as plain English as could be written charging bad faith. Wasn't that sufficient to start investigating? Why delay until 1937?"

"I don't think I can answer," replied Dunn.

"I'm astounded at the delay," Wolverton continued. "Why wasn't investigation started until 1937?"

When Wolverton persisted in his demands John I. Snyder, chief of TVA land acquisition, a spectator at the hearing, interposed that he could give an answer. He was told he would have a chance to testify later.

Only Berry Experts Disagree.

Earlier in his testimony Dunn said that of all the geologists who investigated the marble claims none thought deposits of value except the experts for Berry and his associates.

"All the experts who investigated for TVA thought them of no commercial value?" asked Francis Biddle, committee counsel.

"That's correct," replied Dunn.

The committee's inquiry into the marble phase of TVA had been held up until after the Tennessee primaries last week in which Senator Berry was defeated for renomination.

SABATH CELEBRATES GOLDEN WEDDING DAY BY REUNITING COUPLE

Yesterday was Judge Joseph Sabath's fiftieth wedding anniversary. The veteran jurist, who has heard 45,000 divorce cases, celebrated the occasion by persuading a young couple to reconcile their differences. Mrs. Helen Madon, 26 years old, of Calumet City, was seeking temporary alimony pending hearing on a divorce suit filed by her husband, Frank, 28, of 12053 South La Salle street. He charged desertion.

Judge Sabath.

"She wants to go back to her husband," Attorney Frank C. Leviton, representing Mrs. Madon, told the court, "but he can't make up his mind."

Judge Sabath discovered that in-law trouble was at fault. On his suggestion, the Madons said they would find an apartment away from their families. They left the court arm in arm.

END STATE CASE AGAINST DEPUTY IN TWO KILLINGS

South Paris, Me., Aug. 9.—(AP)—After a barrage of testimony designed to support Paul N. Dwyer's accusation that not he but Francis M. Carroll killed Dr. James G. Littlefield, 67 years old, the prosecution today rested its case against the ousted deputy sherif.

Dwyer, 19 years old, one-time sweetheart of Carroll's comely daughter, Barbara, 18 years old, pleaded guilty to the murder last fall and went to prison for life.

From state's prison, Warden John H. Welch testified today, the youth sent out what he now contends is the true story of two crimes, charging Carroll slew not only the elderly doctor but the latter's wife, Lydia.

Dwyer last week testified he watched Carroll beat and strangle Dr. Littlefield in the Dwyer home last Oct. 13 and two days later saw him strangle Mrs. Littlefield.

Miss Helen Talbot testified today that she saw Carroll near the Dwyer home the night of the slaying.

Postoffice Safe Cracked and U. S. Will Pay for Job

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—A safecracker invaded the postoffice today at the request of Postmaster Homer J. Swope, who could not open the safe because the combination was jammed. A machinist, using an acetylene torch, cut a hole through the two steel plates of the door.

AGREE TO TALK COMPROMISE ON CAR LINES' VALUE

City Wants Big Cut for New Ordinance.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Chicago traction company officials agreed yesterday to negotiate with the city in working out compromise valuations of the transit properties. The new valuations would be incorporated in a unification ordinance.

The city is insisting on reductions in existing figures as the new values placed on the properties will be important in determining fares and the price at which the city could buy the properties in the future.

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, said representatives of each system—surface lines, elevated railways, and bus company—are ready to negotiate the valuations matter.

Hearing by Labor Day.

A subcommittee of Quinn's committee is meeting with company representatives three or four days a week in an effort to draft a new ordinance for public hearing by Labor day.

The proposed ordinance would provide for unified operation of the three systems, a big modernization program, compensation to the city, and regulation by a new Chicago transit commission.

Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines, was asked by Ald. George D. Kells [28th] at yesterday's meeting if the surface lines was standing by the 171 million dollar valuation set up under the terms of the expired 1907 ordinances.

Richardson said the surface lines owners were standing by this figure but added that he, as their authorized representative, was willing to negotiate a valuation on some other basis.

City officials contend that the 171 million dollar value is far in excess of the true worth of the properties. It should be reduced, they say, to allow for obsolescence and improper items.

City's Estimate of Worth.

City experts maintain that a 100 million dollar valuation would be nearer the real worth of the properties. An entirely new system, they assert, could be built for this amount or less. On the basis of present earnings of the system, they add, a 100 million dollar valuation is all that could be supported.

The book value of the elevated properties is around 100 million dollars. This figure, too, according to city officials, is due for a big cut.

Quinn said he would name a special committee to work out the valuations matter with the companies. The city and traction officials will continue their franchise work today.

ROOSEVELT ROAD VIADUCT WILL BE OPEN IN 3 WEEKS

Ready to Pave After Long Delays.

BY HAL FOUST.

Further delays in removing barricades from the Roosevelt road viaduct 12 miles west of the loop were foreseen yesterday. The arterial highway, carrying the U. S. 330 markers, has been blocked since last fall for construction of a viaduct over the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad. The railroad crosses Roosevelt road just east of the boundary between Westchester and Broadview.

The Illinois highway department yesterday estimated that the $300,000 structure, eliminating a dangerous railroad crossing, will be completed in about three weeks. The department's last previous estimate, on June 4, was that the viaduct would be opened in about six weeks, about July 14. After June 4, difficulties in obtaining rights of way for service drives arose, delaying paving work.

Start Work Tomorrow.

Tomorrow a crew is to start pouring concrete on the approaches and on the service drives for the improvement. This operation will take about a week, if weather is favorable. Ordinary concrete must cure for fourteen days after it is laid before it is hard enough for trafic to use it.

During these final stages new barricades are to be placed in Roosevelt road for another paving job a mile west of the present construction. The new job is the replacement of 440 feet of slab immediately east of Mannheim road. Bids on this work were received in Springfield a few days ago and the contract probably will be awarded soon.

Another Six Weeks.

State engineers estimated that this reconstruction of less than a half block of 40 foot slab will take about six weeks. It is not an ordinary paving job. The subsoil is unstable at that location. There have been bumps there most of the last decade. The new slab is to be supported by piling.

Such consecutive rather than concurrent construction of adjacent highway improvements has been protested in the past as an unnecessary inconvenience to trafic. Carl Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club, pointed out yesterday that this repaving might have been done while the viaduct was being built to save motorists from several weeks of detouring.

N. Y. SURGEON EXAMINES EYE OF BABY COLAN

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Helaine Judith Colan, Chicago baby afflicted with glioma of the retina, dread cancerous growth, was brought to the Wheeler Eye institute at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical center here today for examination.

The baby, four months old, gurgled and cooed, as a distinguished surgeon, Dr. Algernon B. Reese, examined her right eye. The baby's left eye was removed May 9 in an effort to stop the growth. Since then she has been given daily radium treatments to prevent the affliction from spreading to the other eye. Dr. Reese's examination was to determine whether the radium treatments are effective.

He will examine the baby three times before giving his verdict, he said tonight, and will make a report to the New York Academy of Medicine tomorrow. The child arrived by plane last night with her mother, Mrs. Herman Colan of 549 Brompton place, Chicago, and her grandmother, Mrs. Morris Herschman.

CHICAGO'S SHARE OF TRADE SCHOOL FUNDS $268,749

Chicago public schools received $268,749 in state and federal funds for vocational education during the school year ending last June, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson announced yesterday. Until two years ago Chicago received about $60,000 a year in such funds, he said. The money is paid to the board of education in proportion to population and vocational school facilities under the Smith-Hughes act of 1917. The expansion of vocational courses has increased Chicago's share. The federal grant covers 50 per cent of the salaries of certain vocational teachers and allows a small amount of other expenditures.

BIG JOHN SMOTER KILLED LITTLE JOHN, JURY FINDS

Big John Smoter, a steel worker, and Little John Smoter, a cobbler, whose bodies were found July 26 in the rear of Little John's shoe repair shop, 108 West 119th street, met their deaths through murder and suicide, according to a coroner's jury yesterday.

After hearing testimony by Lieut. Albert Jenne of the Kensington avenue police, the jury decided that the two friends, who lived together, had quarreled, and that Little John had shot and wounded Big John. Big John then shot and killed Little John and afterward killed himself. A revolver was found beside each body.

The two, who were not related, are known to have quarreled a short while before they were found dead, reportedly because Big John refused to pay a fair share of their living expenses. Both Big John, who was 55 years old, and Little John, 53, had wives in Poland.

150 GUARDSMEN PROSTRATED BY HEAT AT GRANT

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Actual casualties were reported by the Illinois National Guard today as heat and humidity won the first skirmish of their war games in the Kishwaukee river bottoms.

Col. A. E. Lord of Plano, staf surgeon general, estimated 150 of the 10,000 Guardsmen were prostrated by heat during their ten mile hike from camp to the Kishwaukee forest preserve, the jumping off point tomorrow of their attack against the 108th regiment of Negro infantry.

Fifty men were taken to the camp hospital to recuperate. The others were taken to their bivouac by truck.

World War Veteran Crawls Under Auto and Kills Self

Charles Birch, a world war veteran, 45 years old, killed himself yesterday on a weed grown drive a few miles northeast of West Chicago. The site was near the Convalescent Home for Crippled Children, and the estate of John D. Vandercook, at which Birch formerly had lived as a caretaker. Birch crawled under his automobile and died of carbon monoxide poisoning. Birch's address, according to his automobile license, is 828 North Marion avenue, Oak Park. He formerly was a patient in Hines hospital.

JOHN E. CORNELL DIES; FATHER ONE OF CITY BUILDERS

Developed Hyde Park, Grand Crossing Areas.

John Evans Cornell, Hyde Park real estate dealer and hotel man, died suddenly on Monday at Alexandria, Minn., where he and Mrs. Cornell were vacationing, it was learned yesterday. He was 76 years old.

Mr. Cornell was a member of a family credited with developing the Hyde Park and Grand Crossing districts. His father was Paul Cornell, who bought the land surrounding what is now 75th street and South Chicago avenue after the tragic railroad wreck there in 1853—a wreck in which many lives were lost because neither of the two railroads whose tracks crossed there would recognize the other's right of way.

Buys Land, Develops District.

The wreck brought an order for all trains to stop at the crossing. A community known as Grand Crossing started to grow on the land that the elder Mr. Cornell had bought upon learning of the order. He subdivided and developed the district.

Later the elder Mr. Cornell moved to the section now known as Hyde Park and again bought vast holdings. He provided transportation to downtown Chicago through an arrangement with the Illinois Central railroad, under which he paid the difference between the cost of operating one train a day to and from Hyde Park and the receipts from ticket sales.

Builds Hyde Park Hotel.

The district developed rapidly. The elder Mr. Cornell built the Hyde Park hotel, and when it burned built the present hotel of the same name.

John Cornell managed the Hyde Park hotel for twenty-eight years. He also developed the use of valve bags for cement, lime, and other products.

Mr. Cornell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katharine Spear Cornell, and a son and two daughters, John Evans Cornell Jr., Mrs. Lyle [Katharine] Harper, and Mrs. Kurt [Grace] Graff.

WILL OF D. F. KELLY FILED; LEAVES ALL PROPERTY TO WIDOW

The will of Dennis F. Kelly, retired State street merchant, who died in Norway on July 23, was filed yesterday with the Lake county probate clerk in Waukegan. It leaves all his property to his widow, Irene E. Kelly of Lake Forest.

Mr. Kelly left no bequests to charitable institutions, but explained in the will that he had contributed as much as he could during his lifetime, and that he had discussed with his wife his wishes in this regard to be carried out after his death.

Mrs. Kelly is named executrix of the estate. Its value has not been determined, except that it will exceed a million dollars. Should she refuse to serve, their daughter, Eileen Kelly Vogel, is named in her place. Should both decline, the Northern Trust company is named executor.

The will was a three-page document, made on Feb. 12, 1934.

SWITCH OF PWA FUNDS ASKED TO AID WEST SIDE

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] yesterday asked the board of local improvements for detailed estimates of the cost of west side street improvements which could be made as a substitute for a proposed east extension of Wacker drive from Michigan avenue to Field boulevard. The Public Works administration has offered a grant of $1,252,630 for the Wacker drive improvement.

Total cost of this project is estimated at nearly 3 million dollars, the city's share to be taken out of the motor fuel tax fund. Last Wednesday officials of the PWA reminded the city council that final plans had not been submitted and warned that the offer of the grant probably would be rescinded if work is not started by Aug. 29.

West side aldermen and representatives of civic organizations object to further work on the lake shore without provision being made to aid west side trafic. Ald. Bowler has suggested that the PWA money be applied on another project which would enable through trafic from the west side to reach the outer drive more easily.

WIELAND WILL FILED; ESTATE WORTH $100,000

The will of George C. Wieland, disposing of an estate valued at more than $100,000, was filed yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court and was approved by Judge John F. O'Connell. Mr. Wieland, retired president of the old Wieland dairy company, died July 29 at the age of 63.

The estate is left in trust to provide an income of $8,500 a year for the widow, Amanda, of 3240 Lake Shore drive. Jacob Wieland, a brother, will receive $1,200 a year. On the widow's death $5,000 will go to Mrs. Emma Buchwald, who saved Mrs. Wieland from drowning in 1924. Another $5,000 is bequeathed to the Uhlich Orphans' home, 3730 North California avenue. The remainder of the principal will go to Mr. Wieland's daughter, Margaret.

The will of Robert H. McElroy, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was also admitted to probate yesterday. The estate, estimated at $75,000, is left to the widow, Florence, of 704 Sheridan road, Wilmette. Mr. McElroy died June 25. He was 61 years old.

BABY SON SAVED AS PARENTS DIE IN BLAZING HOME

Harriman, N. Y., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—William T. Adee and his wife, the former Sally Comly, prominent in society, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their country home in Harriman Heights early today. He was 35 and she was 24 years old.

Their infant son, George T. Adee, namesake of Mr. Adee's paternal grandfather, was saved. The child owes its life to a nursemaid, 19 years old, employed less than twenty-four hours before, and to the heroism of a volunteer fireman with a broken right arm.

With flames eating through the walls of the nursery on the second floor, the nurse, Lillian Henion of Sloatsburg, N. Y., appeared at a window with the child in her arms.

The fireman, Anthony Less, handyman on the nearby estate of Julian Brenner, shouted to her to jump. When she obeyed, the child still in her arms, Hess broke their fall with his body. All were stunned.

EX-KAISER "FIT"; STROLLS DAILY ON ESTATE AT DOORN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Aug. 9.—Persons who have seen former Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany recently commented today on what they termed his "fit" appearance in his old age.

Twenty-four years after Germany's entry into the world war the former monarch lives, apparently contented, in his retreat in Doorn, the Netherlands, strolling daily about his estate and thinking much about his several grandchildren.

A report from Berlin in June, however, asserted that his aids and relatives are seeking an exile for him and his household in southern Switzerland. They fear that because of his age he will suffer much in the future from the cold and moisture of The Netherlands winters. Wilhelm was 79 years old on Jan. 27.

Ballet Troupe Will Return to Its Old Name

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Russian ballet at Covent Garden in London this summer had no name, but when it comes to Chicago next winter it will be known by its old cognomen, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, so the management of the Auditorium theater says. And that management should know, for, as usual, the Chicago performances will be given in that big old theater so popular with local audiences.

The organization really is the new World-Art, Inc., headed by Leonide Massine and sponsored by a group of American balletomanes, including three Chicagoans, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Harold F. McCormick, and Robert Allerton. Perhaps more, for several other lovers of the ballet in this city are said to have joined the sponsoring group, which is headed by Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati.

The original Ballet Russe, headed by Col. De Basil, split up into two organizations last spring; later they merged, but the last word from London was that there had been another split and that De Basil and his adherents call themselves Educational Ballets while Massine and his cohorts belong to the World-Art, Inc. The rival groups both danced in London, but it is authoritatively reported here that both will not come to this country. If De Basil tours, he and his dancers will go to Australia and leave the United States to Massine.

First Perormance to Benefit Passavant.

The opening performance this season in Chicago, on Monday night, Dec. 19, is to be a benefit for the Passavant Memorial hospital; the second performance will be one of the Northwestern music series, and the ones on Jan. 3 and 4 will be for the benefit of the National Council of Jewish Women. Last year the council sponsored the first three nights and the women of the committee had hoped to do the same this year. but the Passavant Woman's Aid society secured the première.

This is not the first time the woman's board of the Passavant hospital has presented the Russian ballet to Chicago as its annual method of raising money for the board's charitable work. In January, 1934, the society sponsored the first performance in this city of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe. That was before the troupe of dancers had come, seen, and conquered Chicago, but the proceeds amounted to $7,500.

The disappointment of the National Council of Jewish Women, of which Mrs. Benjamin I. Morris is president, at not securing the opening night this season is lessened by the knowledge that interest in the ballet increases during each engagement and that the S. R. O. sign is needed the last few nights each year. This year's engagement closes on Jan. 5.

Mrs. Fred Bernstein, who was chairman of the committee that arranged the council's successful benefit last winter, is to head this year's committee on arrangements, too.

Mrs. Walter Kirk Heads Passavant Committee.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, capable president of the Passavant women, will head the committee that will plan their benefit, but it is too early to know who her chief assistants will be.

A writer in the English magazine, the Sphere, wrote about the recent Ballet Russe engagement in London, "So far no new ballets have been produced, and with the decor and costumes of the old favorites we are overfamiliar. That is where the ballet audiences have come to the rescue by providing the necessary color and diversion. In stalls and boxes I have noticed, in addition to the normal

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Genteel methods of dealing with and overthrowing dictators who get out of hand are demonstrated in this film. The scene is Paris in 1794 and the suave Goliath is Sir Percy Blakeney, otherwise known as the Scarlet Pimpernel.

Robespierre is running a first-class slaughter house and the only enemy heads to escape his guillotine are those of persons spirited away by the liberty-loving Briton and a group of his compatriots. The Pimpernel has temporarily retired from the rescue business and returned to England, where at the request of his wife he promises to remain for at least one year.

However, a wily lady, Theresia Cabarrus, in an effort to save her own neck, manages to have Lady Blakeney kidnaped and brought to France, thus luring the elusive Pimpernel back into a trap set for him by the minions of the bloodthirsty Citizen Robespierre. Apparently a lisping, poetic fop, he risks and nearly loses both his wife and his life, but eventually achieves a blithe victory over all obstacles.

The film runs smoothly, but a bit heavily, and is not especially exciting, in spite of numerous shots of the falling guillotine and knitting hags counting bouncing heads instead of stitches.

Settings are adequate and the entire cast competent, if not especially inspiring.

Mr. Barnes gives a good interpretation of the Pimpernel with delicate dandy mannerisms and rather obvious if numerous disguises, but, taken all in all, I found the film a little on the dullish side.

New Red Shade Is a Sensation in Fall Clothes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There is a new shade that should be a spectacular success this fall, especially for all who like red. It is a deep, glowing wine red, with a dusky burgundy flavor. Because it is one of the best flatterers for gray haired shoppers doesn't mean it can't perform the same telling flattery for blondes as well as brunettes; this makes it a universal color, becoming to all.

The wine red tone is a grand basic foundation color for the fall and winter wardrobe this season, because the same tone can be found in stunning bags, fascinating new hats, gloves, footwear and costume accessories. Silk and satin blouses, all kinds of beautiful suede or kidskin bags and gloves, there isn't anything you need to complete a wine red ensemble that you can't match in record time . . . this is fashion news of great importance, something the average shopper has dreamed about for years.

The first slim wool suits are as young as tomorrow's gossip. Most of them are made with discreetly flared skirts, all the flare being around the lower hemline. The jackets hug the ribs and end briefly just below the normal beltline. Long jackets are also plentiful. And so are the circumspectly straight line skirts. Bands of fur trim go along pocket flaps, wind up around the edge of the jacket, and make narrow cuffs for the long straight sleeves.

New coats are just as young looking, with all the snap imaginable. . . . The newest models are fur trimmed, but not in the lavish manner. Bands on coats vary in width from an inch to three inches for trim, cuffs, tuxedo front facings, and full sleeves of alternating bands of fabric and fur.

Paris Stylists Launch Brocaded Fabrics for Evening Wear

PARIS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Louis XIV. extravagance dominated displays today of Parisian designers' winter collections.

There was gold in brilliantly brocaded satins and moires. Velvets were stiff with gold. Lace dripped with gold spangles. Crêpe evening dresses were heavy with gold designs.

Evening frocks with billowing skirts, crinolined laces and tulles in bouffant silhouettes and sleeves with small romantic puffs or muttonleg shape recalled the opulence of the grand French monarch [1643-1715].

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Notes:

We surveyed the cleansing pad situation not long ago and we find that here, as in all things, it has been a matter of the survival of the fittest. There have been cleansing pads galore offered to the public since the first of the year. They came in such a stream to our desk that we just got kind of bored with the whole business. We have learned that those which have been selling consistently are those that proved to be nondrying and that have been reasonably priced.

There is no doubt that these are grand things to have around in summer, when you have to put on the clean-up act so much oftener. But be sure when you buy that the pads you choose are saturated with an oily solution that oils as it cleanses.

Our study of what sells and what doesn't revealed also that more and more women are enamored of the cleansing tissues in the large size. If you've never used the oversize tissues you've missed something. One tissue is sufficient for face and neck—more than sufficient, as a matter of fact. And if you're one who uses tissues instead of handkerchiefs when the pollen blows and the hay fever is upon you, you'll probably find the oversize tissues far more satisfactory than the little hankie sizes.

And speaking of hay fever, now is the time, if you're a victim, to weed out the beauty aids that might be contributing to your discomfort and to switch to things that have been made as nearly "nonallergic" as possible. Orris root in face powder is a common offender. Did you know there are powders that don't contain it and that are also made without perfume for super-sensitive people? Several shops have them.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 9.—Jack Benny, his lips blistered from the sun that beamed down on his Waukegan countenance in an open car tour of the Pacific northwest, is back in Hollywood. Benny is the composite of what the Yacht club boys have dubbed the great American tourist.

Jack Benny.

He loves to travel by car, and his bus is covered with "Guest of Canada," "Come again," "We have enrolled," and "Guest of Yellowstone park" stickers.

Others may collect rare perfumes, or stamps, or bits of jade, but Benny is a connoisseur of road maps. You can't mention a town in the country he doesn't know, either from motoring through it, or having played it in vaudeville.

"Salinas should fix that curve outside of the town," he tells you in all seriousness, or "Those new traffic lights in Spokane are marvelous." His conversation is peppered with mileage statistics, the number of quarts of oil his car drank in 3,000 miles, the best way to get from here to there, the manner in which his tires behaved in wet weather.

In other words, Benny, the motorist, would nicely drive you nuts. If he tells me once again about the bears in Yellowstone park and how they act at feeding time, his sponsors better had find a substitute radio program, because I'll mow him down.

At Seattle [the town where Mary Livingston lived] Jack spent two weeks in jail. Not that he was incarcerated in the Seattle bastille, mind you. He spent two weeks there visiting the police department officials and learning, at first hand, that crime doesn't pay.

"When we went into Chief of Detectives Ernest Yoris' office," says Benny, "he asked me to sit in his swivel chair, behind his desk. Under the glass covering on the desk was one of your 'Listen, Kids,' columns; you know the one you did about Broderick and Dempsey and Jack [Legs] Diamond and Vincent Coll. I told Yoris that you were a great pal of mine, and he told me that all youngsters who are brought in by the Seattle police are taken to his office, where Yoris reads your column to them and tells them to get wise to themselves before it's too late."

While naturally I'm flattered to hear about this, it seems to me that there should be a limit to corporal punishment. To read aloud this reporter's columns to helpless prisoners hardly seems to be cricket. It is taking unfair advantage of people.

Veteran H. B. Warner takes pen in hand to speak a word in defense of the summer heat in Chicago. "In your discussion of the hottest towns in America you excuse Chicago on the ground that the lake cools it off, and I resent this. You mention Washington, D. C.; St. Louis, Kansas City, and New York. Man alive! I'll not tolerate Chicago being classed in the second division. In 1915 I had to play there, 'Among Those Present,' I think it was. The month was June, the thermometer printed 107 degrees at 10:30 p. m., and we were staggering through a four act melodrama. At midnight I was in the lake—and cut! The water was hot, not warm—but HOT!! What air there was to breathe was painful to the lungs. I spent the remainder of that night, and three more, in my bath tub.

"Chicago in the second division of municipal heat? Shades of hades, that is very unfair, very unfair, old man. Hence this protest, Mr. S——.

"H. B. WARNER."

Ella Logan, like the Ritz Brothers, is one of this column's acts, and she came out here about the same time. The Scotch miss was badly handled from the start of her picture career; had parts in bad films.

Sunday night Adolphe Menjou, George Raft, the Marx Brothers, Rufus Le Maire, Fannie Brice, and other Hollywood biggies stared in astonishment as half pint Miss Logan tore down the roof at Victor Hugo's. She did five songs, swing and ballad, and stopped the big show cold. If Zanuck would only take a youngster like this, pick her spots, she'd be the new song sensation of flickers, because she has a great talent.

Bravo to little Dixie Dunbar, another Broadway youngster who was not treated too well in pictures. Miss Dunbar, who hails from a little town outside Atlanta, Ga., proved resourceful. She teamed up with youthful Tommy Wonders as a dance team, and now is on the high road to a new success.

Note from George Raft: "Hey, Ed, you've got me nicely jammed up. The other night, at Slapsie-Maxie's, Jessica Pepper sat with Mack Grey and me because Maxie Rosenbloom, her honey, was staking his floor show. Please straighten this out, because my heart is still in the same place."

Dick Merrill and Toby Wing attended the "Four Daughters" preview with your coast correspondent. Both deny his flight here was on the marriage beam. It was a routine flight for him, Merrill piloting a Douglas to the local shops for reconditioning.

Last Warning! Letters to Sally Due Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

If the mail box doesn't get your letter today the waste basket surely will, boys and girls! And that's no riddle, either! In other words, if you don't mail your letter today it can't possibly reach me by tomorrow. And if it comes in after Thursday's morning mail arrives out it goes!

July 18 is the day on which 100 boys and girls will come with me to see "Letter of Introduction" at the Palace theater. It's a brand new picture, featuring several stars, including Charlie McCarthy. He's into every one's business, and just wait until you see him getting wrapped up in newspaper to go visiting! He doesn't like it one bit and says so.

The stage show includes a comedian, Al Trahan, some dancers, some singers, and a harmonica ensemble which you may have seen in the movie, "Mad About Music."

If you think you'd like to come to this party you still have time to write and let me know about it. Just tell me why you think you'd have a good time if I invited you, and be sure to include your full name, address, and age.

Be sure to write your letter yourself. The winners will be announced in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

The address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

(Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Jobless, Anne Claxton leaves New York to make a living on the ranch she has inherited in Wyoming. She refuses the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Getting off the train Anne accidentally meets Steve Hayward, a neighbor ranch owner, who invites her to lunch so that he can explain to her the situation at her ranch.

INSTALMENT III.

FIGHTING SPIRIT.

Steve glanced at the wardrobe trunk that loomed up at the end of the platform. "May as well leave that there. It'll be safe as a prairie dog in his hole. And I've got a hunch you may decide not to——" he broke off abruptly and took his place beside Anne. "All set?" He smiled down at her with frank pleasure and admiration in his eyes.

"Decide not to what?" Anne asked.

"Tell you later," he shouted, his eyes fixed on the road. His hands gripped the wheel so that his knuckles showed white against the tan as the car gave a sudden lurch. "I haven't had much experience with these broncos; haven't been able to afford one of my own! I don't often straddle one, as a matter of fact!"

Anne clutched her hat with one hand and the side of the car with the other, resolving to refrain from anything that might distract his attention from driving.

She gave a relieved sigh and smiled up at him as he came to a stop in front of a two story wooden building. The deceptive inscription, "Grand Palace Hotel" was painted on a weather beaten signboard over the porch.

"What were you planning to do with your aunt if she had been on that train?" Anne demanded as she tried to straighten out the havoc wrought on her hair and hat.

He chuckled with an answering flash of humor at the inference.

"She was going to have her buckboard there to meet her, but evidently she's changed all her plans and just forgot to let me know. For once in her life she played an A-1 hand," he added appreciatively, watching Anne struggle with her rebellious locks. "Say, what color do you call your hair, anyway?" There was no resenting his frank and ingenuous admiration. "It's too light for red and too gold for blonde."

"I hate to say this, Anne, but you're up against a tough proposition."

"Just call it hair then," Anne laughed.

With a grin, Steve pulled himself up from his absorbed contemplation of her. He stepped around the car in a few swinging strides and opened the door for her to get out.

Anne glanced around the severely plain dining room of the "Grand Palace Hotel" with an excited sense of anticipation.

Steve had excused himself to return the "borrowed" car and retrieve his horse that he had left as hostage. As Anne waited for him she gave herself to review of the strange reception that had initiated her into her new environment.

"Everything's O. K.!" Steve pulled out the chair across the table and seated himself opposite her. "The guy never missed his old car. Next time I'll borrow a better one!"

"I wonder what kind of a car my uncle had on the ranch?" Anne speculated. "Isn't it funny not to know one single thing about your new home? Tell me about it!"

He studied Anne a moment before answering. Again she noticed how startlingly blue his eyes were under his dark brows.

"I don't believe he had any car," he answered, slowly, at last. "He had an old buckboard that he used to come to town in, but he stuck pretty close to the ranch these last few years. Didn't Bill Jennings tell you anything about it?"

"He didn't really have time," Anne explained. "In that first letter he said the place was heavily mortgaged, and advised me to take the offer he had to buy me out. It happened to come just at a time when—when I was ready for a change," Anne dropped her eyes, furious with herself for the red that would creep into her cheeks, "so I decided to come out myself and see how things stood."

Steve nodded. He called to a waitress who appeared at the swinging door that led to the kitchen. "Bring us the best you've got, and plenty of it!" That disposed of, he turned back to Anne.

She gave him an irresistible laugh, as the contrast between Steve's method of ordering and Gerald's suddenly struck her.

"What's so funny?" he grinned back at her with that broad friendly smile that she was finding more and more attractive.

"Nothing," she evaded, "just something I was remembering." She came back to her former question. "Tell me about my ranch, Mr. Hayward."

"Look here! Nobody calls me that!" Steve's voice took on a comical, dismayed drawl. "I'm Steve to everybody in these parts."

"All right—Steve," Anne smiled up at him, "then, as long as we're neighbors, it must be 'Anne,' too."

He flushed under his tan. "I hope it will be 'Anne' whether we're neighbors or not," he observed.

"But I thought you said we were neighbors?" Anne raised puzzled eyes to him.

"We would be if you came to live at the X Bar Nine," he answered, "but I hope you're not going to come."

Before Anne could reply Steve plunged ahead as though resolving to get over with a disagreeable situation as soon as he could.

"I hate to say this to you, Anne, but you're up against a tough proposition. I wouldn't be playing fair with you not to give you the whole picture. There's dynamite in this legacy! If Bill Jennings told you to accept Jake Collins' offer and keep away from here, it's the only square piece of advice you're likely to get from him. The reason he gave you the straight dope on that is because it happened to play into Jake Collins' hands. Collins has Bill Jennings bought up, lock, stock, and barrel. And Jake Collins is hell bent to own the X Bar Nine."

"Why?" Anne's yellow brown eyes were dark and troubled.

"Because it will make him have one of the largest ranches in the state, and also because it's a lifelong obsession of his. He tried by every means, fair and foul, to get it away from your uncle, but Old Man Claxton was as set as he was."

"Then the last thing my uncle would want would be to have him get it?" Anne asked.

"That's right," Steve admitted, "but it can't be helped. No girl can buck Jake Collins. Much as I hate to say it, the best thing you can do is to make as good a dicker with Jake as you can and go back east again."

Anne felt as though her whole castle of dreams was crumbling about her ears. A glint of the fighting spirit that had been her uncle's came into her eyes as she weighed this disturbing news in her mind.

It was all very well to say "go back," but what was she to go back to? She had burned her bridges behind her. Why should this Jake Collins have everything his own way?

"You haven't told me anything about the ranch itself." She abruptly turned to another angle of the subject. "Is it very much run down?"

Steve nodded. "Your uncle was what you might call land poor. He was hipped on the subject of land, and would never sell off any. It's mortgaged to the hilt, and I imagine mighty near to foreclosure. That's why I say take what you can get while the going's good; otherwise you may lose the whole thing."

"How about the cattle?"

"In mighty poor shape," Steve went on with his merciless drawing of the discouraging picture. "Old Man Claxton let most of the outfit go, by degrees. The arroyos of the north range are full of strays that haven't been rounded up in months. The rest of them are mighty lean after the hard winter we've had. They'll bring precious little in the market right now. Gosh, I hate to tell you all this, Anne!"

"I'm glad you've given it to me straight." She paused. Her eyes darkened as she weighed the disheartening facts. After a long moment they kindled with a light of resolution. When she spoke again her decision was taken.

"But I can't take your advice," she went on. "Perhaps no girl can buck Jake Collins, but I'm going to try." She looked squarely into his eyes. "I hope you'll help me learn the ropes, now that we really are going to be neighbors! What's more," Anne went on, "I'm going out to my ranch tonight. As long as Bill Jennings wasn't here to meet me, he can come out there to see me. I'm not going to wait here at the hotel for him."

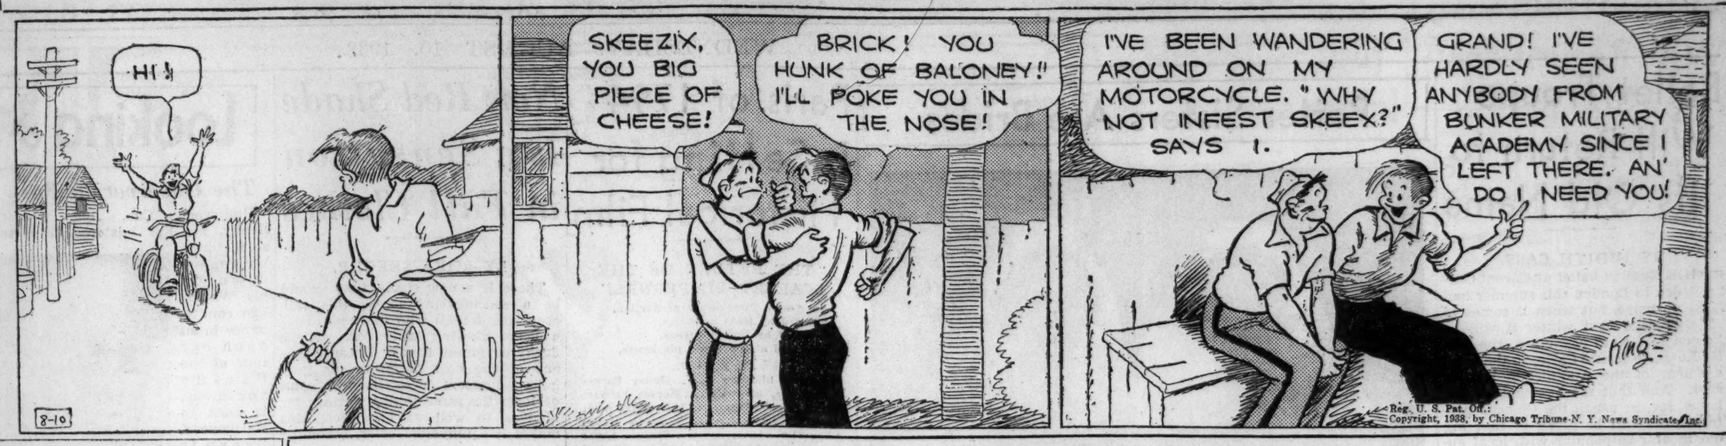
GASOLINE ALLEY—PLEASED TO MEET YA



WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Just a Proverbial Tout

Here Is Love Usually Found Only in Books

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Here's a very lovely success story for you. The ending is so happy the girl who writes it hesitates to accept her happiness. There is no problem to be solved. But from this story troubled lovers and unhappy married couples may find an answer to their problems, a recipe for happiness in love.

"Dear Miss Blake:

"Six years ago I was happy and in love. We were to wait a year and then be married. Then one week-end . . . a terrible auto accident . . . weeks in the hospital . . . and I walked out of there on one leg.

"One night the boy told me in a frank manner that he couldn't go through with our marriage. He put it all pretty cruelly and my heart was broken. He was right. I was only 'half a woman.'

"About a year ago I met another boy. He had so much in common with me, books, movies, etc. He became very angry with a girl who said in my presence that he shouldn't bother to take a cripple to a dance. We went to that dance and he showed me a most wonderful time. He taught me to waltz, even though I wear an artificial leg. I could fill pages with the ways in which he taught me to regain my self-confidence.

"Last week he asked me to marry him. I love him so much I couldn't bear to think I would be taking advantage of so fine a man by marrying him. I have told him and explained why. He simply says that I am not hindered by my misfortune, and that even if I were that would be all the more reason why I should need him. I don't want to hurt him. If I marry him I may do him harm. What shall I do? DOUBTFUL."

Congratulations to you both! Each of you thinks only of the other's good. With such a spirit you need have no fears. Forget the past. Your concern for the happiness of the man you love is fine, but keep it for other things.

Fussy Father Wants House Neat as Pins

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Usually it's the women who make life miserable by being such perfect housekeepers that home is a cold, uninhabitable place. Usually it's the mothers—if it's done by any one at all—who scold and nag about muddy tracks on the rug, finger marks on the woodwork, and torn and soiled clothes.

But sometimes it's a father who's the martinet on cleanliness. Sometimes it's the father who is the run-his-finger-over-the-woodwork kind, see-all-this-dust kind of a man.

The husband who wants a house that is in order and also immaculate at all times of day and who wants to see his children always spotless is not so rare as you might think. If he could just get into a different frame of mind about this whole business of running a house and taking care of the children things would be happier all around. If he could only be forced to be home every day for a month—right in the thick of things—he'd change his attitude, I'm sure.

"Tips for Tired Mothers" is a leaflet sent on request. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Servite Fathers Dedicate New Seminary on Sunday

Thousands of Chicago Catholics are expected to spend Sunday at Villa Camarzia near St. Charles. The Servite Fathers will dedicate St. Joseph seminary there on that date. There will be civic and social programs in addition to the religious ceremonies. The new seminary is intended to encourage boys of Italian extraction to join in the missionary work of the Servite order. There will be a solemn pontifical high mass at noon with Bishop E. F. Hoban of Rockford officiating. The site is four miles north of St. Charles on Route 25.

Veterans Present Flag to Cook County Grand Jury

The Cook County Council of Veterans of Foreign Wars presented an American flag to the grand jury yesterday. The veteran organization at the same time presented Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court with a plaque praising his public service. The presentations were made at the Criminal courts building by Nelson R. Knudsen, commander, and William S. Dolan, junior vice commander.

Add Laughter to Stock of Beauty Rules

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Eat well, sleep well and laugh.

A certain religious order refuses to accept applicants into its fold unless they live up to these requirements. Eating well, sleeping well and laughter also are the basis of health, beauty, charm—yes, and happiness.

By eating well we mean the zest for food that insures good digestion. It also implies a correct diet, fruit, vegetables, cereals and meat in proportion to the body's needs. Stuffing sweets and starches can't be called a good food habit. You are not eating well if you are making yourself too fat or thin.

If you sleep badly, something is wrong with your mental or physical hygiene. You're indulging in worry, nerves, anger, discontent, or suffering from bad circulation or indigestion. Perhaps you are intemperate about overworking. Maybe you don't get enough fresh air and exercise. All these errors will show up in your face, detract from your beauty, and harm your physical well being.

As for laughter, there is nothing as healthful as a good laugh. There is nothing as attractive as a smiling face. A good sense of humor will chase away those worries. Laughter at meals will help your digestion. It also is a good facial exercise.

Cream or lotion skin foundation, which is best for your skin? Antoinette Donnelly, Chicago Tribune beauty editor, tells you in her booklet, "Makeup Magic." On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. By postpaid mail, 7 cents.

well dressed gang, some incongruous figures. Color was lent one night by a priest in a scarlet cassock, whom I took at first to be the sacristan in "La Tosca" left over from the opera season. Two gentlemen in corduroy breeches appeared to be gamekeepers, though what sort of game they were up to in Covent Garden in June I could not fathom."

Mrs. Christopher Morgan Bride of Naval Officer.

A wedding of interest took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Emig in Lake Forest. Mrs. Christopher Lyston Morgan of Highland Park became the bride of Capt. Vance Duncan Chapline, U. S. N. The service was read at 5 o'clock by the Rev. Christoph Keller of Trinity church, Highland Park, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride, formerly Miss Marion Pilsbry, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Pilsbry of Chicago. She has two daughters, Cynthia and Frances, who are leaving tomorrow to spend a month with their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Christopher Morgan, at Mystic, Conn., before joining Capt. and Mrs. Chapline and his two daughters, Dorothy and Frances, in Washington, D. C., where Capt. Chapline is stationed now.

George Chapline of Paterson, N. J., came west to be his brother's best man. Capt. and Mrs. Chapline have left for a two weeks' trip to Banff and Lake Louise. They will return to Chicago on Aug. 22 to spend several days on the north shore before going to Washington.

Children Lend Helping Hand to Free Ice Fund

In a day characterized by desperate letters from the poor, it was heartening yesterday to receive notes from three little girls who asked to share their pennies with children less fortunate than they.

The free ice fund is grateful for all gifts. Without its regular annual contributions from adult readers, it would be helpless before the endless appeals from the sick, the aged, and the needy that pour in each day of summer. These contributions are the guarantors of the fund's continuance.

But frequently a mail brings a small gift from a child, accompanied by a letter written in a round hand, telling how the money was collected. A lemonade stand, it was yesterday, and a child's play club. Their total, $2.78, will be almost enough to safeguard the foodstuff of three families through a stifling August week.

Yesterday's donations were:

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Helen Willett, daughter of Mrs. Virgil Faulkner of Phoenix, Ariz., and the late Walter D. Willett of Chicago, to Cecil J. Fallon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fallon of Ripon, Wis., will take place at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Gertrude's church. A breakfast and reception will follow at the Knickerbocker hotel. Mrs. Francis J. Sullivan Jr. will be Miss Willett's only attendant. William O'Donnell will be best man.

Mr. Fallon and his bride will make their home in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smeed of 1409 Hood avenue announce the marriage on Aug. 4 in Los Angeles, Cal., of their daughter, Pauline Alta, to Francis Donald Mills. Miss Smeed was graduated from Northwestern university and Mr. Mills attended U. C. L. A.

The wedding of Miss Phyllis May Fraser, daughter of Mrs. R. P. L. Fraser of 12616 South Greenwood avenue, Blue Island, and the late Mr. Fraser, to the Rev. Edwin Julian Andersen, vicar of St. Aidan's church in Blue Island, took place on July 30 at St. Aidan's church.

After a reception the Rev. Mr. Andersen and his bride left for a wedding trip to Colorado. Upon their return they will be at home at 12057 Greenwood avenue, Blue Island.

Teaching Handbooks Will Be Ready in September

William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday that handbooks outlining teaching methods would be ready for all public school teachers in September. The handbooks were prepared by committees of teachers and principals appointed by the superintendent several months ago.

Perfect In-Between Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

When the first autumn days arrive you will need one of those indispensable in-between dresses that avoid a summery air and yet are cool. We'd like to suggest our pattern today, which creates a slim looking, flattering daytime dress you can wear to all the teas and bridge parties on the early fall calendar. Its V neckline may be edged with lace or ruffling, or be treated to a narrow vestee. The kimono shoulders extend into short sleeves, and the shirring across the shoulders lends delightful fullness to the bodice. The skirt is seamed front and back to mold the hips and give width to the hemline.

You can use any of the autumn silks for this model, or a dark sheer over harmonizing slip.

Style No. 3363 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 18 inch contrasting for vestee.

Here's a short cut menu which I like pretty well myself, and with which I believe a good many other women will have success. The only part of the menu which requires any time worth mentioning is the dessert, and if this can be made ahead of time, the meal's no bother at all.

I like to use frozen peas in a menu such as this. They save a great many precious minutes, for they are all ready to cook when they come from the package, not even needing defrosting, and the cooking time is only 5 minutes. What's more, their size is uniform, and they're always tender, which would be rashly said of the fresh peas we're now able to buy.

SHORT CUT DINNER.

Corned Beef Hash Casserole
Buttered Peas Corn on the Cob
Stuffed Tomato Salads [Cabbage Slaw Stuffing]
French Bread [from Bakery or Grocery]
Peach Upside Down Cake
Hot or Iced Coffee

Corned Beef Hash Casserole.
[Serves four or five.]

1 No. 2 can corned beef
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup medium white sauce
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard

Put hash in a buttered baking dish. Brown onion in butter and add to the white sauce. Stir in the mustard. Pour this sauce over the hash and bake 20 minutes, or until heated through. The temperature of the oven should be 350 degrees.

A cup of medium white sauce, in case you have forgotten, requires 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup milk.

If there are radishes, cucumbers or green peppers at hand, a little of any or all of these vegetables added to the cabbage filling for the tomato cups will improve the salad.

The upside down dessert may finish its baking, if necessary, while the dinner course is being eaten. Some epicurean palates really prefer it warm, if not direct from the oven. It's good cold, too, if it can be prepared ahead of time.

Peach Upside Down Cake.

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or other shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Topping: ¼ cup butter, ½ cup brown sugar, 6 peaches, pared and sliced.

Sift flour once, measure, and add baking powder and salt. Sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until the mixture is fluffy. Add egg, then flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until the batter is smooth. Add vanilla.

For the topping, melt the ¼ cup butter in an 8 inch iron skillet, add the firmly packed brown sugar, and stir until the sugar has melted. Arrange the sliced peaches over this sugar sirup and pour the batter over them. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for about 50 minutes. Loosen cake from sides and bottom of the pan with a spatula, and turn out upside down on a large plate. Cut in wedges and serve with whipped cream.

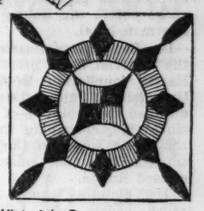
Quilt Block Is Named for British Queen Victoria



Victoria's Crown.

BY NANCY CABOT.

It is quite natural that a woman so interested in all types of needlework as was the late Queen Victoria should have a quilt design named in her honor. The original coverlet was made in Connecticut in 1859 and was of plain blue and red printed material imported from England. "Victoria's Crown" is an appliqué block which lends itself admirably to the utilization of excess material in the scrap bag, since no two crowns need be alike. The illustration today shows the extreme beauty and simple dignity of the block when it is set together with plain blocks to form a coverlet. The finished squares measure 12 inches and are quilted in outline. An elaborate quilting design of a horn of plenty is worked in the plain center blocks.

For a pattern of "Victoria's Crown," No. X56, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Grant Park Is Ideal Setting for Wagner Music

BY EDWARD BARRY.

There comes a time when every regular concert goer is apt to get pretty well fed up with Siegfried. He is just too wholesome and Aryan and heroic for words. The themes assigned to him are so resolutely healthy and diatonic that a less perfect creature is quite likely to find himself yearning for something mildly decadent as a counterirritant.

But Siegfried in Grant park becomes quite another matter. When Hans Lange directed the Chicago Symphony orchestra last evening in a performance of the "Rhine Journey" from "The Twilight of the Gods" the great lake front auditorium, as spacious as all outdoors, gave the elemental music exactly the type of setting which it demands.

Siegfried's wild horn call, so insistently repeated in the "Rhine Journey," regained under the night sky its air of primitive excitement. And the solemn chordal sequence which labels the hero throughout the "Ring" took on once more that epic character which fits so beautifully the drama's high al fresco goings on.

This was merely one item of a program which was devoted largely to the works of Wagner. Another drama of the "Ring" was importantly represented by the "Ride of the Valkyries," "Wotan's Farewell," and the magic fire scene from "Die Walküre."

"Tristan's" prelude and love-death received a tonally magnificent performance despite all of the competition and distraction which a couple of the most ornery type of switch engines could furnish. The evening's other Wagnerian item was the prelude to "Lohengrin." The difficult dynamic problem of the piece, building gradually up to a huge central peak and then climbing down from it by the same slow steps, was adequately solved without ever seeming to become the principal matter of attention.

According to CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Speaking of a passion for finessing [which you often do], take a look at what a partner did to me last night! Of course, I may have been to blame, also, for having permitted him to become declarer. This was the hand:

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was North and fully realized that my five and a half honor tricks exceeded my losers, but since my suit was a minor and the hand looked far from 'gamish' unless partner could respond to a one bid, it seemed to me that a two bid, which would force a game, was inadvisable. After partner responded with a no trump I still felt doubtful about making five diamonds and, right or wrong, decided that three no trump would have a better chance.

"West opened the jack of clubs, upon which East played the deuce. Dear partner gazed hungrily at my diamond suit and, with scarcely any thought, entered his own hand with the heart ace. East played the nine spot and West, after much thought, put on his heart king. The diamond finesse worked all right but, of course, the suit still had to be cleared. West won the third round and returned a heart. East, chuckling like an idiot, cashed in four heart tricks and we were down one.

"When I tried to explain to my ducky partner that he should not have risked taking out the heart ace in order to lead the first diamond toward dummy he looked at me with a blank expression. Obviously, a low diamond lead from dummy and subsequently a finesse up to the ace-queen would have given us five diamonds, two spades, one heart, and at least two clubs, even if declarer failed to make his club queen. Yours truly,

"L. M. J., Toledo, O."

My correspondent's point about the play is well taken, although he failed to give due credit to the defense, particularly West. The latter's action in dropping the heart king under the ace was a splendid bit of imagination. Without that play the heart suit would have been blocked and declarer's folly would not have come to light.

Incidentally, it might be observed that declarer could have fulfilled his contract, even in the manner he selected, if he had held up the heart ace for one round.

But the real error was in the method of attacking the diamond suit. The proper play, after winning the first trick, was to lead a low diamond away from the ace-queen! Then, if the opponents removed declarer's heart stopper, he would be in a position to take a finesse to dummy's ace-queen of diamonds, and might reasonably hope to run the rest of the suit. [Obviously, if either defender had two diamond stoppers there was nothing to be done about it.]

This type of preliminary establishment play is not widely known, but that does not make it any the less valuable.

As to the bidding, I agree with North's feeling about three no trump being a better chance than five diamonds, but I disagree on the point of the opening bid. North's hand was well worth an opening two bid.

SEES DEMOCRACY RIDING THROUGH STORMS SAFELY

Dr. William Rappard Tells of Prospects.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Democracy will survive the present world crisis, Dr. William E. Rappard, director of the Graduate Institute of International Studies at Geneva, Switzerland, predicted yesterday. He spoke before the Rotary club at the Sherman hotel.

Dr. Rappard summarized much of the material he is presenting at six Harris foundation lectures at the University of Chicago this month. He outlined the evolution of democracies since 1913, describing the impact of the world war and the rise of the totalitarian states, among which he classed Russia.

The dictators came, he said, because people who had democracy thrust upon them, without the traditions such as America has, misused their power and destroyed the wealth of the community. They lost not only their wealth but their liberty.

A Danger and a Promise.

In order to meet the militaristic threat of these states, Dr. Rappard explained, and because all people demand safety, the leaders of democracies everywhere have had to moderate or qualify democratic methods. He cited the method of changing the value of the monetary standard as an illustration.

In this change of method, which has been at the sacrifice of the ideals of democracy, Dr. Rappard sees not only a danger but a promise of the continuance of essential democracy. Its future, he thinks, depends on its ability to maintain a wholesome equilibrium between ideals of equality and of liberty.

"Majorities," he said, "have become discontended with purely political rights. They have enriched themselves by the power vested in them at the expense of the minority. Government, through taxation and other methods, has become an agency for the redistribution of the national income.

"This has led to delegation of authority and the transformation of the state into a vast business house. Business cannot be run on purely democratic lines. When the government goes into business it cannot remain completely true to the methods of democracy.

Increased Power of Executive.

"There is no sign of a reversion of tendency. It does not seem as though the democratic peoples had had enough of budgetary deficits. We are still all headed that way. In the United States and in Switzerland, the oldest democracy, we have not reached the limit of freedom of speech and press, but we have already tolerated certain methods of government which the authors of the constitutions did not intend.'

We will maintain the right to choose and control the executive, Dr. Rappard concluded, and the rights of opposition will be upheld, but the power of the executive will be increased by constitutional means.

SISTERS OF SLAIN GANGSTER TELL OF DEATH THREAT

Two sisters of Sam Picciottio gave way yesterday to a hysterical lapse from the customary silence about underworld murders. Picciottio's body was found yesterday in the rear of the White Sox baseball park at 34th and Shields avenue.

Sam Picciottio.

"They said they'd get him!" sobbed Miss Cancetta Picciottio. The other sister, Mrs. Anna Ciolino, cried. "If he'd kept his mouth shut they wouldn't have bothered him." Both live at 212 West 24th street.

The slain man's pockets were turned inside out, but police doubted that the motive was robbery. He served a term in the Bridewell for larceny last year. The charge had been reduced from burglary. Police are trying to learn his real address. They expect to find his wife there. Picciottio was 23 years old.

$7,500 FUND VOTED TO WAR ON LAKE COUNTY GAMING

With little opposition the Lake county board yesterday voted $7,500 to finance the anti-gambling drive of Charles E. Jack, special prosecutor. The vote was 26 to 3 with four members absent. The money will finance the campaign until the last of November.

Mr. Jack, who is president of the county bar association, objected to a stipulation that hiring and salaries shall be under the control of the finance and judiciary committee. He said it would hamper his work and pleaded for secrecy. He was promised full coöperation of the committee, however, and expressed himself as satisfied.

Attorney Jack was appointed by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady after citizens had raided 243 taverns and handbooks. They charged that State's Attorney Charles E. Mason knew of the existence of gambling in the county.

PAROLED CONVICT GETS 90 DAYS AS RECKLESS DRIVER

A paroled convict was sentenced to 90 days in jail for reckless driving yesterday after the arresting officer's wife had told of threats against her husband.

The parolee is Bernard Sayewitz, 23 years old, of 4837 North Lawndale avenue. He was arrested July 24, after a collision, by Policeman Joseph R. Faust. Several days ago hoodlums visited Faust's home at 5132 Deming place and warned his wife, Babette, that her husband had better forget what he knew of the case.

Judge Stephen Adamowski imposed the heavy sentence after she told her story from the witness stand. Sayewitz denied all knowledge of the men who made the threats.

6 HURT ON TWO STREET CARS AS BOTH HIT TRUCK

Six persons were injured late last evening in a three way crash at Harrison and Dearborn streets involving two street cars and a truck.

The accident occurred when a Harrison street car, south bound in Dearborn street, ran a red light at the intersection. The brakes failed to hold, according to Motorman Albert Wheeler, of 629 North Central Park avenue.

The tracks turn west into Harrison street, but the car jumped the rails and struck a truck driven east in Harrison street by John Konicek of 815 East 39th street. The truck was knocked into the path of an eastbound Clybourn avenue street car, which also hit it.

Konicek was uninjured, but six personsc on the two street cars were hurt. They are Fred Giere, 2042 Erie street; Mrs. Martha Lundmeyer, 120 East 22d street; her husband, Albert; Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman, 57 East Harrison street; John Drews, 3815 Freemont street, and Sally Langstan, colored, of 3120 South Park way. They were taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Robert Larsen, 5 years old, of 7648 Coles avenue was injured critically last night when he was struck in front of his home by an automobile driven by Miss Charlotte Kney, 25 years old, of Waldron, Ind. She was not held. Physicians at the South Shore hospital said the boy's skull and left leg were fractured.

Dorothy Mackin, 16 years old, 451 North Cicero avenue, and John Johnson, also 16, of 4741 Ferdinand street, were injured last night when the bicycles they were riding were struck by an automobile driven by William Ambrose, 37, 908 North Richmond street. The injured children were taken to Norwegian-American hospital and police released Ambrose when he promised to pay the hospital bills.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 494 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 380 were killed in Chicago, where 11,412 were injured in the same period.

KIPKE IS SECOND, POND THIRD IN RECORD BREAKING RACE

Layden, Robertson Complete Staf.

BY ARCH WARD.

Bo McMillin of Indiana university, one of the most brilliant figures intercollegiate football has produced, will direct the All-Stars against the Washington Redskins, champions of the National Professional league, in the fifth annual charity game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31.

McMillin gained the honor by winning the coast to coast poll conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 150 associated newspapers and radio stations. His assistants will be Harry Kipke, formerly of the University of Michigan; Raymond Pond of Yale, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, and A. J. Robertson of Bradley, who finished in that order.

These famous gridiron leaders won their places in the greatest popularity contest in the history of sport. The total number of first place votes cast in the poll was 16,451,409. The same contest last year polled 6,844,872.

Bo Gets Nearly 5,000,000.

Noble Kizer of Purdue won the first poll in 1934 with a total of 63,987 votes. Compare that number with the 4,982,478 cast for McMillin this year and you have some idea of the amazing increase in fan interest. The total number of votes in the 1934 poll was slightly more than 617,000.

Frank Thomas of Alabama won the coaches' contest in 1935, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota in 1936, and Charles Dorais of the University of Detroit in 1937. Until McMillin and Kipke came along with their tremendous followings in this year's poll the record was held by Dorais, who received 1,241,714 first place votes.

The huge total in the 1938 poll is attributable to the organized support for McMillin and Kipke. Indiana students, alumni and other friends, as well as his admirers in Kentucky, Texas, Kansas, Louisiana, and Pennsylvania, where he has played or coached, have been campaigning for McMillin for several months.

Kipke Has Host of Friends.

No less surprising was the support that developed for Kipke. Displaced as head coach at the University of Michigan last spring, Kipke won the undivided backing of Michigan followers. These included his successor, Fritz Crisler, and his old sports chief, Fielding H. Yost. The great motor industries of Detroit extended their resources to elect him. Some of them asked their agents throughout the country to solicit votes. Radio station WJR, which served as a clearing house, made nightly broadcasts, as well as several spot announcements through the day. Political and industrial leaders agreed Kipke's campaign was the finest demonstration of coöperative effort the state has known.

Pond of Yale benefited heavily from the Kipke drive. Michigan and Yale alumni groups coöperated in putting over both candidates. Pond also had enthusiastic support from Yale alumni clubs and friends of other eastern universities who were anxious to have their section represented on the staf.

Elmer's Popular Everywhere.

Layden's vote, which developed with little or no organized backing, was perhaps the most significant of all. It was a tribute to the personal esteem in which he is held by the fans of the nation as well as to the popularity of Notre Dame.

Robertson of Bradley has the distinction of being the first coach from a so-called small school to land a place on the All-Star staf. His campaign, which was sponsored by the Peoria Journal-Transcript, was conducted on that basis. His followers pointed out in their appeal for votes that 90 per cent of the higher institutions of learning in the United States are classed as small colleges. They felt that percentage deserved representation in the All-Star game. Fans in many parts of the country where there was no local candidate rallied to Robertson's support.

The five coaches will address the fans tonight in a coast to coast broadcast over the Mutual network at 8:15 p. m., Chicago time. W-G-N will be the Chicago outlet.

Stars to Report Friday.

The coaching staf, as well as the sixty-seven players whom they will direct, will report at Northwestern university Friday. They will have nineteen days, a longer training period than was offered any of the preceding All-Star squads, to prepare for Sammy Baugh and his Redskins.

McMillin, christened Alvin Nugent, was born forty years ago in Prairie View, Tex., and has been actively identified with football as a player and coach for twenty-six years. Bo was still a grade school pupil when he began to attract attention on the gridiron. He had been forced to drop out of school when he was eleven years old in order to work and help support his family, so when he returned to the fifth grade he was older and larger than most of the boys of his class.

Bo Started Career Early.

As a sixth grader he started playing on the football team of the North High school of Fort Worth, where his family had moved while he was still a small boy. For four years he romped

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 9.—Bo McMillin was the happiest man in Indiana tonight. "This is the greatest thrill I've ever had," Indiana's famous football coach said when he was notified that he had been chosen by the football fans of the nation to direct the 1938 All-America football team in its game against the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field, Chicago, on Aug. 31.

"I think that being chosen coach of the All-Star team is the pinnacle of a coach's career," McMillin continued. "It's a thrill that comes only once in a lifetime to have a group of the greatest players of the whole United States to work with. It must be the ambition of every coach to have such a squad. It certainly will be a pleasure to coach those boys, especially with the type of assistants I'll have. I know all of the coaching staf personally and I know they are all great football coaches and all fine gentlemen. It will be as much of an honor to work with them as with the boys."

Plenty of Big Boys.

McMillin, who always refers to his Hoosiers, regardless of their bulk, as "mah little boys," added that "it sure will be something to have some big boys to coach for a change." As soon as he learned of his election by the greatest vote ever cast in a poll of its kind, Bo started to work mapping out his campaign plans.

When he takes charge of the team on Friday, he expects to start drilling it in the plays he will use against the Redskins immediately.

"These boys are all young and in pretty good shape already," he said. "I'm not going to drive them with a lot of hard work. They'll get into condition fast and they all know football. They're the smartest and the best football players from all parts of the country, the east, the middle west, the deep south, the Rocky mountains, and the Pacific coast. We won't have to waste any time teaching them fundamentals or getting them in condition. That will give us more time for thinking about beating those Redskins.

He Has the Plays.

"I've got a pretty good idea of what plays I'm going to use and we'll work on them right from the start. If we get beat, it won't be because we're not prepared. It will be because the Redskins are a better football team, and I don't believe they are.

"Sammy Baugh is a Fort Worth boy just like me, but I'm not sure that he's the best passer in the world. I think we can stop him with a good, fast rushing line like those All-Stars and I believe we have some passers just as good as he is on our squad. Maybe we can't stop him and maybe we can't out pass him, but I think we can. Anyway, we're going to try it."

He's Very Grateful.

Bo was pleased especially with the manner in which his victory in the race for the coach's post was accomplished.

"I think it's a mighty fine tribute from the Indiana students and alumni and all my friends," he said. "It was a great demonstration of friendship and loyalty to the university rather than a personal affair."

To George Gardner, assistant athletic director at Indiana, and Paul Harrell, baseball coach, goes the greatest share of the credit for McMillin's election. They were the Mark Hannas or the Jim Farleys of the campaign which swept Bo to the most coveted position in football.

They started their campaign to elect McMillin last winter. Early in February, Harrell began sending out letters to prominent alumni in all sections of the United States, enlisting their support and enclosing printed ballots with McMillin's name at the top. One thousand ballots, each with room for 100 signatures were sent to former Indiana athletes.

Anderson Helps, Too.

Carl Anderson, new line coach at Indiana, mailed 200 ballots to athletes at Western State Teachers college in Bowling Green, Ky., where he was formerly athletic director. Ballots for 1,500,000 names were sent to Indianapolis. Into central Kentucky, where Bo was famous as Centre college's greatest quarter back, went several thousand more. Every Indiana alumni club in the county received a batch of ballots. Old friends of McMillin throughout the south, in Louisiana, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, and Texas, were called upon to lend their support to the campaign.

As the end of the school year neared, student organizations held meetings and pledged their aid. Every student was made responsible for 1,000 votes. At commencement time, booths were placed on the campus where returning alumni and parents of students might cast their ballots. Every football player on the Hoosier squad took ballots home with him. Officials of the State Highway commission and James Beatty, secretary of the state Democratic committee, put their men to work canvassing the state. Fraternities and sororities took a hand. The Bloomington Evening World conducted the

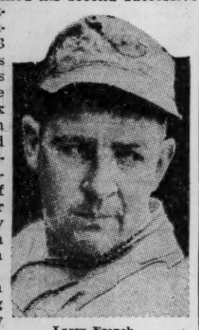
FRENCH BLANKS REDS, 3-0; CUBS TAKE 3D PLACE

Rip Collins Hits Home Run in Sixth Inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 9. — Larry French pitched his second successive six hit shutout this afternoon, 3 to 0, as the Cubs knocked the Reds back into fourth place and took undisputed possession of third, for which they had been tied with the Reds.



Larry French.

A sixth inning homer by Rip Collins, the third hit of seven the Cubs made off their old time enemy, Paul Derringer, proved enough to win the match, but just by way of making things easier, French opened a flurry in the eighth with a triple which caused such consternation that the Cubs had two more runs home before the panic subsided.

It Happened Suddenly.

Until Collins banged his homer after two were out in that sixth, it appeared that the game might continue a scoreless tie indefinitly. Both Derringer and French had all their stuff and the defense was bearing down flawlessly on both sides.

The Cubs got only one runner to second prior to the Collins swat. The Reds never got a runner past first base until the eighth. The only Cincinnati gent to get past first in the whole game was Pinch Batter Don Lang, who reached third in the eighth. French's control was perfect. He did not walk a man, struck out four and rarely had a high ball count on a hitter. He had walked only one batsman in his last two shutouts.

Despite their success in the opener here, the Cubs remained eight games back of the Pirates, who scored a 1 to 0 victory over the Cards, and a game and a half behind the Giants, who came from behind in the late innings to nose out the Bees.

Good Pitching, This!

The shutout today was the fifth in which the Cubs have been involved in their last seven games, three times on the administering end, against first division teams, and twice on the receiving end, with the second division Bees splashing the whitewash.

Each of the teams finished the first three innings with a grand total of no runs and one hit. The Cub attack in the span was more distinguished because Jurges got to second base, whereas Lombardi, who singled with one out in the second, was the only Red to get as far as first. Demaree made the first Cub hit, a single with

Armstrong to Seek Ambers' Title Tonight

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong tomorrow night will endeavor to become the first fighter in the history of the ring to hold three titles at the same time when he faces Lou Ambers, lightweight champion, in a fifteen round bout in the Polo grounds.

The busy little Armstrong, who has taken the featherweight and welterweight championships within the last nine months, is a prohibitive choice to win. They were quoting 5 to 13 on him today; this in the face of a small group which is firmly convinced that the light hitting, speedy Ambers will put down the Los Angeles colored boxer's bid.

Edward C. Foster, executive secretary of the National Boxing association, said today that that organization would recognize the winner as the welterweight as well as the lightweight champion of the world.

For a fight involving two champions, interest has been at surprisingly low ebb. If the fight draws $100,000, Promoter Mike Jacobs will be well satisfied.

"We'll have taken in around $40,000 by tonight," Mike predicted today, "and if the weather man's with us tomorrow we may have a last minute rush that will put us over. I haven't given up. This is a last minute town."

General belief, however, is that a gate of around $75,000 may be expected. Out of town business has been very slow. Betting continued light.

Although a sturdy little fellow who can take a punch, is hard to hit, can box and is shifty, Ambers was not given much chance by experts against Armstrong, who has won thirty-five of his last thirty-eight bouts by knockouts.

Armstrong has not looked well in training, but his handlers laugh that off, blaming his lackadaisical performances on the heat and to a heavy face guard the Negro was compelled to wear most of the time to protect a cut lip.

Armstrong and Ambers will come in by automobile from their New Jersey training camps tomorrow morning to weigh in before the New York state athletic commission and receive final physical checkups.

Cochrane's Salary for Three Years Is $126,000

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Walter O. Briggs Jr., treasurer of the Detroit Baseball club, confirmed today the statement of Mickey Cochrane, deposed Tiger manager, that Cochrane's two-year contract had been abrogated by mutual consent, and disclosed that Cochrane's salary had been $36,000 this year and $45,000 for each of 1936 and 1937, a total of $126,000 for the three seasons.

YORK'S HOME RUN WITH 2 ON BEATS SOX IN 9TH, 4-1

Five Errors Wreck Knott's 4-Hit Pitching.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Mr. Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers hit one of his home run specials yesterday and that was the finish of the White Sox in the opener of a three game series. However, the Sox did well despite the fatal blow. They battled gallantly, although erring in spots, and, mainly because of the determination of Jack Knott to produce something of account, went into the ninth inning with a 1 to 1 tie. But at this point the aforementioned Mr. York exploded his 23d home run. Thus the final score was 4 to 1.

The decisive homer was no fault of the perspiring Knott, who in the eight innings had permitted only two hits. He would have completed the ninth with the enemy hit total unchanged if Joe Kuhel, that great fielder taken from Washington in the Zeke Bonura deal, hadn't blundered for the second time. He lost Charley Gehringer's grounder, which should have been the third out.

Kuhel Does It Twice.

Then for some strange reason Hank Greenberg, a home run clouter, was purposely passed, thus bringing up another man of equal strength. The latter was York and he slapped the ball against the upper deck in left field.

Kuhel's first error also caused the ambitious Knott some agony. In the second after Greenberg had made the only single yielded by Knott in the first seven innings, Kuhel trained for his last minute blunder by failing to come up with Morgan's easy roller. This permitted Greenberg to score. Incidentally Greenberg previously had taken second on one of three Sox errors in which Kuhel wasn't involved. The Sox finally got this run back by landing on Tommy Bridges for a pair of hits in the fifth, but in all the other innings they were more or less helpless.

Errors Are Costly.

Knott allowed only one hit in the second inning, but because of the stumbling of his mates, he was forced to relinquish a run. The single was Greenberg's drive into left. Radcliff juggled the ball long enough to give Greenberg a chance to reach second. York was thrown out by Appling, Morgan rolled to Kuhel for an easy out, but Kuhel was so concerned about keeping an eye on Greenberg that the ball trickled through his hands. Kuhel's face was red long before Greenberg had scored. Christman then forced Morgan and died trying to steal.

The Sox had an excellent opportunity to score in the first inning. Owen doubled with one out, but his noble effort went to waste when Jerry Walker grounded out and Radcliff looked at a third strike. A pass to Kreevich with one out in the second also went to waste. The next Sox to survive was Appling. He doubled to left in the fourth, but there were two out at the moment and Kreevich concluded the inning by flying to Fox.

Sox Waste Opportunity.

The Sox produced a couple of hits when they scored the tying run in the fifth and one more hit would have added materially. Bridges walked Kuhel, who went to third when Rensa singled to right. Knott fanned for the first out and Berger was similarly disposed of. Owen slapped Bridges' first pitch for a single into right, scoring Kuhel. A pass to Jerry Walker filled the bases, but facing an opportunity for something heroic, Radcliff bounced meekly to Greenberg.

Both factions did a bit of threatening in the seventh. Greenberg opened for the Tigers with a drive to right, but he is so accustomed to homers that he neglected to stop at first and was tagged out upon his arrival at second. York followed with a pass and was doubled off first on Morgan's liner to Appling. Rensa led off in the Sox half with a single, but received no assistance from the next three batters.

The Sox could have had a run for the asking in the eighth, but they

Kipke Campaign Is Last Word in Organization; Polls 4 Million

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—Detroit and the state of Michigan have gathered more than four million votes for Harry Kipke, former Michigan coach, to elect him to the staf of men who will direct the All-Stars in the game against the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field Aug. 31.

That Kipke finished second, beaten in the final day of the greatest poll in history, may be attributed solely to the limited length of time of the campaign. Yet this same limitation—the campaign was started less than three weeks ago—makes this vote even more astounding than the gigantic total by which Bo McMillin of Indiana won first place on the All-Star coaching staf.

The McMillin campaign was organized seven months ago. Against this long range planning the Kipke committee had the experience gained from the radio and newspaper campaign which elected Charley Bachman of Michigan State to the staf in 1935 and made Gus Dorais, of Detroit, head coach last year.

Dorais won last year with a record breaking vote of 1,241,714 and the general outline of that successful campaign was the foundation for this year's voting. When Kipke led in the poll yesterday, headquarters in the New Center building was jubilant, believing that Kipke would win. But the tabulation of votes for Kipke had been completed yesterday. Harry Wismer, of Station WJR, Detroit, chairman of the Kipke committee, over the gridirons of northern Texas until opposing high schools grew tired of looking at him and protested. As a result Bo was declared ineligible and, inasmuch as he still had one year of high school to make up before enrolling at Centre college, he migrated to Somerset, Ky., where he played his fifth year of high school football in 1916.

The next year he and practically the entire Somerset eleven entered Centre. With him were Red Roberts, Red Weaver, and Norris [Red] Armstrong, all of whom were destined to become famous as members of Uncle Charley Moran's Prayin' Colonels at Centre. Centre started winning as soon as Bo and his cohorts moved in, but it was not until 1919 that their names were blazoned in headlines of sports pages across the whole nation. Centre had lost only its first game in 1917 and had lost none in 1918, but the victories had been over sectional foes and little word of its triumphs had leaked north of the Ohio river.

They Take the Spotlight.

It was a victory over a great West Virginia eleven which had trounced Princeton, 25 to 0, the previous Saturday, that brought national attention to the Colonels and McMillin. Their ritual of kneeling on the field and praying before each game caught the fancy of football fans everywhere and the colorful McMillin, who as quarter back was the sparkplug of the team, became the most famous football player of the year. Walter Camp placed him at quarter back on his All-American team for that year and on his second team for the next two years. Practically every other football expert, including THE TRIBUNE'S Walter Eckersall, placed him on the All-American elevens of 1920 and 1921. In the Indiana game of that year, with Centre trailing, 3 to 0, the last half, Bo stripped down to running shorts and scored two touchdowns to win the game, 12 to 3.

Centre ran its string of consecutive victories to thirty-two in 1920 before it fell before Harvard, 31 to 14, but the next year in the Harvard stadium Bo climaxed his career by scoring a touchdown on a long run that humbled the Crimson, 6 to 0.

He Goes to Centenary.

Upon his graduation from Centre in 1922, McMillin went to Centenary college at Shreveport, La., as head football coach. In three seasons there his teams won twenty-six while losing only three. Geneva college at Beaver Falls, Pa., signed him as coach for the 1925 season. He continued his phenomenal success there, going through one season undefeated and again beating Harvard. In his three years tenure at Geneva, McMillin's teams won twenty-three games, lost five, and tied one.

By this time his reputation as a coach was as great as his fame as a player. Kansas State college called him and he moved to Manhattan for the season of 1928. He spent six seasons in the Big Six conference and while he never won a conference title his elevens ranked high, winning thirty-two games, losing twenty-one and tying one in six years. The team he bequeathed to Lynn Waldorf as head coach when Bo moved to Indiana won the Big Six title in 1934.

Hoosiers Are Inspired.

In four seasons at Indiana, McMillin has lifted the Hoosiers from a poor second division berth to the point where they have become perennial title contenders. Of the thirty-two games his teams have played, they have won seventeen, lost eleven, and tied four. Evidence of his popularity with the fans of Indiana is the contract he signed last summer to coach the Hoosiers eleven for ten years. That contract has nine more years to run, a striking contrast with the past, when football coaches were stepping on each other's heels crossing the Indiana campus, so fast did they move in and out. Last year Indiana finished third in the Big Ten and had a season's record of five won and three lost.

Known as one of the keenest students of the game, he is rated as one of the outstanding tacticians of the football world, his best known innovation being the famous "five man back field" system he employs. He is a vice president of the National Football Coaches association and a member of the rules committee of that organization.

Bo is married and has four children, one by his first wife, who died ten years ago, and three by his second wife.

51 YEARLINGS IN SARATOGA SALE BRING $101,200

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Fifty-one head were sold at tonight's session of the annual yearling sales. The colts brought a total of $101,200, an average of approximately $1,984. The top price of the night was $9,600 bid by Harry Guggenheim's Falaise stable for a dark filly by Bull Dog out of Runaway Lass.

Louis Feustel, trainer for Mrs. Elizabeth Graham Lewis, made the second highest bid, $9,000, for a Jack High colt out of Gay O'Mar.

The British Bloodstock agency made a successful bid of $5,900, third highest of the night, for a brown colt by Pharamond II. out of Brown Bride..

Pittsburgh, Indianapolis Out of Printers' Tourney

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Pittsburgh and Indianapolis were eliminated today in the Union Printers' International baseball tournament. Washington held a 14 to 1 lead when Pittsburgh withdrew at the end of the fifth inning of play. Detroit beat Indianapolis, 11 to 7. Felt of Chicago held the Minneapolis-St. Paul team to two hits for a 2 to 0 victory.

campaign here and it probably is no exaggeration to say that every man, woman, and child in Bloomington who can write signed a ballot for McMillin.

They Didn't Wait to Vote.

When THE TRIBUNE'S poll was opened officially two weeks ago, Indiana was ready. Thousands of votes which these thousands of McMillin supporters gathered were cast through newspapers in their immediate section. Many were sent directly to THE TRIBUNE, but the great bulk of them came pouring into headquarters at the Indiana fieldhouse during the last few days when the race turned into the home stretch. The last day's voting brought 31,294 votes from San Antonio, Texas; 24,894 from Beaver Falls, Pa., where McMillin coached the Geneva football team ten years ago; 32,678 from Dallas, Tex., and 47,649 from Memphis, Tenn. From Fort Worth, Bo's sister sent more than 23,000 in addition to thousands that were voted through the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Pennsylvania Fans Respond.

Houston, just because it's Texas and Bo came from there, contributed 336,740. Hoosier alumni in New York sent 39,734, Philadelphia 48,838. Manhattan, Kas., the seat of Kansas State college, where Bo once coached, voted 23,782 on the final day, and Danville, the seat of Centre college, 32,301. It may seem strange that Boston would come through with 43,890 last minute ballots, but that's because Chuck Hornbostel, former Indiana track star, collected them. You might be surprised to know that Eldorado, Kas., dumped 78,671 into the ballot box if you didn't know that Paul Graham, captain elect of the Hoosier eleven, lives there and spent the summer stirring up enthusiasm for his coach.

Fort Smith, Ark., would be an unlikely place to look for 17,883 votes when you needed them badly, but Fred Armstrong, a brother of Red Armstrong, who played with Bo at Centre, did the job. Jim Pearson, an old time pupil of Bo's at Centenary, sent 41,379 from Shreveport, and another Centenary man, Dugan Brown, kicked in with 33,378 from Alexandria. Bo's brother Edgar brought in 37,839 from Amarillo, Tex.

There Were Many Others.

And so it went. Hundreds of other places, large and small, might be mentioned, but these have been picked out as examples, just in case you might be wondering why in the devil places as far removed from Bloomington as Beaver Falls, and Amarillo, and Eldorado and Monongahela and Fort Smith, and Boston displayed such great interest in the McMillin campaign.

The answer seems to be that Bo has friends, that his friends have organization, and that the old college spirit is flaming down in the hills of Indiana.

Kipke's Drive Last Word in Organization

announced that 3,770,186 votes were received at headquarters. Other votes cast from Michigan centers went direct to the Chicago Tribune.

At noon today Kipke received final word from Chicago that the last returns had given McMillin first place. Kipke immediately extended his congratulations to McMillin and made plans to leave Thursday night for Chicago to report for duty. The All-American squad starts training at Northwestern university Friday.

"Heartiest congratulations on your election as head coach of the All-American squad," Kipke wired McMillin this afternoon. "It is an honor to assist you in coaching the All-Stars. I will report Friday."

9,000,000 for Two.

It is difficult to believe that with more than four million votes Kipke could be beaten. It is almost incredible that the two men, Kipke and McMillin, could poll more than nine million votes. Yet, when the organization of this campaign is explained, the gigantic totals can be understood.

Every industrial plant in Detroit was organized. Nearly all the state departments at Lansing distributed and collected ballots. The state was divided into districts and intensively campaigned.

One hundred thousand ballots, each with space for thirty-six signatures and addresses, were distributed from the Detroit office in the Detroit area.

Two of the nation's largest automobile sales organizations sent ballots to all offices. One of these organizations theoretically figured to mail back a total of 1,250,000 first place votes. Ballots were returned from all 48 states.

An average of 28 employés were busy daily in distributing and collecting Detroit votes. Ten automobiles and drivers were assigned to keep in contact with the other centers in Michigan.

Canvass Parks and Beaches.

Five public booths were established in downtown Detroit. All chain stores such as Krogers, Atlantic and Pacific, and Sears-Roebuck circulated petitions. Votes were solicited at golf courses, and last Saturday and Sunday, the two last days of the voting campaign, fifty Boy Scouts solicited votes for Kipke at Belle Isle, where thousands of Detroiters gather at the city park and bathing beaches. On the same day there were two voting booths at Briggs' stadium, the home of the Detroit Tigers.

Detroit's three newspapers assisted. Station WJR was generous with support, averaging two and three programs a day in addition to spot announcements. At various times WJR presented in behalf of Kipke's candidacy Mayor Richard W. Reading, Harvey J. Campbell, vice president and executive secretary of the board of commerce; Charles E. Dorais, University of Detroit football coach; Heartley Anderson, former Notre Dame star who was Kipke's assistant last year at Michigan; Charley Bachman, head coach at Michigan State; Jack Adams, manager of the Detroit Red Wings hocky team; Sam Chapman and Ace Parker, former football stars and now members of the Philadelphia Athletics baseball team; Larry Aurie, manager of the Pittsburgh Hornets hocky team; Normie Smith, Red Wings goalie; Elden Auker, Detroit pitcher; Chuck Kocsis, Walker cup golf star; Mickey Cochrane, former Detroit baseball manager, and Harold Brown of the University of Michigan Alumni association.

Crisler Backs Kipke.

Kipke's campaign was indorsed by Fritz Crisler, Michigan's new football coach, and by Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at Michigan.

In addition to WJR, station WGAR, in Cleveland, and KMPC in Beverly Hills, Cal., both operated by G. A. [Dick] Richards, owner of the Detroit Lions, professional football team, entered the campaign. KMPC campaigned for Kipke and Howard Jones of Southern California. WJR also included second place votes for Raymond W. Pond of Yale, Station WJIM in Lansing averaged at least two programs each day in the Kipke campaign. Franklin Lewis, sports commentator at WGAR, Cleveland, assisted with interviews of sports celebrities. Wismer and Kipke appeared at an organization meeting of Michigan alumni at the Cleveland Athletic club shortly after the campaign opened.

The Whole State Votes.

The list of cities, according to Wismer, might be extended to include every town in the state. He estimates his long distance telephone bills for organization were over a thousand dollars.

The list of industries, again almost 100 per cent organized, included Chevrolet, Buick, and Fisher Body company in Flint, Chrysler, Ford, Dodge, Packard, Fisher Body in Detroit, Murray Body, Kelsey-Hayes, Timken Axle, L. A. Young, Inc., and the Briggs Manufacturing company.

This is how four million votes were gathered for Kipke.

Senator Pitcher Limits New York to 6 Hits.

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Washington Senators' young lefthander, Ken Chase, beat the Yankees, 4 to 2, today. Chase, who gave nine walks but only six hits, won the game in the ninth when he singled to drive home Cecil Travis, who had opened the inning with a double. A moment later George Case drove home Buddy Myer, who had walked. Score:

10 TO RUN TODAY IN HAMBLETONIAN BEFORE 40,000

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The names of ten of trotting's finest 3 year olds were dropped into the entry box today for the renewal of the Hambletonian, richest of all light harness horse racing stakes, tomorrow.

The eight colts and two fillies, survivors of a list of 259 nominated as yearlings, will settle their argument in two out of three heats at Good Time park with the division of $37,962 depending on the outcome.

Two colts that showed little as 2 year olds are favored. The crowd of 40,000 expected to make Long Key the 3 to 5 choice. Two to one was quoted against McLin. The field:

Owner.	Driver.	Odds.

MOON MULLINS—MOON LAYS SOME EGGS

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

A 12 foot electric clock is being installed in Dyche stadium for use at Northwestern's football games. . . . The clock, designed by Earl Foster, graduate manager at Washington State college, is widely used on the Pacific coast and is the first to be installed east of the Rocky mountains. . . . Marty Schreyer, elected to a starting position at tackle on the All-Star squad, yesterday married Miss Josephine Balfe Perkins in Lafayette, Ind. . . . Tom Meany, one of the more personable New York sports writers, who gained fame last winter for a magazine piece in which he called the National league a minor circuit, still isn't talking to Manager Bill Terry, whose Giants he covers the year round. . . . Bunny Oakes, Whizzer White's coach at Colorado university, is coming to Chicago to watch the All-Stars' last week of preparation for the game with the Washington Redskins. . . . The Cubs' science squad would have something, if the professors could evolve a method of transfusing the enthusiasm and vigor of Trainer Andy Lotshaw and Coach Roy Johnson to the arteries of some of the more languorous of the players, who make more money than do Andy and Roy. . . . This will be the first time in more than forty years that Purdue's football team has not played in Chicago or Evanston. . . .

During the first week of Washington Park's meeting about 50,000 selections were dropped in the handicappers' contest boxes. . . . Out of that number only three named six winners, one man on opening day and two women Saturday. . . . Paul Ducharme, Notre Dame basketball guard, is spending the summer as a life guard at Cermak pool in Lyons. . . . California friends say Pop Warner will make good his intention to retire as an active coach after this season. . . . He will pass along the Temple job to Fred Swan. . . . Bob Seeds, Giant outfielder, punched cattle as a youngster on his father's ranch. . . . Frank Kohlbecker, the Cleveland Indians' traveling secretary, and Cy Slapnicka, the club's general manager, were battery mates for Milwaukee in the American association during the spitball era. . . . J. J. Lipp, Big Ten football official, has invented a lighted head linesman's down marker which will be used for the first time in the All-Star game.

The Old Swing.

Just about the nicest thing
Is sitting out in our old swing;
Especially quite late at night
When all the stars are shining bright.

The swing is old and needs some paint—
No spot is free from weather's taint;
And how it creaks and groans and sighs
At every push—each fall and rise!

But I don't mind a single bit
As nearly every night I sit
Out in the swing and watch the sky
And hear the summer breezes sigh.

To some it seems a boring thing
To sit alone out in a swing,
But I'm not bored, strange tho' it seem,
For it's a lovely place to dream.

French Blanks Reds, 3 to 0, as Cubs Take 3d

two out in the second, but did not advance. Jurges walked at the start of the third, advanced on French's sacrifice, hung on while Hack tapped to Derringer, and died on Herman's fly to Craft.

Hartnett singled to right with one down in the fourth for the second Chicago hit, but Reynolds and Demaree sent high flies to the outfield.

The second Red hit was a Texas league single Craft dropped into short left center with one out in the fifth. It promptly was nullified by a double play which Herman started on Riggs' grounder.

Ripper Loses the Ball.

The sixth opened placidly with Hack contributing his 13th straight putout and his 11th since he was put in the leadoff spot. Herman was thrown out by Riggs, then Collins did his stuff with his ninth homer. It was a lofty shot which cleared the right field screen by several feet. Hartnett ended the inning with a fly to Craft.

The enormous triple with which French opened the eighth really seemed to knock the remaining starch out of Derringer. Hack cracked the first pitch for a single to center, scoring French. Hack advanced on Herman's sacrifice, paused on second while Collins flied to Cooke then scored on Hartnett's double to the scoreboard in left center. Reynolds flied to Cooke.

Vance Page will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow. The Reds will start Johnny Vander Meer.

Bauers Yields 2 Hits; Pirates Beat Cards, 1-0

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Russ Bauers put the St. Louis Cardinals through a two hit wringer today as Pittsburgh's national league leaders squeezed out a 1 to 0 triumph.

Bauers started the winning rally in the third inning off Lefty Roy Henshaw with a single. The pitcher moved to third on Handley's double and scored as Lloyd Waner punched his second single into right field.

REDMOND & CO., BROKER HOUSE, WILL DISSOLVE

Most of Partners to Join Another Firm.

Redmond & Co., New York Stock exchange house, with offices in New York, Chicago, and Boston, is to be dissolved as of Aug. 31, it was announced yesterday. Most of the partners will become partners in the New York firm of Fuller, Rodney & Co. as of Sept. 1.

The name of Fuller-Rodney is to be changed on Sept. 1 to Fuller, Rodney & Redmond. The firm will occupy offices at 44 Wall street, New York; 141 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, and 75 Federal street, Boston.

Those to be admitted as general partners of Fuller, Rodney & Redmond include Lucius P. Ordway Jr., Arthur J. Goldsmith, and Byron G. Webster. Those to be admitted as special partners include Franklin Q. Brown, Lee Warren James, and William Dewey Loucks.

Censured by Exchange.

Last June 22 Redmond & Co. was publicly censured by the governing committee of the New York Stock exchange for violation of federal margin requirements. The responsibility for the violation was charged to H. Mason Day, senior managing partner. Day, ill since the first of the year, retired as a general partner on June 15 and became a special partner.

On June 22 the exchange also announced that Day would retire from the firm on Sept. 30. No provision for his inclusion in the consolidated firm was mentioned so it is likely that he will retire on Aug. 31. Day formerly was an associate of Harry F. Sinclair and was convicted of contempt of court in connection with the Teapot Dome affair. He became a Redmond partner in 1930.

Continue Chicago Office.

Webster will continue as resident partner in charge of the Chicago office. Redmond has had a Chicago office since January, 1938, when it took over the office of Graham & Co. About fifty persons are employed in the Chicago office.

Fuller, Rodney & Redmond will have memberships on the following exchanges: New York Stock exchange, New York Curb exchange, Chicago Board of Trade; Commodity Exchange, Inc.; New York Cocoa Exchange, Inc.; New York Mercantile exchange, and the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

Interlype Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Please forward me a copy of your report on the Intertype corporation.—C. F. S.

Answer: The Intertype corporation does a world wide business in line casting machines and accessories for the printing and publishing trades. Intertype typesetting machines are used in the United States and about 60 foreign countries.

Production for American trade and a part of foreign business is done at a large plant in Brooklyn, N. Y. Foreign plants are located in Slough, England, and Berlin, Germany. Last year Intertype's investments in Germany were written down to $1 because, the company explained, there was no way at present of realizing on them.

Profit for the first half of this year was $120,094, or 37 cents a common share, compared with $212,073, or 78 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. Billings were the largest in the company's history last year, but profits were cut by higher costs and the write-off of the German investment. The 1937 profit was $370,923, or $1.32 a common share, compared with $392,626, or $1.42 a share, in 1936.

Net income was $244,471, or 75 cents a share, in 1935, and $124,228, or 21 cents a share, in 1934. Losses were incurred in 1932 and 1933.

The corporation redeemed its 8 per cent preferred stock on July 1. Funds were obtained through the private sale of $1,000,000 in 3¾ per cent debentures. The debentures will be repaid at the rate of $200,000 beginning June 15, 1944. The corporation has 221,612 shares of no par common stock outstanding. A 20 cent common dividend was paid July 15, the only payment so far this year. Eighty cents was paid in 1937.

Rock Island.

Investors' Guide: I hold five $1,000 convertible gold bonds of the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railway company, due May 1, 1960. Please inform me what my interest in the reorganized company will be under the plan recently submitted to the interstate commerce commission by the Dwight S. Beebe protective committee.—J. C. A.

Answer: Under the reorganization plan filed July 20 with the ICC, holders of Rock Island convertible 4½s are entitled to receive $500 of new common stock for each $1,000 of bonds. The stock has no stated value, but is taken at $100 per share. Accordingly, you would receive five shares of stock for each bond, or 25 shares in all if this plan is approved.

GASOLINE PRICE WAR EXPECTED TO END SUNDAY

Dealers to Remove Competing Signs.

Chicago's gasoline price war is expected to end at midnight Sunday. This action, it was said yesterday, is likely to result from coöperative action on the part of a majority of the city's 2,300 retail gasoline stations, many of which have been facing ruin.

The Chicago Gasoline Jobbers' association this week concluded a poll of the 2,300 retail dealers asking their advice as to how the price struggle should be ended. The jobbers' association includes twenty-five wholesalers who sell to retailers the products of the major gasoline companies of the country.

O. L. Peterson, chairman of the association's committee, said that the poll indicated that 98 per cent of the retail dealers favor the removal of all price signs from in front of stations.

Most Favor 19½ Cents.

It also disclosed that 75 per cent of the dealers favored the present posted price of 19½ cents a gallon for regular gasoline; 9 per cent favored dropping the price to 19 cents; 8 per cent favored 18 cents, and the rest favored less than 18 cents.

"In consideration of the sentiment among dealers in favor of eliminating price signs," Peterson said, "the jobbers who operate retail stations decided today to make this first definite move to end the price war by taking down all price signs on regular and premium ethyl gasoline at midnight Aug. 14. This deferred date was decided upon to give all retailers ample notice of the movement.

"Many retailers, in answering the questionnaire, were fearful that the present situation, if carried through the winter, would cause them such losses that they would be unable to carry on after the motor season is ended.

No Action Taken on Price.

"No action was taken by the jobbers in reference to the ultimate price at which regular and premium ethyl gasoline was to be sold at the retail stations, as it was the opinion that each retailer knew his own problem."

"The consensus of the jobbers," Peterson said, "was that once the jobber retailer took the lead in bringing about order in the market, dealers in general would follow and the practice of large sign postings would be permanently discontinued by popular consent."

The gasoline price war started late last spring when many dealers reported a drop in gross sales as compared with 1937. The cool weather in the spring was given as one of the reasons for the decline. To increase their business many of the retail stations gave discounts to customers. This practice quickly spread until a majority of the retailers were cutting prices.

They charged as little as 15½ cents a gallon for a product for which they paid 14 cents a gallon.

WEEK'S TRAFIC OF SO. PACIFIC IS BEST THIS YEAR

BUILDING AWARDS RISE 30 PER CENT ABOVE 1937 MARK

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Aided by expansion in public construction, engineering building awards for the last week increased 30 per cent over the comparable 1937 period, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Awards totaled $57,454,000 against $48,716,000 the preceding week and $44,041,000 in the like 1937 week. The cumulative total for the year was $1,535,718,000, only 0.9 per cent under the $1,549,470,000 reported for the same period last year.

Among the latest awards was a $1,000,000 contract for a plant at Savannah, Ga., by the National Gypsum company.

Private	$11,477,000	$15,509,000
State and municipal	31,113,000	21,783,000

Bantam Car Cuts Factory Delivered Price to $399

Butler, Pa., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The American Bantam Car company announced today a new automobile delivered completely equipped at the factory for $399, which the company said was the first American model to sell for less than $400. The previous low price on a Bantam machine was $482 for the "master coupe." The new coupe has slightly smaller wheels.

Greyhound's June Quarter Net $1,260,308

The Greyhound corporation had higher earnings in the second quarter of this year than in the comparable period of 1937, the semi-annual report indicated yesterday. Profit for the first half of the year was slightly lower, however, than in the first six months of 1937.

Indicated net income for the quarter was $1,260,308, or 45 cents a common share, compared with $1,185,010, or 40 cents a share, in June, 1937, quarter. These figures include the equity of the parent company in the undistributed net income or loss of associated companies.

The company reported for the first six months a profit of $1,445,984, or 51 cents a share, compared with $1,497,522, or 55 cents a share, in the 1937 first half.

Six Month Equity $965,529.

The first half profit included net equity of the parent company in undistributed profit of associated bus companies of $965,529 against $1,040,093 in the first six months of the last year. Operating revenues of the associated bus companies increased to $20,812,263 in the first six months, compared with $19,276,575 in the first half of 1937.

Greyhound corporation's net income for the twelve months ended June 30 increased to $4,847,020 from $4,332,914 in the preceding twelve months. Operating revenue of associated bus companies was $46,587,367 against $41,458,750 in the preceding twelve months.

Others Show Declines.

Lower earnings for the first half year, compared with 1937 first half results, were reported yesterday by Best & Co., operator of a general apparel store in New York; Sharp & Dohme, Inc., pharmaceutical manufacturer, and the Texas Gulf Products company. The Walworth company had a six months' loss against a profit in 1937. Dixie-Vortex company's earnings declined in the twelve months to June 30.

Net income of Sharp & Dohme dipped to $201,532 in the first half, from $701,675 in the first six months of 1937. The company's second quarter profit was $27,597 against $173,935 in the preceding three months and $162,190 in the second quarter of 1937.

Cushman's Reports Profit.

Cushman's Sons, Inc., operating a chain of retail bakeries in New York, reported net income for the 12 weeks ended July 16 of $86,716, compared with a net loss of $83,476 in the corresponding 1937 period. The company in April, this year, closed out its chain of Chicago bakeries, announcing they had operated unprofitably.

A net loss of $867,435 was reported by the Walworth company for the first six months, compared with profit of $1,022,495 in the first half of 1937. The company makes pipes, valves, and fittings.

ILLINOIS GENERAL FUND REACHES ALL TIME HIGH

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—An all time high balance in the treasury's general revenue fund was reported today by Treasurer John C. Martin.

Increasing approximately $4,470,000 over the end of June, the general fund net balance stood at $26,199,546 on July 31. On the same date a year ago it was $22,779,919.

The report put state receipts from all sources at $43,818,073 for July, with disbursements of $16,979,671. The July revenue included a bookkeeping item of $22,614,013 representing unemployment trust funds. The unemployment compensation fund at the month's end was $86,114,013 as compared to $63,500,000 for the previous month.

Sales tax collections for July, including protested items, were reported at $6,154,695, a drop of slightly more than a half million dollars from the June figure of $6,673,020.

CEA to Stop Tipsters in Commodities

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Action will be taken "pretty soon" against commodity "tipsters" in Chicago and elsewhere. This statement was made in an interview here today by Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the Commodity Exchange administration.

Dr. J. W. T. Duvel.

Commodity exchanges throughout the nation and the department of agriculture have opened a drive against these tipsters who have promised to make profits for clients in the trading of commodities. Such tipsters are claimed to have taken a share of the client's profit but none of his losses. It also charged that fake bookkeeping has been used in these operations.

Tipsters Handle Accounts.

A survey by the department of agriculture has shown that more than 4,000 commodity exchange accounts have been handled by power of attorney. About 600 have been managed by these tipsters, or "commodity counselors," the survey showed.

Dr. Duvel said that no two of these tipsters operate exactly alike. Consequently, the penalties will vary. Those who have licenses can be deprived of them; others can be denied trading privileges on commodity exchanges. Others may be turned over to the department of justice for prosecution. Penalties for violation of the commodity exchange act include fines up to $10,000 or one year in jail, or both.

Plan Hearings in Cities.

Hearings of charges against alleged operators will be held before referees appointed by the secretary of agriculture in the cities where the alleged operators are located. Where criminal charges are involved action will be taken in the federal courts.

A number of officials of the Chicago Board of Trade were in Washington last week to discuss the drive with Dr. Duvel. They included Kenneth S. Templeton, president; Fred H. Clutton, secretary; W. H. Smith, chairman of the business conduct committee; and J. A. Prindiville, a director and member of the market report committee.

There are two other commodity exchanges in Chicago, the Chicago Mercantile exchange, and the Open Board of Trade. Six exchanges altogether are coöperating with the department of agriculture in its tipster drive.

Grain Holding Action Delayed.

No action has been taken yet on the request of the Chicago Board of Trade for an oral hearing on a proposed order limiting the holdings of grain futures, Dr. Duvel reported. The order as tentatively drawn up would limit the holdings of futures to 1,000,000 bushels for a particular delivery month.

Indications are however, that the hearing will be held in Washington as soon as the officials involved can be brought together.

The hearing will be before the special commission named under the commodity exchange act.

Grand Trunk Displays New Locomotive Today

A huge new streamlined locomotive which is to pull the International Limited between Chicago and Toronto-Montreal is to be exhibited today by the Grand Trunk Western railroad. The 4,000 horse power locomotive will be at the Dearborn street station from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Later locomotives of similar type will pull the Maple Leaf and the Inter City Limited.

RAILROADS RETURN 15,000 WORKERS TO JOBS DURING JULY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The railroads put nearly 15,000 men back to work in July. The interstate commerce commission said today class one carriers employed 929,477 persons in that month, compared with 914,765 in June.

July employment, however, was about 20 per cent below July, 1937.

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, said in New York today after returning from a transcontinental tour:

"The trend of business in the country is definitly upward. Psychology has improved enormously."

Heavier freight carloadings should follow in due course, he predicted.

CRUDE OIL FLOW HIGHER; GASOLINE STOCKS DECLINE

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Crude oil production increased slightly during the week ended Aug. 6, the American Petroleum institute stated today, while gasoline stocks declined to a new low for the year.

The crude flow rose 1,450 barrels daily to 3,317,850 barrels. Gasoline inventories were cut 1,484,000 barrels to 75,380,000 barrels at the week-end. The rate of refinery operations was shaved fractionally again, dipping from 79 to 78 per cent of capacity.

Oil Stocks Lower.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Bureau of Mines reported today that stocks of crude and refined oil totaled 583,507,000 barrels in June, a decrease of 6,962,000, compared with May stocks of 590,469,000. June supplies, however, showed an increase of 32,822,000 barrels over stocks of 550,685,000 for the same month last year.

Stocks of motor fuel, including finished and unfinished gasoline, totaled 87,482,000 barrels, a decrease of 7,213,000 under May stocks of 94,695,000.

PUT $36,500,000 TOLEDO EDISON ISSUES ON SALE

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—A reduction in interest charges and in mortgage debt of the Toledo Edison company will be effected with a public offering of securities tomorrow. The offering will total $36,500,000, consisting of $30,000,000 first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds, due in 1968, and $6,500,000 of 4 per cent sinking debentures, due in 1948.

A banking syndicate headed by the First Boston corporation and including forty-eight other underwriters will offer the first mortgage bonds at 101½. The debentures, underwritten solely by the First Boston corporation, will be priced at 100¾.

Net proceeds from the sale of the securities, estimated to amount to approximately $36,150,858, will be used to redeem $27,500,000 of outstanding first mortgage 5 per cent bonds. Provision also is made for the payment of $7,550,000 secured, unsecured, and demand notes and bank loans.

Industrial Rayon's July Business Shows Upturn

Cleveland, O., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Hiram S. Rivitz, president of the Industrial Rayon corporation, said today there was a decided improvement in the company's business in July. Shipments were approximately 30 per cent above June and 61 per cent above the average monthly shipments for the first six months of this year, he said.

Head of Crucible Steel Reports Upturn in Sales

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—F. B. Hufnagel, chairman of the Crucible Steel Company of America, said today that the company's sales showed an encouraging upward trend during July. He said in the first week of August there was a marked increase in orders, obliging the company to put additional furnaces in operation.

Asks Abolition of 'Mop' Equity in Rio Grande

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—A Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad reorganization plan which would divest the Missouri Pacific of its 50 per cent stock interest was proposed today. The plan, which would declare the stock valueless, was recommended to the interstate commerce commission by Examiner S. M. Jameson. The other half of the common stock is owned by the Western Pacific Railroad corporation.

The Missouri Pacific acquired its half of the common stock for $9,000,000. It also owns $608,800 of the preferred stock and $1,000,000 of refunding and improvement bonds. All of the common and preferred stock is pledged for loans with the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Passes Up Two Other Plans.

Jameson followed neither the plan of reorganization proposed by the debtor railroad nor the one offered by a group of investors.

The examiner's proposal would fix the capitalization of the reorganized company at $153,579,233. As of June 30, according to the examiner, the total secured debt of the Rio Grande system was $170,892,410.

Jameson held that the present record is inadequate for determination of the question of merging the Western Pacific with the Denver and Rio Grande Western. However, he said it justified the consolidation of the Denver & Salt Lake Western, the Denver & Salt Lake railway, the Rio Grande Junction railway, and the Goshen Valley, with the Denver & Rio Grande Western.

Proposes Board of Five.

The plan provides for a reorganization committee of five members, representing the principal investment groups, to carry out the program.

The RFC would receive full value of new first mortgage bonds for the amount of its $11,959,469 claim.

There would be 500,000 shares of authorized new $100 par value preferred stock, of which 349,396 shares would be issued in the reorganization. The new common would be authorized in the amount of $500,000 shares no par value of which about 406,613 shares would be issuable in the reorganization.

TEXTILE MILLS MORE ACTIVE IN JUNE, REPORT

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—The index of textile mill activity for June gave the first statistical encouragement the industry has had for months, the Textile World reported today. A 6 per cent contra-seasonal rise over the preceding month was reported.

The real effect of the improvement will not be statistically visible until July figures are available, it was said. June activity was also encouraging, in that, although 34 per cent below the corresponding month last year, it was only 6 per cent below a "normal" June [1924-'31 average].

The index for the first half of the year was 40 per cent below the first half of 1937 and 20 per cent below the first half of a "normal" year.

FeminineCompetition Stops Mexican Railroad Diners

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Because of feminine competition, the National railways today suspended dining car service on two local trains between Mexico City and Laredo, Tex. Mexican women for years have sold hot coffee, eggs, meats, etc., to passengers at each station. The railway office said dining service would be continued on tourist trains.

BRITISH, FRENCH MONEYS PLUNGE ON WAR SCARES

Price of Gold Rises Again in London.

War scares and various rumors of possible international monetary agreement were blamed yesterday for a further slump in the British pound and the French franc. The dollar gained against nearly all European currencies except those tied to gold.

The pound fell to another new low since early 1937 of $4.87⅝, off ½ cent, and the franc dropped 0.00⅞ cent to 2.72⅝ cent. The Dutch guilder lost 0.08 cent to a new low for the year of 54.48 cents.

A sharp boost in the price of gold in the London market more than offset the fall in the pound, permitting profitable shipments of gold to the United States.

Gold Taken for Export.

The gold price fixed yesterday morning in London was 142 shillings 7½ pence an ounce, an increase of 4½ pence, equivalent to $34.77, against an equivalent price of $34.78 the day before. Bar gold amounting to 2,356,000 pounds was taken in the open market for unknown destinations.

The New York Federal Reserve bank announced that $6,586,000 of gold had been engaged in England for shipment to New York. The daily gold statement showed no imports or exports were made yesterday.

Continued uneasiness over the Japanese-Russian border trouble and a renewal of Nazi-Czechoslovakian rumors were believed to be the major causes of the shift to the dollar and gold from European currencies. Many money experts, however, pointed to possibilities of another revision of the tri-partite money agreement of 1936.

Rumors Officially Denied.

Rumors in Paris that the Daladier's return to the city and the return of Prime Minister Chamberlain to London were because of the international political situation were denied in official quarters.

Sterling was relatively stronger yesterday in Paris than in London, as the flight from the franc resulted in buying of both dollars and pounds. The franc closed at 36.67 to the dollar, against 36.4975 the day before.

2 TRADE SHOWS' ORDER VOLUME IS SET AT 3 MILLION

Orders for $2,000,000 worth of automobile accessories and $1,000,000 of sporting equipment will have been taken by 400 exhibitors when the combined auto accessories and sports shows close tonight, sponsors said yesterday. The shows are being held at the Stevens hotel. R. Garland Ames, manager of the auto show, and James R. Mahon, manager of the sports show, made the estimates on the volume of business.

"This has been one of the best selling shows in the history of the Automotive Accessories association," Ames said. He estimated that 10,000 buyers will have attended the shows by tonight.

Famous Rail Holding Firm Ends Career

The name of the Northern Securities company—one of the first of the railroad holding companies—vanished from the financial scene yesterday. Final proceedings for the dissolution of the concern were completed in the New Jersey Chancery court.

E. H. Harriman.

James J. Hill.

Numerous taxes on its income caused officials of the company last year to recommend that it be dissolved. Since then the assets, consisting of 23,063 shares of the Burlington railroad, 28,557 shares of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Ltd., and cash, have been apportioned among the stockholders.

Minor Details Remain.

Only minor final details remain to be passed upon by the New Jersey court.

The company once controled the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. Its formation was the sequel to the famous fight between the James J. Hill and J. P. Morgan interests on one side and E. H. Harriman and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for control of the nation's transcontinental railroad business.

In 1901 Hill, then head of the Northern Pacific, had obtained a working agreement with the Great Northern and a dominant interest in the Burlington railroad. He did this with the support of J. P. Morgan.

Harriman Forms Syndicate.

Fearful that this combination would provide unduly strong combination for the Union Pacific, Harriman, with the backing of Kuhn, Loeb, formed a syndicate to buy Northern Pacific shares.

On May 6, 1901, the Hill-Morgan group placed an order for 200,000 shares of Northern Pacific stock. On May 9 there occurred the famous corner in the stock which ended only when the prices had jumped from $80 to $1,000 a share. After an appeal to the courts short sellers of the stock were permitted to settle at $150 a share.

Foes Pool Interests.

When the battle ended the Hill-Morgan interests held $42,000,000 of Northern Pacific common stock and the Harriman-Kuhn, Loeb syndicate held $37,023,000 of Northern Pacific common and $41,085,000 of preferred shares. Both the groups finally pooled their interests in the Northern Securities company.

The company was forced to give up its control of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific when the United States Supreme court upheld the application of the Sherman anti-trust act in the case. The 600 stockholders of the company on Aug. 11, 1937, approved the dissolution of the company.

BELATED BUYING CUTS LOSSES IN STOCK MARKET

Many Leaders End Higher for Day.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 9. — Stock prices rallied in late trading today to wipe out major portions of early losses of fractions to three points. Many leaders edged into the plus column, but irregularly lower prices prevailed at the finish.

Volume was only 829,750 shares. Traders drew comfort from the fact that trading slackened on the dips and increased on the rally.

Automobile and rubber shares were particularly prominent in the late upturn. General Motors, most active issue of the day, equaled its previous high mark with a net gain of half a point. Chrysler, after selling at 70¾, climbed back to 73⅛, up ⅛ point on the day. Low priced auto stocks came back to previous levels.

U. S. Rubber Up.

United States Rubber common and preferred advanced 1⅝ and 4½ points, respectively. Both moved in good volume.

In the steels United States Steel and Bethlehem profited by late support to creep into the plus column. Other steels dragged. Most of the coppers were heavy, although Anaconda and American Smelting closed fractionally higher.

Carrier shares turned strong in final trades. New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Santa Fe were active, each adding a fraction. Delaware and Hudson slumped in the early trading, but came back to close higher on the day. Union Pacific was conspicuous, spurting 3⅞ points to 92, a new high for the year.

Utilities Weak.

Power and light shares closed fractionally lower.

Losses ranging from fractions to one point were chalked up in the oils. Standard Oil was hardest hit.

Most aviation issues, including Douglas, Boeing, United Aircraft, and Curtiss-Wright, slipped fractions. Bendix Aviation was active and higher, however.

In the chemicals, Du Pont was down 4 points at one time before meeting support. It closed 1 point lower. Allied lost 1½ points. Case was weak in the farm implement shares, dropping 3 points.

Electric equipment issues dropped fractions to around 2 points. Radio corporation continued active, but slipped a fraction.

Steel Makers Increase Output in Youngstown

Youngstown, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation began preparing today another blast furnace for operation late this week. Youngstown Sheet & Tube company's Bessemer converter resumed yesterday boosting output for the district to between 42 and 43 per cent.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The bond market held fairly steady today, with rails averaging fractionally lower and with industrials and government obligations slightly improved.

A few rails made gains ranging from small fractions to around a point, including Santa Fe 4s of '95, Rock Island general 4s of '88, and Reading 4½s. Lower were B. & O. Convertible 4½s, Great Northern 4s of '46, New York Central 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s, and Southern Railway 4s.

Gainers in the utility and industrial groups included American Telephone 3¾s of '66, Anaconda Copper 4½s, Bethlehem Steel 4¼s, Goodyear 5s, National Dairy 3¾s, Penn Dixie Cement 6s, and Western Union 5s of '60. Among issues down fractionally to a point or more were Bethlehem Steel 3¾s, International Telephone 5s, Pacific Gas 3¾s, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube 4s.

United States government loans continued their improvement, with gains ranging up to 5-32ds of a point.

Bank Stocks.

American National Bank and Trust company stock was the only gainer among Chicago bank shares yesterday, closing $5 higher at $185 bid, $195 asked. Stock of the Chicago Title and Trust company dropped $2 to $144 bid, $147 asked, and First National stock slumped $3 to $227 bid, $231 asked. Continental Illinois National bank and Trust company shares closed 25 cents lower at $72 bid, $73 asked.

Rubber Consumption.

Use of rubber in the United States has closely paralleled the curve of business activity. The average monthly consumption by manufacturers reached a pre-depression peak of 38,951 tons in 1929. It turned downward during the next three successive years to a 1932 average of 27,667 tons per month.

Successive rises in the years 1933, 1934, 1935, and 1936 finally reached a new all-time high of 47,927 tons monthly in 1936. In that year the automobile industry, chief outlet in this country for rubber, was booming.

The business slump in late 1937 carried the average consumption of rubber down to 45,467 tons per month, and during the first four months of this year it slumped to 27,342 tons, barely above the 1932 average.

ACT TO LIQUIDATE $23,800,000 OF 13 FIRMS' NOTES

Offers from Debenture Holders Invited.

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—The first step in the proposed liquidation of $23,800,000 of debentures of thirteen mortgage companies was taken yesterday. The companies, together with the Maryland Casualty company, asked debenture holders to submit tenders [offers to sell] on their holdings before Sept. 9. Maryland Casualty has guaranteed the interest on the debentures.

The debentures were issued in 1934 in exchange for mortgage bonds which had been guaranteed as to both principal and interest by Maryland Casualty. The collateral for the original bonds proved insufficient, and Maryland Casualty could not meet its guarantee without draining its resources.

Refunded in 1934.

As a result, Maryland Casualty in 1934 worked out a refunding plan, whereby part cash and part debentures [due in 1953] were issued for the old bonds. Maryland guaranteed interest, but not the principal, of the debentures.

Holders received $700 in debentures and $300 in cash for each $1,000 original bond. The funds to make the cash settlement totaling $12,023,000 were borrowed by the thirteen companies from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Twelve of the companies have repaid the loans.

Maryland Casualty in the same year got from the RFC $17,500,000, in the form of preferred stock. Of this, all but $1,745,000 had been retired by Dec. 31, 1937, but the RFC retained voting control of the company.

Thirteen Companies Listed.

The thirteen companies, together with latest available bid prices for their debentures quoted by the American Bond Quotation Service, Inc. [in terms of cents on the dollar], are as follows: American Debenture corporation, 43; Calvert Debenture corporation, 42¾; Carolina Debenture corporation, 43½; Continental Debenture corporation, 42¾; Continental Investment Debenture corporation, 50; Franklin Debenture corporation, 43; National Debenture corporation, 42¾; Potomac Consolidated Debenture corporation, 42¾; Potomac Debenture corporation, 43; Potomac Franklin Debenture corporation, 43; Potomac Maryland Debenture corporation, 72½; Potomac Realty Atlantic Debenture corporation, 42¾, and Standard Debenture corporation, 48.

DIVIDEND CUT BY MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY

Several Firms Vote Unusual Payments.

Directors of the Manhattan Shirt company yesterday ordered payment of a reduced quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share on the common stock of the corporation. In previous quarters the company paid 25 cents a share on its common stock.

Among usual dividends declared yesterday were those of the Dictaphone corporation and the Western Auto Supply company. A regular dividend of 30 cents a share also was ordered on the common stock of the S. S. Kresge company. Directors of the Procter and Gamble company declared the usual dividend of $1.25 per share on the preferred stock.

Dividends declared yesterday, with rate, period, and payment and record dates, are listed below:

MEN-STEADY WORK.

We will select 5 men at once, with the privilege of thorough training at our electrical appliance factory branch —at our expense, and start them immediately on a permanent basis, full time.

Married men preferred, as these positions are responsible and we require no investment or deposit—but you must be reputable and able to learn this work as taught. This is steady, profitable sales work, but our method of putting the prospect into the market for our invention is so unusual, that it necessitates being trained in it regardless of previous experience. While learning new men must be satisfied on earnings of $35 to $45 per week on a percentage basis, but later can increase this substantially. Previous experience not important because our method is so unusual, but those selected must be willing to work hard and study to qualify for the higher income.

APPLY—WEDNESDAY MORNING AUGUST 10, 9:30 A. M., TO 12:30 ONLY. SUITE 604, 20 EAST JACKSON-BLVD.

AN ENERGETIC MAN

Of good personality, over 26 years old, to represent a nationally known manufacturer of electrical appliances, operating through this store. We'll sell in store, also follow leads obtained during floor time. Not a house canvassing proposition. Car necessary. Excellent commission paid weekly; bonus monthly for producers.

Apply Employment Department, 9th floor, 11 a. m. Wednesday only.

MARSHALL FIELD & CO.

MEN WANTED

NEW AMAZING PRODUCT THAT ENJOYS THE SAME POSITION IN ITS FIELD TODAY AS THE ELECTRIC LIGHT DID TO THE KEROSENE LAMP YEARS AGO.

Under our unique merchandise plan, men who qualify will be set up in business for themselves and assisted in getting started successfully.

Under this co-operative plan, branch dealers get phenomenal results, earning as high as $20 daily.

Permanent. No investment necessary. No lean season. We can train any intelligent, clear thinker to sell this electric unit and assure him at least $40 commission his first week.

If you are wide awake and want a business that pays big earnings, investigate this unusual opportunity. Apply WEDNESDAY, 9 A. M. TO 4 P. M.

You probably are living in a nice little apt. but why not join up with some one and rent a studio apt. where you will enjoy the thrill of a 2 story living room, and your own bedroom and bath? Or a little house built in a quaint Pomander Walk right down near the loop? There are a great many fine business people who waste a lot of time and energy commuting every day to the outskirts of Chicago, instead of living down here near the lake, in all the things they wish to see and hear, and near the loop. Do come in and see us and perhaps we can help you save a lot of time and energy, and get a new joy out of living. COOK ESTATE. 161 East Erie-street. Superior 2875. Why not combine your home and office? It is a delightful place to live down here near the loop, near the lake, near all the things you like to see and hear, and an easy and convenient place to bring your business friends. A little talk around your own fireside often results in business confidence, a feeling of friendship and comradeship that should be in every business field.
